Eversley Church Celebrates Centennial Birthday

On Sunday, June 24th, 1934, the congregation of Eversley Presbyterian Church will celebrate its Centennial birthday by special services and re-union. At 11 o'clock a.m. Rev. G. S. Lloyd, M.A., B.D., of Midland, will preach. Mr. Lloyd was born at Eversley and educated in Eversley school and church. At 7 p.m. Rev. J. MacBeath Miller, M.A., B.D., of Palmerston, son of the late Rev. J. M. Miller, former minister at Eversley, will preach. Special music will assist in the worship at both services.

The congregation greatly appreciate the services of both ministers.

On Wednesday, June 27, a Garden Party will be held on the church grounds. Members of Presbytery and other ministers and former members will be present. The Agincourt quartette will assist in old time costumes. Further notice re programme will be announced.

The Centennial of the founding of Eversley Presbyterian Congregation takes place on June 24, by special services, and a re-union gathering. Prior to 1834 the vicinity of King and Newmarket were ministered to by missionaries from Scotland, in 1820 by Mr. Wm. Jenkins of Markham, with Rev. McDowell, Rev. Henry Gordon of Scotland was appointed by Toronto Presbytery as minister in 1834, staying till 1837, when Rev. John Tawse, a graduate of Marischal College, Aberdeen, known as "The Beaver."

The church was of pine-hewn logs, on front of the Lloyd farm, and served as a school-house during the week, with William Tinline as the master. Miss Elizabeth Tinline recalls hearing her father tell of sending his pupils to the back of the room with strict orders to keep quiet while Rev. John Tawse performed a wedding ceremony, the wedding party having been too big for the small manse next door.

From Rev. Tawse's Diary, which is the possession of Tawse grandchildren we read: March 26, 1837—Baptism of Agnes, daughter of Andrew Dickson and Elizabeth Elder of Newmarket.

The Indenture of the present church property is still intact and reads: "This Indenture made the twenty-third day of January, in the year of Our Lord, 1843, between Joseph Wells of the first part. The Rev. J. Tawse, Thomas Scott, William Brydon, elder; James Burns and John Ross of the second part. The land was bought for 'Five pounds of good and lawful money,' and was adjacent to the log church. The graveyard which dates back to 1837, was also included in the transaction. Witnesses of deed were William Tinline and John Wells.

In 1848 the present stone structure was erected. Time has not defaced its ancient beauty, nothing has been added and nothing taken away, except to raise the ceiling. The narrow straight pews were closed in by doors with sturdy buttons to "keep the babies from running up the aisles." The minister's pulpit and the preacher's were boxed in, and Thos. Scott, John Clark and Hughie Mitchell raised the tune. Forty-five years ago the first organ was installed, and a choir sang. No flowers were ever used to decorate the church. The order of service was simple and sincere. The first manse at Eversley, owned and built by Mr. Tawse, was burned, but he saved his church papers before anything else. The first Sunday School was established by Mr. Tawse, who was Bible Class teacher, followed by Pearson Wells, M.P.; later by Jas. Ness, Jas. Jenkins and Alice Ferguson

Mrs. J. M. Miller. The first marriage recorded by Mr. Tawse is Jas. McMillan, 32 years, of King, son of Dug. McMillan, and Mary McMillan, and Rose McKellar, 26 years, of King, daughter of Jas. McKellar and Rose Nair, on January 25, 1858.

Finding the congregations of Eversley, Strange and Tenth King too much for his advancing years, the Rev. Dr. Jas. Carmichael of Carlton Place (Beckwith), Ontario, was taken on as assistant in 1860. In April, 1877, after a ministry of 40 years, Mr. Tawse died, and his body lies beside the church. In 1896, the manse, which was then situated at St. Andrew's, Strange, 6th line sideroad, was burned. From Dr. Carmichael's diary we read: "March 21st, 1896, Our manse was burned down at 4 o'clock this morning. The few things we saved were carried over to grandmother's." Hence, all resided in the one-time "manse" church records that were taken from Eversley manse to Strange manse are lost, and with them all the history intervening. Dr. Carmichael's diary dates from 1896 to 1910.

The elders recorded are Robert Gellatly, Archibald McGill, James Cairns, Jas. Jenkins, Jas. Farr, and the present elders, A. B. Wells and Duncan Ross. The splendid and fruitful ministry of Dr. Carmichael was concluded at 50 years by a golden jubilee. He died in.

Succeeding ministers were: 1912-1918—Rev. Robert Brydon; 1919-1923—Rev. A. W. Craw; 1926-1929—Rev. J. M. Millen; 1929-1930—Rev. Jas. Hagen; 1931-1933—Rev. T. L. Williams; 1933—The present minister, Rve. A. K. MacLaren.

The oldest members of the church are: (1) Mrs. Robert Gellatly, member 49 years; (2) A. B. Wells, member 45 years; (3) Thos. Marshall, member 40 years.

Four generations of Wells: (1) Joseph, (2) James, (3) A. B., and (4) James, are taking up the collection at church.

ELDER NEWS

The wonderful rains of Monday causes the farmers to smile as it was very badly needed.

Anniversary Services held in Knox Church on Sunday last were well attended. Two excellent sermons were heard from the Rev. Aitkins of Caledon East, while the music supplied by Woodbridge choir supplemented by members of Knox was much appreciated.

Despite the rain on Monday evening a goodly number turned out to hear the play "No fool like an old fool" under the direction of Mrs. (Rev.) McDonald (L. M. Montgomery) of Norval. The play was interspersed with singing by Miss Betty Wallace of Woodbridge and the Knox male quartette.

Mrs. Meyers and son Forrest of Weston were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Lawrie.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Robinson and family of Castledey visited at the home of Mr and Mrs. W. King on Sunday.

Mr. James Watson and daughter Mary from near Rosetown, Sask., are visiting friends in this district.
