ONTARIO LEGISLATURE

Refusal by Hon. W. Finlayson to permit the Liberal Members in the Public Accounts Committee to go back to even last year's public accounts to uncover alleged startling irregularities was branded to-day by Dr. Geo. A. McQuibban, Liberal House Leader, as the most glaring evidence the public could have of the desperate attempts of the Government to hide their mal-practices.

"They challenged us to point our finger at one blot on their ten years' administration," emphasized Dr. McQuibban. "We have accepted their challenge. We have found plenty. Now, they are afraid, they can't face the spotlight. They clutched desperately at one last straw. They calmly announce that they would restrict us to this year's public accounts."

"That means," explained the Liberal House Leader, "that they are doubly afraid to allow any probing into my charge in my opening address that in a desperate effort to hide a deficit of over $2,500,000 in 1932, the Government raided the Liquor Control Board funds, and took not only all the surplus funds of the Board, but forced the Liquor people to borrow at least $835,000 from the banks. We believe the sum borrowed was far more than that. Apparently the Government knows it was, and doesn't want the truth to be probed out."

"When this Government wanted to investigate the Peter Smith matter they made no restrictions on the Public Accounts Committee. They went back to B.C.," stated Dr. McQuibban.

"The 1932 Liquor Control Board Report is not ancient history. It is really the 1933 report, so far as the members are concerned, because the full report of the Liquor Control Board is not published till after the sessions are over. Only the lump sums, so far as profits are concerned, are reported by the Liquor Control Board in the public accounts and the detailed report of the Board is printed after the members go home. So they have no chance to scan it, and criticize it in the House till the next year."

"At any rate, they can't block us on the hustlings," the Doctor asserted. "It will be the worse for them there. We'll settle the business there, if they succeed in blocking us in the House."

By the same move, according to Dr. McQuibban, the Government blocked N.O. Hipel, Liberal for Waterloo, South, from investigating information in his hands alleging the gravest scandal in connection with the construction of the Breslau bridge.

"At least, I have resource to the public platform at the coming election," Mr. Hipel commented to-day. A feature of the past week's session was the attack of Dr. L. J. Simpson, Centre Simcoe, financial critic of the opposition, and N. O. Hipel, Liberal Waterloo South, against the $1,000,000 surplus claimed by the Government. Judged by ordinary bookkeeping and the Government's own accounts, contended Dr. Simpson, the Henry surplus became at least $2,400,000 deficit, and even $3,000,000 by strict truth. His findings were backed up two days later by the Financial Post, which calculated that the deficit was $2,400,000. Exactly like Dr. Simpson, the Financial Post also criticized the Government for adding all the relief expenditures to capital account. As Dr. Simpson emphasized, the Government had, in reality, added $29,000,000 to capital account, on which interest has to be paid. In the 10 years of the Conservative Administration over $300,000,000 has been added to the capital debt, requiring one-third of the total revenue of the Province to pay the interest.

"Either the Government has something to hide or is afraid of public opinion as to its ability to manage the financial affairs of the Province," was Mr. Hipel's assumption in his criticism of the budget. No private business could keep accounts like those of the Government and "get away with it." From the continued silence of the Government on the vital points in connection with the floating of the $40,000,000 loan, Mr. Hipel drew the assumption that the Bank of Nova Scotia and the Bank of Montreal had taken large blocks of the bonds floated by the Province to wipe out overdrafts of $2,355,000 owed them by the Government.

Appearances pointed to almost certainty that the amendment to the Highways Traffic Act proposed by C. A. Robertson, Liberal North Huron, absolving private drivers of automobiles from liability in case of accidents to passengers, would be accepted by the Government with some minor changes before the close of the session.

RUNNING A NEWSPAPER

From the Trenton Courier-Advocate Of course, the profession has its dangers. There is always the danger of somebody coming in and telling you that the fish are biting just at a time when you are so busy that you can't get away; there is always the danger that the banker will call you up and tell you that there is the matter of a small overdraft and will you please come around and see him some time; there is always the danger that some subscriber who has not paid his subscription in 14 years will drop in and pay all back dues and a couple of years in advance, or that an advertiser will call and pay his advertising a year ahead.

Other than the few things enumerated above, newspaper publishing is interesting and enlightening and a little bit of all right.

An Englishman was touring Scotland in a car. One evening he pulled up at a small Highland village where men are men, and in the inn he ordered a double whisky.

This was duly brought, and looking at the neat spirit the visitor added: "I'd like a little water with it, please."

The innkeeper scratched his head and his face suddenly cleared. "Oh, aye," he said, "there's sure to be a drop in the fire-bucket."

Things might be worse. It is still considered news when a manufacturer charges the government an unholy plenty.
