

WEEKLY NEWS NOTES FROM THE UNIONVILLE DISTRICT

The Lord God planted a garden,
The first white days of the world,
And he set an angel warden
In a garment of light unfurled.
So near to the peace of Heaven
That a hawk might nest with the wren,
For there in the cool of the even,
God walked with the first of men.
And I dream that these gardens close us,
With their shade and their sun flecked sod,
And their lilies and bowers of roses,
Were laid by the hand of God.
The kiss of the sun for pardon,
The song of the birds for mirth,
One is nearer God's heart in a garden
Than anywhere else on earth.
Dorothy Francis Gurney
"Oh, Adam was a gardener, and God who made him see
That half a proper gardeners work is done upon his knees,
So when your work is finished, you can wash your hands, and pray,
For the glory of the garden, that it may not pass away.
For the glory of the garden, it shall never pass away."

—Rudward Kipling

A Debatable Point (Edmonton Journal)—An Alberta magistrate has ordered three boys, who had broken into a cottage, to attend church every Sunday for six months. Whether "inflicting" church attendance as a punishment will result in good is a debatable point.

HYDRO

(By E. George Smith)
Richmond Hill is listed in the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission municipal report as one of 83 Hydro municipalities which are now regarded as "out of debt"—that is their local Hydro assets exceed their liabilities.
Richmond Hill, according to the report, has accumulated reserves and surplus out of its local Hydro enterprise of $35,901. These assets, built up without imposition of a cent of taxation, are comprised as follows:—Reserve for equity in Hydro system $8,304; reserve for depreciation on local plant $1,319; debentures paid $8,046; operating surplus $18,231.
Hydro power was first turned on in Richmond Hill in June of 1925. Between 1927 and 1933 the growth of Richmond Hill Hydro has been noted as follows:—Total Hydro consumers increased in number from 369 to 398; average horsepower used increased from 175.8 to 285.9 plus 2.8 for water heaters; total revenue increased from $12,494 to $15,696; lighting revenue increased from $7,990 to $11,158; kilowatt hours sold for lighting increased from 302,223 to 486,890; and plant capital increased in value from $19,210 to $25,000.

The average cost of electricity to Richmond Hill lighting consumers has been decreased from 2.64 cents per kilowatt hour in 1927 to 2.29 cents in 1933. The 1933 rates of 2.2 and 2.5 cents per kilowatt hour for domestic and commercial electricity are to be compared with private company rates of 8 and 10 cents per kilowatt hour in similar sized municipalities prior to Hydro. Ontario's average Hydro rate is 1.7 cents per kilowatt hour; that of 25 representative American cities is 5.7 cents; that of New York City is 6 cents per kilowatt hour.
Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission statisticians calculate that Hydro, since its inception, has saved over $600,000,000 to Ontario Hydro users on their electricity bills.

In the provincial field, the people's light and power business added $3,000,000 to provincial commission reserves during 1933, making a total of $69,000,000. Municipal reserves reached a total of $60,000,000. In February the power load supplied to the municipalities reached its lowest point since 1929 but recovered during the summer to reach in December the largest load in history.
Computing Hydro rates against private company rates in the United States, the Commission's statisticians ascertain that Ontario Hydro users would be paying on their electricity bills a total of $50,000,000 additional annually at average United States rates.
According to the latest 1933 figures the provincial peak load has grown in the last decade from 669,000 to 1,511,033 horsepower; the number of municipalities served has increased from 393 to 757; the total number of consumers has increased from 387,983 to 617,000, including rural; capital investment (Hydro) has increased from $179,000,000 to $288,000,000; capital investment (municipal) has increased from $60,000,000 to $112,000,000; miles of rural lines increased during the decade from 605 to 9,000, and rural customers increased in number from 7,700 to 62,000.
