THE CALL FOR CHARITY

Despite all that the municipality does in these days of economic distress in the way of looking after the poor and the needy there is still a great opportunity for individuals and societies to exercise the virtue of charity.

In view of this situation there is peculiar point in the recent address of His Excellency, The Earl of Bessborough to the people of Canada. In his message he stressed the responsibility of the individual, and although he does not mention it, yet there may be understood a slight objection to the tendency developing in the country at large to leave the care of the unemployed and the poor at the door of the government.

His Excellency quotes the Prince of Wales' statement that all should get together in each community and make its own self-directed contribution to the solution of the problem.

"All of us" said the Governor General, "are familiar enough with the outward physical signs of those upon whom circumstances have thus laid a crushing hand—the worn clothing, the drawn faces, the slackening footsteps of those whose strength and hope are gradually being sapped in the struggle to find work; to find a natural outlet for their own activity, and the means of support which in normal times, that activity should bring them.

"But what is not realized so easily perhaps, is the parallel change that goes on in the mind and spirit of such victims of circumstances, whose sense of security has been menaced, even destroyed, by economic disruption and acute personal need. What is not realized, too, is that fear follows upon insecurity, and close upon the heels of fear come worry, anxiety intense mental and spiritual depression—a sense of frustration, futility and finally despair."

It's up to the citizens of each district in Canada to get together, and get together now, so that when winter comes the foe of want, misery and distress may be repelled.

THE BEAUTY AND SERVICE OF FRIENDSHIP

A beautiful example of friendship, as related in the Old Testament, is the one which existed between David and Jonathan. So tenderly did these young men love each other that David, in retrospect, described the affection of Jonathan in these touching words: "Very pleasant has thou been unto me; thy love to me was wonderful."

Friendship can no more be feigned than can an impure metal ring true. "You must be friends for sure," explained a boy in a tale of the heath country when he was asked how he had won the confidence of and tamed the wild creatures of the moorland. And does not that homely statement apply to all situations where mutual trust and co-operation are needed? Indeed, it is being more widely recognized to-day that the success of negotiations between individuals, groups and nations depends upon each side being "friends for sure."

Ideal friendship consists of a pure love that liberates and calls forth worth-while accomplishments; it is the overflow of an unselfish heart. A friendship based on spiritualized affection will furnish proof of its existence and utility quite spontaneously. A heartfelt desire to give loving service will be expressed tactfully, and may be accepted naturally and gratefully, inspiring all concerned to the working of a greater good.

WOULD BE APPRECIATED

In motoring through the countryside one is often curious to know who is the owner of a particular farm. You pass the property occasionally for years and never know who lives there. Then one day you accidentally discover that the owner is a man you knew and meet occasionally. Too bad you have not been able to link him up in your mind all this time with the fine farm he owns.

DON'T YOU PASS IT ON

Did you hear a bit of scandal? Don't you pass it on! Did you note the shrug of shoulders? Don't you pass it on! Let it go from out your life Ere it causes tears and strife Being dangerous as a knife Don't you pass it on!

Did you hear a "someone said so?" Don't you pass it on! Did they say "that rumor had it?" Don't you pass it on! For ere now they would disown. The tiny seed that first was sown Since it has so monstrous grown Don't you pass it on!

Unless you know the word is true Don't you pass it on! Unless it is your business too Don't you pass it on! Even then weigh well the end If the word betrays a friend Or some head with anguish rend. Don't you pass it on!

A little word will mar a life Don't you pass it on! Let some other stand the charge Don't you pass it on! You break up the endless chain Ere some character be slain And your hands may bear the stain. Don't you pass it on! —Mrs. G. H. Pettingill, Picton Gazette.

WEEKLY NEWSY NOTES FROM THE AGINCOURT DISTRICT

"Everywhere, the Autumn woods, A galaxy of colour, glorious!"

William Howey, B.A., B.D. School Fair

Owing to financial conditions in the various school sections of Scarborough being under the control of supervisors, it was incumbent on each section to provide funds individually or let the school fair go by the board. However, the officials of nearly every school section were sufficiently fortunate as to find citizens with public spirit to meet the emergency, and volunteer funds, with the result that nine school sections out of twelve were represented with exhibits at the fair held on Thursday, Sept. 28th at Agincourt.

A Fair Board Association was formed with George Henry, Jr., son of the Premier, president; Owen Loveless, secretary, and the following board of directors representing the various sections: Stanley Watson, Albert King, Owen Loveless, Lyman Kennedy, Fred Hope, George W. Henry, Walter Myers, Joe Darlington and H. C. Closson.

Had there been as many schools exhibiting as formerly, the fair would have been quite up to normal, but under existing conditions, it suffered somewhat. Exhibits were of a splendid type and variety; the flowers and fruits good, the drills excellent and well carried out. The pets class was an interesting mixed variety of dogs, cats, rabbits and pigeons.

On the whole, R. E. White, Agricultural Representative, spoke of the fair as the most interesting and most easily managed fair in his district, accountable by the fact of the financial arrangements.

The judges were: Cooking, Miss Helen Baycroft; live stock, Jerry Walker, Donald Farm; poultry, R. H. Crosby; grains, A. J. Paterson; vegetables, E. H. Holland; fruit, Arch Thomson; flowers, Fred Adams, Toronto; choruses, A. J. Woods, Markham.

Ross Lamoreaux, Milliken, captured the T. Eaton silver trophy for highest number of credits; Winnifred Shadlock, Agincourt, and Murray Mason, Clark's Corners, winning 2nd and 3rd.

What Made Him Proud He didn't jump off the Brooklyn bridge, And he swam not the rapids cool, He balanced him not on a fearful ridge, He wasn't so big a fool.

But he is as proud as a row of pins, In his feelings there's none to compare, For his squash was bigger than neighbor Wim's And he took the first prize at the fair.

Goodalls' Sun Mrs. J. J. Vincent, skip, with Mrs. Roy Shadlock vice, Mrs. George Scott lead, and Mrs. Bert Kennedy second, won third prizes—walnut end tables—at Newmarket Ladies' Lawn Bowling tournament on Tuesday, Sept. 26th. They won three games with a score of 50. Three, 15 end games were played.

A joint presentation was made by Markham Union and Scarborough Lodges A.F. & A.M. to Worshipful Brother George Scott with regalia in honour of his appointment as a Grand Steward in Grand Lodge. The presentation was made at the regular meeting of Markham Union Lodge on Friday evening, Sept. 29th. This was a high honour bestowed on Mr. Scott who is highly thought of in lodge and other circles. His many Scarborough, Markham and Toronto friends rejoiced with him on this auspicious occasion.

Last Saturday night the opening meeting of Knox United Forward Club was marked by a full attendance.

The following were elected to office: Hon. Pres., Rev. W. D. McDonald; Pres., Marjorie Laing; Literary Vice-Pres., Ida Grose; Missionary Vice-Pres., Ruth Yeamans; Citizenship Vice-Pres., Ernest Page; Christian Fellowship Vice-Pres., Glen Cole; Secretary, Helen Preston; Treasurer, Leslie Page.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Davidson entertained the Young People's Society of Knox Presbyterian Church at their most delightful weiner roast on their farm on Wednesday night, Sept. 27th. A splendid program of games in charge of Mr. M. M. Gibson was carried out.

Choice refreshments were also enjoyed. Everyone had a marvelous time, thanks to the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Davidson and family. Adelphe C.G.I.T. group under the leadership of Miss Jean Leslie held their re-opening meeting at the home of Mrs. John Fursey on Monday evening.

Billie Large, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Large, celebrated his 12th birthday on Friday, Sept. 29th, by having 19 friends to supper. If ever you saw a jolly party, Billie's was one. The supper was delicious and how those children liked to play games! They had real fun.

Miss Mildred Weir, R.N., who won the Dr. Beatty scholarship—$500—left on Thursday for a year's course at McGill University.

Miss Weir taught for two years at S.S. No. 2, Scarborough. While in training later at Western Hospital, Toronto, she had a brilliant record, having won 1st prize in her class, three years in succession. Hearty congratulations and best wishes for continued success.
