Bernice Snider Wins Eaton Trophy At Thistleton School Fair... Late Helen Louise Balmer The death of Helen Louise Balmer occurred at her late residence, Pine Grove, on Saturday, Sept. 15th, and interment made in Christ Church Cemetery on Monday afternoon with Rev. J. H. Kidd conducting the burial service. Miss Balmer was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Balmer, early settlers at Pine Grove where deceased was born and lived all her life. She was a devout member of Christ Church (Anglican) to which she gave much of her time. Three brothers survive, Charles and John of Toronto and George, New Orleans. An old time and modern Dance under the auspices of Woodbridge Hockey Club will be held in the Orange Hall on Wednesday Sept. 26th. Ramsay Orchestra will provide the music with H. Hilliard as floor mgr. Orange Hall Packed To Hear Bill Mulock and Ian McKenzie The Orange Hall was filled to capacity on Monday night with one of the most intensely interested audiences that ever crossed its portals to listen to speakers as they dealt with the great problems that affect the Dominion and the world at the present time. The occasion was the meeting held in the interest of Bill Mulock, Liberal candidate for North York at the coming by-election. In addition to the candidate the speakers were Ian McKenzie, M.P. for Vancouver; Egerton Lovering, Toronto, and Fred King, young farmer of Elders Mills. Dr. G. D. McLean, chairman, spoke briefly as he opened the meeting by introducing Mr. Lovering followed by Fred King. Then came Bill Mulock who was given an ovation as he entered the hall. His address was free from personalities yet he was severe in his criticism of R. B. Bennett and his farm program, and like the rest of the speakers made occasional references to Mr. Bennett's statement that he would blast his way into the markets of the world. As Mr. Mulock finished his address Mr. Ian McKenzie arrived from King City where he had spoken earlier in the evening and for one hour this great man from Vancouver held the audience in his grip as he unfolded fact upon fact to prove that K. B. Bennett was not capable of directing the ship of state to a prosperous landing. The singing of God Save the King brought one of the best political meetings ever held in Woodbridge to a close.

THORNHILL

The girls of Mrs. E. A. James Bible Class and members of the young people group, from Toronto, held a corn roast at the home of the president, Miss Irene Rowbottom, Thornhill, on Wednesday evening, Sept. 12th. On a glorious fire of pine knots, hung a huge iron kettle, where an abundance of corn and weiners were cooked. A very enjoyable time was spent around the fire and to judge by the quantity of corn cobs left behind, it looked as if corn was a favorite with everyone. This is just one of the many merry times that Mrs. James' Class has enjoyed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Rowbottom. Mrs. Harold (Jack) Brillinger of Richmond Hill was a charming hostess at a shower for Mrs. Charles Ferguson (Ila Brillinger) last Friday evening. About thirty-five relatives and friends were entertained and presented Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson with beautiful and useful gifts. Miss Greta Strangways of Toronto and Mr. Gordon Strangways of London visited on Sunday with Miss Lilian Francis. The Young Men's Class of the United Church are planning a weekend trip, for this week, to Midland. Mr. and Mrs. A. Brillinger and Miss Jean Brillinger visited last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Short of Toronto. Mr. Ernest Gelatley is spending his holidays at Kirkland Lake. CARRVILLE

The Y.P.S. entertained the school children last Monday evening. The children spent a very enjoyable time, each child received a sucker. There was a good program of readings and solos. Mr. C. Clark spent Sunday with friends near Uxbridge. Mr. and Mrs. L. Burton visited Mrs. Burton's mother, Mrs. Grennan at Meadowdale, on Sunday. Mr. Wm. Moore spent Friday afternoon with Miss Eva and Mr. J. Baker. An enjoyable evening was held on Friday, Sept. 14th, at Mr. John Bakers in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Skyler, the community's newlyweds, when about 30 shiveree boys and friends assembled to extend their congratulations and hearty good wishes for a prosperous future. On behalf of the gathering Miss Dorothy Keffler read the following address and Mr. J. Baker made the presentation. "We, as friends and neighbors, have met here to offer to May and Grant our heartiest congratulations in your recent marriage and to wish you happiness through all your future lives. You have long been well and favorably known to us and we hope that the relationship existing among us as friends and neighbors may always continue and as a token of our respect and esteem we ask you to accept this clock, not for its mere value, but to show in a slight way that we appreciate your friendship, also to express our wishes for a bright and joyous future. Signed on behalf of the shiveree boys and friends. The groom replied in a few well chosen words, thanking the boys for such a beautiful clock and also his desire that the good fellowship might always remain. Ice cream and cake brought a very pleasant evening to a close.

KLEINBURG

Kleinburg district was well represented at the meeting Wednesday night of last week held in Institute Hall in the interest of Col. W. P. Mulock, Liberal candidate for the by-election in North York, when the R. B. Bennett government met with just criticism. It was shown by each speaker that Mr. Bennett had made election promises during the campaign of 1930 that had not been fulfilled, one of which was the fact that he had made it quite clear that he would blast his way into the markets of the world if returned to power. Instead of this he had, by his high tariff policy, caused other actions to retaliate with a protective tariff and he is still hoping to blast his way into the world markets. Speakers were Bill Mulock, Hon. Dr. Simpson, Morgan Baker, M.L.A., and Fred King. Walter McCutcheon occupied the chair

Liberal Leader Gets Great Reception in North York

A rousing meeting was held in the Markham arena Tuesday evening when Rt. Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King, federal leader of the Liberal party, spoke with Col. W. P. Mulock, the Liberal candidate in North York. The arena was crowded to capacity and the speakers received a very attentive hearing and the Liberal leaders pronounced the candidate were enthusiastically cheered. J. H. Naughton, president of the North York Liberal Association, presided as chairman and the first speaker was Morgan Baker M.L.A. who in his usual pleasing manner urged the electors to do their duty at this time and vote against the Bennett government whose policies were so ruinous to the great mass of the people of Canada. Mr. King was given a great reception and he delivered an address which was declared by many to be the best of his political career. "We in Canada," he declared, "do not want to be in bondage to wealth, in bondage to industry, or in bondage to a class in any shape or form. We want freedom, and that is part of the work which you and I as Liberals—inheriting the tradition which we have inherited—must seek to carry on in the name of the past, the present and the future."

Blame the Government "I might say something here about the social unrest we are hearing so much of. I might say to by Communist friends and my Socialist friends—if I may call them that—"Don't blame our parliamentary institutions for your inability to get all that is right and proper in the way of reform. Blame instead those men who are betraying the trust with which as Ministers of the Crown and representatives of the people they have been entrusted."

Fight For Freedom Mr. King delved into the history of the first half of the last century in defending the fight of Liberals of that day and today for freedom from oppression.

"The whole effort of my grandfather at that time," said Mr. King, "was directed solely toward securing for the Canadian people the same freedom and privileges as enjoyed by the people of the motherland. I defy anybody, looking back into the history of those days, to find anything in the acts of these reformers that might be construed as seeking separation from the Mother Country." He quoted from a recent article by B. K. Sandwell, editor of Saturday Night, which declared that serious consequences would ensue if a popular demand of the people were denied. "This historic riding of North York," said Mr. King, "lies in the heart of the Liberal family of Canada and nowhere is there a greater love for the Liberal principles of liberty and freedom."

The great issue before all the peoples and countries of the world, he said, was whether liberty should continue to flourish or whether autocracies and dictatorships should spring up in nations which had hitherto been free.

Family Tradition The record of the historic Mulock family in the field of Liberalism and public service was unsurpassed in the country, said Mr. King, referring to the grandfather of the present candidate, Sir William Mulock. He pointed out that Mulocks for five generations had been identified with public affairs in the Province. The candidate, he said, could be counted upon to continue, in Parliamentary life, the high traditions of his family. Mr. King appealed to young men of Liberal thought throughout the Dominion to stand for Parliament in the coming general election, for, he said, Canada needed intelligent and liberal-minded young men in public affairs. The election of Colonel Mulock, he told his audience, would be an encouragement to such potential statesmen to offer themselves in the elections.

"Those great men who have gone before us," he said, "lighted the torch of freedom, and we who have been holding it high would like, when the time comes, to pass it on to vigorous young hands."

The speaker expressed deep regret at the death of the former member of the Federal riding, Colonel Lennox, and of Lyman Jackson, for many years editor of the Newmarket Era. Colonel Mulock, the Liberal candidate, roundly scored the record of the Bennett Administration. He recalled Mr. Bennett's promise to end unemployment in Canada, a promise which, the speaker said, would be laughable if it did not deal with a matter of such vital concern to the suffering populace.

"Mr. Bennett promised," proceeded Colonel Mulock, "that if he were put in power he would repeal the New Zealand butter treaty, and we would never see 35-cent butter again. Well, that's one promise he did keep, for we haven't seen it since.

"Just Eyewash" "I say that this talk about New Zealand butter was nothing but political eyewash."

If the Government lost all five by-elections, he said, the Government ought to resign. In fact, he added, what ought to be in progress now is not five by-elections, but a general election, for Mr. Bennett had lost the confidence of the people.

Criticizing the Imperial Conference agreements, he said that Canada, one year after the Conference, sold 1,500,000 bushels less of wheat to Britain than she had before the pact was entered into. The same thing was largely true, he said, of other agricultural products.

Colonel Mulock accused the Prime Minister of having treated the Mother Country unfairly in the matter of tariffs, and he called for the removal of "unfair duties" against some British goods. Some of the tariffs, he said, created in Canada virtual monopolies in many fields of manufacturing.

Morgan Baker, M.P.P. for North York, said that Mr. King was leading the Liberal Party toward a regime of freedom and fairness such as existed in the days of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

"It is a question when we cast our votes on Monday," he said, "of whether it is to be Bennett and bondage or King and freedom."

"Our Ontario Premier, Mitchell Hepburn, has carried out every pre-election promise that he made," said Mr. Baker. "And this record of sincerity and honesty can be looked for with confidence in our candidates and leaders in the Federal field."

He declared that Prime Minister Bennett had displayed a far different attitude toward the people when, on the arrival in Ottawa of a deputation of working people, he met them with mounted police.
