NOW IS THE TIME TO WAR ON BLACK KNOT OF PLUMS
It is deplorable but it is true that at the present time it is almost impossible to grow plums in Richmond Hill. The soil and location of our village are well adapted to the growth of this delicious fruit, but there is so much uncontrolled black knot along fences and in vacant lots as well as on cultivated lots that new plantings of trees soon become useless through the devastation of this disease. This condition is all unnecessary because the disease is not difficult to control, but community effort is needed for its control. It is difficult for one man to control black knot if his neighbor neglects to do so.
Consequently the Horticultural Society has interested itself in an effort to obtain a community clean-up of this disease. This is the time to start. Previous to winter all infested parts should be cut out, and burned, and the burning is as important as the cutting. It does no good whatever to cut out diseased wood and leave it lying around, for it will continue to infect surrounding trees until it is burned. Then in the spring an application of Bordeaux or Lime Sulphur Spray should be made before the buds burst. This is a simple procedure and the Society feels sure that all citizens of Richmond Hill will be glad to co-operate to carry it out.
We have interviewed the Village Council and asked that an inspector be appointed to visit every lot in the Village to assist and insist on the eradication of this unnecessary pest.
We believe Council will meet our wishes and we ask the co-operation of all property owners.
PAUL E. ANGLE,
Pres. Horticultural Society

CAPITOL THEATRE
PERFECT STORY BRINGS LLOYD BACK TO FILMS
Comedian's Return Due To Discovery of Ideal Yarn
Prolonged absence of Harold Lloyd from the screen can be attributed to several reasons. The principal one has been a lack of what he regarded as suitable material. When it is considered that Lloyd for fifteen years has been making comedies loaded with gags, and touching almost every conceivable angle of comedy, slowing down in idea development can be expected.
Two years have elapsed since the comedian was seen in "Movie Crazy." During that period Lloyd decided on a definite change in policy. Straight gag comedies, he realized, were becoming passe. He was facing a critical moment in his career which had been one unbroken string of successes. Instead of trying to surpass the gags in "Movie Crazy," Lloyd determined to go in more for story and characterization, which offered comedy possibilities of course.
When Clarence Budington Kelland submitted the proofs of his story "The Cat's Paw" which ran in the Saturday Evening Post as a serial, and, subsequently, produced as a novel, the comedian found it to be exactly what he had in mind. It had an unusual story, a definite characterization, smart dialogue, as well as comedy and drama mingled. Lloyd stayed right with the main stem of the story, deviating only when necessary for picture purposes, and Lloyd feels he undoubtedly has produced the "different" picture he visualized.
