All Important Lacrosse Game Monday Night

Alliston lacrosse team, lone conquerors of the Young Canadians in the present Tri-County series, will play the final schedule home game of the fall series in Richmond Hill arena next Monday night. A win for Alliston gives them the right to meet Young Canadians in the play-off for the group title and as they defeated the local squad at Alliston last week in a hectic game that went twenty minutes overtime they are confident that they can repeat the performance right in the Young Canadians' own camping ground. Several bus loads of enthusiastic Alliston fans are expected to follow the team for this all important battle and fans are assured of the best game of the year.

To say that Alliston is a much improved team compared to when they last visited Richmond Hill is only half telling the story. At the present moment they are a very strong lacrosse team and their supporters boast that they could give Orillia or any of the strong senior teams of the year a real battle for the honors. In the game at Alliston when they surprised the Young Canadians by administering a 16-14 defeat they had three star performers on the line-up who were unable to play when the team visited Richmond Hill before. One of these new stars alone accounted for 6 of the team's goals that night.

Young Canadians are having two practices this week in preparation for this big game and hope to be in the pink of condition for the test next Monday night. They are not going into the game over-confident or underestimating the ability of the invaders. They know that they will have to go the limit to stop Alliston in their championship ambitions and they will be fit and ready when Monday night comes.

Richmond Hill Young Canadians tasted their first defeat of the fall series at Alliston Friday night, when they lost out in a game which went twenty minutes overtime by a score of 16-14. Alliston tied the score 12-12 in the last minute of the regular playing time and in the overtime were able to put on that extra spurt which spelled victory. According to the consensus of opinion of those who witnessed the game the winners deserved their victory on the night's play. They played excellent lacrosse and had all the appearances of a championship team. Alliston was at full strength with three players on the line-up who did not play when the team visited Richmond Hill a couple of weeks ago. Young Canadians made a determined effort to maintain their winning streak but just failed by a narrow margin. They received some costly penalties and were not as effective in their combination play as they have been in former games this fall.

Alliston fans were jubilant over their win and are confident that their boys can repeat when the two teams meet in the next game at Richmond Hill. Young Canadians supporters are confident that their boys can defeat this Alliston crew but when they meet the fans are certain to see the best game of the year. When Alliston come to Richmond Hill take this tip and be on hand to see the game.

Richmond Hill Young Canadians defeated Camp Borden in a league game at Alliston Tuesday evening by a score of 13-7 and thus made their record for the series 7 wins and one loss. It was a good game and was enjoyed by a large crowd of spectators. Play started off strongly in the first period until Pook and Kerr counted for Camp on a nice effort. E. White counted for the Hill to make the score 2 to 1 at the end of the first quarter.

Richmond Hill started off in the second period with Barrett and C. Miller scoring two each and E. White one. S. Partridge counted for the Camp and C. Miller and Barrett retaliated with one each to end the period. Mason and Cordick were called upon to save brilliantly in this period.

The third period opened with Kerr scoring for the Camp in three minutes, and A. White and E. Miller scoring for Richmond Hill. Play in the fourth quarter lagged, but opened up when Barrett scored two in a row for the Hill. Drake, on a nice play, scored for Camp, while S. Partridge made it 13 to 7 to end the game.

Proposed Street Lighting Would Increase Taxes

The improvement of the lighting on Yonge Street by the installation of new lights which has been under discussion and consideration of the municipal council of Richmond Hill Village for some months, was given a decided set-back at the special meeting of the council Tuesday evening when Councillor Mills announced that the new lights would mean about another half mill on the tax rate. As the council was about to read correspondence from a number of firms and hear numerous representatives of different firms handling street lights Councillor Harold Mills stated that he thought the members should first decide whether or not they were going ahead with the project as it was only wasting time to hear a lot of representatives if they didn't intend to go ahead. "The cost of the present lighting is $310.00 per annum and the annual cost of the proposed new system would be $768.00" said Councillor Mills. "This would mean the taxpayers of Richmond Hill would be called upon to pay $458.00 per year extra for street lighting which means about half a mill on our taxes. I am therefore opposed to any expenditure on street lighting which will raise our taxes half a mill" said Councillor Mills.

Clerk A. J. Hume confirmed the figures of Councillor Mills and stated that the additional cost for street lighting which according to Hydro regulations must be levied in the taxes would amount to at least $400.

Reeve Greene agreed with Councillor Mills that the project should be all off if the additional cost would be so great. "$400 more is too much" he said.

Councillor Middleton—"I'm in favor of a well lighted town and we certainly need some improvements but I do not favor it if it means a half mill on our taxes. We can't stand that."

When the idea of new lighting for Yonge Street was first discussed it was felt that this improvement could be brought about by using some of the $3,500.00 now lying as a surplus in the Hydro account which cannot be used for any other purpose than Hydro work according to the rules and regulations of the provincial commission. The permission of the Hydro Commission was obtained to make a capital expenditure of about $1500.00 for new lights on Yonge Street out of this surplus fund but the joker in the pack came to light when it was revealed that the annual street lighting costs would be materially increased. This increased cost moreover must not be taken from the accumulating surplus in the Electric Light account, but according to the very definite rulings of the Hydro Commission the cost of street lighting at so much per light must be levied on the taxpayers.

Reeve Greene suggested that in view of the fact that there is apparently a surplus of power in Ontario to-day that Councillor Alex Little, chairman of the electric light committee, be appointed to interview the Hydro to ascertain if it would not be possible to secure a more favorable price for the street lighting.

Few Appeals At Court of Revision

Only six ratepayers appealed against their assessment at the annual Court of Revision held Tuesday evening which would indicate that there is general satisfaction with the assessment of the municipality this year as carried out by the assessor, Mr. A. E. Glass. Only in one of the six appeals did the court make any adjustment and in all other cases the assessment as made by the assessor was confirmed.

The one instance in which change was made was in the case of the new house erected on Richmond Street by Mr. John S. Hall. The building was assessed for $200.00 and Mr. Hall produced his building receipts to show that it cost him only $121.00. Mr. Hall pointed out that the house is not finished in any way inside and is merely used for a summer residence a few months of the year. The assessment was reduced on motion of councillors Middleton and Little to $125.00.

Mr. Ivan Marks appealed against an assessment of $1550.00 on his buildings on the grounds that one of his pigeon houses was destroyed by fire and no reduction was made. Mr. Glass, the assessor, pointed out that he felt that even with the loss of one building the present buildings were still not assessed too high and the court upheld his opinion and the assessment was confirmed.

Mr. Gosstick, who owns a property on Centre Street East, appealed against an assessment of $600. No reduction was made and the assessment was confirmed.

Mr. T. H. Trench appealed against the assessments of all his properties on the grounds that he claimed all were too high in comparison to other village properties. The Canadian Bank of Commerce building exclusive of the land is assessed for $3375.00 which Mr. Trench claimed was too high in comparison to other properties. Mr. Trench's block on the corner of Lorne and Yonge Streets is assessed $6,550.00 for buildings and $2,000.00 for land, his residence $600 on land and $3400 on buildings, the new residence he built last year $300.00 on land and $2300 on the building, and a vacant lot on the north side of Lorne Avenue is assessed at $300.00. Mr. Trench pointed to other properties and residences and their assessment in support of his contention that the assessment was inequitable and asked for a reduction. The assessor and the council reviewed the properties referred to and felt that no reduction could be made and the assessment in every case was sustained. Mr. Trench intimated that he would consider appealing to the county judge.

Miss Shoebotham and Miss Jones appealed for exemptions in income assessment but after consulting the assessor act on the matter council confirmed both assessments.
