HEADLIGHTS

Headlight blindness is one of the most dangerous hazards of night motoring...

To the conscientious driver of an automobile glaring headlights are a source of torment...

Few drivers in these times are so careful that they will bring their cars to a stop at the approach of the glaring headlights...

Despite crusades against the glaring headlight the menace continues.

IF GOOD TIMES RETURN

What business do you suppose will be the first to rear its head from the slough of depression? One guess may be as good as another...

ANOTHER "IF"

If you can keep your Ford when others about you are selling their and buying Cadillacs; if you can be just tickled all to pieces when notified to pay your taxes...

DECLINE OF TRADE

(Economic Section, League of Nations)

"In 1930 its total value in terms of gold was 19 per cent less than in 1929; in 1931 it was 28 per cent less than in 1930...

"Prices have fallen about 50 per cent on the average, but the quantum of trade also fell by 7 per cent in 1930, 9 per cent in 1931, and 11 to 12 per cent in the first half of 1932 as compared with the first half of 1931."

Radio Programmes and Personalities

In 1909 on the stage of Miner's Theatre in the Bowery of New York a slim, banjo-eyed youth scampered across the platform to do a song and dance for $5—first prize for amateur night.

Cantor was born in New York's lower east side, the son of a violinist who tried hard to support himself, his wife and young Eddie.

It was the same east side that produced Al Smith, George Jessel, Gus Edwards and a dozen of New York's leading jurists.

The following summer Gus Edwards spotted Cantor working as a singing waiter in a Coney Island saloon. His accompanist was Jimmy Durante, the now famous Jimmy "Schnozzle," stage and screen star.

Then Flo Ziegfeld gave Cantor a one night trial, after hearing of his rapid rise on Broadway, on the New Amsterdam roof, the very place from which Eddie usually makes his Sunday evening broadcast.

Cantor is now 41 years old, and during his seventeen years as a star has written seventy-five per-cent of his own comedy. Eddie is the pampered male of his family, but who wouldn't be with a wife and five daughters?

"Tales of the Foreign Legion," popular dramatic program, is now heard at a new time over the WABC-Columbia network.

"Dramatic programs are mounting to a dominating position in broadcasting," the executive says. "But they will be of a superior type. They will be the work of writers who concentrate their efforts on radio, not plays adopted from the stage or motion pictures."

"And as the importance of the dramatic show increases," Mr. Paley adds, "I believe the length of the play will increase until its duration will be a full hour. This does not mean, however, that the serial story will wane in popularity."

A new NBC program to be known as the Musical Grocery Store will be ushered in on Friday, March 10th, and will be heard thereafter for a half an hour each week over the WEAF network at 9:00 p.m.

Twenty-six year old veteran of the northern British Columbia and Alaska route, the old Princess Royal, once the pride of the Canadian Pacific's B.C. Coast Steamships fleet, has been sold out of the service to the Island Tug and Barge Company.

The National Sea Flea Hockey Club's tour of Europe overcame all hitches and sailed recently from Halifax by Canadian Pacific liner Montcalm.

Cliff Arquette, Ken Brown and Red Corcoran, who were well on their way to becoming the Pacific Coasts favorite comedy act when they were picked up for eastern consumption, have joined hands with Joe Moss and his orchestra for a new weekly program over the NBC-WEAF network. It is heard each Sunday evening at 7:30 p.m.

The Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Leopold Stokowski returned to the air last Friday for its regular weekly afternoon program from 2:30 to 4 p.m.

Arturo Toscanini world famous Italian maestro, returned to the podium on Sunday last, and will direct the New York Philharmonic Symphony orchestra in the final eight broadcasts of the season over WABC and a coast-to-coast network each Sunday from 3:00 to 5:00 p.m.

Ozzie Nelson, popular maestro and radio favorite, has returned to the Columbia network for a series of broadcasts from the grill room of the New Yorker hotel. His is the first orchestra playing from that hotel to be heard over CBS and five programs a week have been allotted to his music.

The microphone through which Amelia Earhart greeted the radio audience from London after her successful trans-Atlantic solo flight last May, has been presented to the Smithsonian Institute by the Columbia Broadcasting System and will be placed on display in Washington.

Relax after supper and listen to the programs of Jean and Glenn with Jake and Lena—You'll enjoy them. Jean and Glenn are real veterans of the air waves and have long since won deserving popularity.

Here and There

Coal from Alberta mines for 1932 totalled 4,870,030 tons, an increase of 300,000 tons over 1931.

A cod with a silver spoon engraved "C. P. R." in its stomach was caught recently at the fish float, Port Alberni, B.C.

A trip that formerly took two days over rough trails is now done in 30 minutes by airplanes when fish from Northern Manitoba lakes are transported to rail head for distribution all over Canada and the United States.

One of the largest sailings of the cruise season was recorded recently when the Empress of Australia sailed from New York on a Mediterranean cruise with a list of 40 passengers.

The National Sea Flea Hockey Club's tour of Europe overcame all hitches and sailed recently from Halifax by Canadian Pacific liner Montcalm.

MENTAL HEALTH

To meet the problem of everyday life as they arise requires a healthy mental attitude. It is a test of mental health to note whether the individual successfully meets the strains of social, domestic and economic life, or whether he shows, in some way or other, the beginnings of abnormal behaviour.

Human beings are forever reacting to the influences of environment. These reactions are seen in their emotional as well as their physical responses. Just as there are different degrees of physical disability, so also there are individuals who show varying degrees of emotional maladjustment.

The foundations of mental health are laid down in childhood. It is the responsibility of the parents, chiefly the mother, to see that the early lessons of behaviour are correctly taught. The jealousies, temper tantrums and unhealthy attachments of early life, to mention only a few items, are largely preventable.

The insistence by parents that a child do as well at school as the child next door, or, in other ways, the holding up of a standard that is unattainable for one whose intellectual capacity is only average is bound to reflect itself in feelings of inferiority. We need not wonder that such an individual later cuts himself off completely from his friends and becomes self-centred in his thoughts.

The whole situation as regards abnormal behaviour has changed materially during recent years. Due to the work of mental hygiene institutes and child guidance clinics in the large centres, and increasing interest everywhere, mental disorders are being viewed from a new angle.

There is need for a general broadening of sympathy for those who suffer from affections of the mind, and there is a like need for preventive measures to be put into early practice if the best results are to be achieved.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.
