

"NO WONDER YOU FEEL AND LOOK SO MUCH BETTER"

—said the physician.

Half in fun and half because he occasionally "felt punk", a college chap joined 39 other students to form a test class or clinic. A certain physician wanted to test on this class the recuperative power of a certain tonic preparation, the formula of which had inspired his confidence.

Like the other 39, this young man's blood was tested and the "count" of red corpuscles and red coloring matter was found well below normal. No wonder he "felt punk" at times. He was given the tonic and returned in thirty days to have his blood tested again. There was no doubt about improved health. He looked it and felt it. His blood test showed that red corpuscles and red coloring matter had strikingly increased. "No wonder you are feeling and looking better," said the physician.

Would you like to feel better, too? Would you like to be keen again about study or work or play? Then take this "tested tonic" which proved such a benefit to the forty college students. It restores well-being by increasing the red corpuscles and red coloring matter of the blood—those carriers in the blood stream which must be kept up to normal numbers if the person is to possess health and vitality. This tested tonic is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Easy to take whether at home, at college or at business. Recommended for all who feel run-down, over-tired, nervous or "low", or are under-weight. Your druggist has this tested tonic—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, price 50c.

MAPLE LEAF CONTEST

With Canadians from coast to coast industriously gathering beautiful autumn-tinted leaves, and entering them in all their glory in the Most Beautiful Maple Leaf Competition being conducted by the Canadian Railways, the Royal Canadian Academy of Arts has agreed to the Academy sponsoring the judging and the final selection of the most beautiful autumn maple leaf for 1934. Outstanding Canadian artists have agreed to actively serve on the Judging Committee, including F. S. Coburn of Montreal, C. W. Jefferys of York Mills, Ont., and W. J. Phillips of Winnipeg.

The enthusiasm with which Canadians are showing their appreciation of the fall scene, and the breath-taking beauty of the autumn countryside in every Province of the Dominion are combining to make the 1934 competition outstanding both as to the number of entries, and as to the magnificent color combinations with which nature points the maple leaves during this period of the year.

Thousands of entries are pouring in, and many thousands more are expected before the competition closes on October 15th.

The two railways are this year offering $100 in prizes. The first prize for the most beautiful maple leaf will be $50, the second prize $20, and third $10. The first prize for the largest maple leaf is $15, and the second prize $5. Judges in the largest leaf phase of the competition will be C. B. Brown, Chief Engineer of the Canadian National Railways, and J. M. R. Fairbairn, Chief Engineer of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

All entries must be addressed to P.O. Box 1500, Montreal, Que.

Wife: The couple next door seem very devoted. He kisses her every time they meet. Why don't you do that?

Husband: I don't know her well enough yet.

Here and There

What a practical newspaperman finds interesting on a cruise around the world in the Canadian Pacific flagship Empress of Britain can be counted upon to capture the imagination of stay-at-homes. Last winter Alan Maurice Irwin, a Montreal writer, made the cruise. He saw intriguing places, outstanding people and strange customs. So he sat down and wrote a book which is illustrated by photographs he made with his own camera, filled with amusing sidelights upon humanity. Now, under the comprehensive title "—and ships—and sealing wax," the book is on Macmillan's fall list.

That United States investors' capital would flow into Canada in an even greater volume is the prediction of John R. Hastie, of the Mutual Life of New York office in Chicago, speaking before the Life Underwriters Association of Toronto, at the Royal York Hotel recently.

The cream of American baseball players is scheduled to sail from Vancouver October 20 aboard the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Japan, for an all-star tour of Japan, China and the Philippines. Judge and Mrs. Kenesaw Mountain Landis may also be in the party.

Photographed in a group for the first time since they were "shot" on their arrival in Canada a few years ago, His Excellency the Governor-General, Her Excellency and their elder son and daughter were snapped on board the Empress of Britain just before Lady Bessborough and her son and daughter sailed for Europe recently.

Appropriation of one dollar was made recently by the Vancouver City Council as the nominal price for the purchase from the Canadian Pacific Railway of 1 1/4 acres of right-of-way property at Kitsilano Beach, near the British Columbia city.

The first McIntosh apples of the season for distribution throughout the Dominion from Victoria to Halifax went out recently over Canadian Pacific lines in trains of 45 cars. The fruit is reported to be in wonderful condition and this season's product will maintain the great reputation that British Columbia has won for its apples.

Under the Canadian Pacific five years' free scholarship award to McGill University, Reside McCallum, of Montreal; David B. W. Reid, of Winnipeg, and Albert Grant Asplin, of Lethbridge, all sons of company employees, are announced as this year's winners. The scholarships are renewable every year up to five years if the holders are entitled to full standing in the next higher year.

"There is very clear evidence of a return to prosperity in Canada due to a greater feeling of confidence," was a recent declaration of Lord Iliffe, owner of more British trade papers than any other publisher in the United Kingdom, interviewed aboard the Empress of Britain.

From every state of the Union and every province of the Dominion delegates to the 110th communication of the Sovereign Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Oddfellows assembled in convention at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, recently. They were greeted by the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario and the Mayor of Toronto.

HOOKED!

Bridegroom: The minister said this marriage would cost me exactly $10.

Bride (under her breath): Ha, ha, ha!

Mrs. Kelly—Does your husband come home and throw his arms around you, Mrs. Murphy?

Mrs. Murphy—Yes, sometimes before I can strike a blow.

"Have you any education, Mose?" asked the prospective employer.

Yes, suh, sutlinly," said the darkey.

"Well, can you write your name?"

"Suh?"

"Can you write your name?"

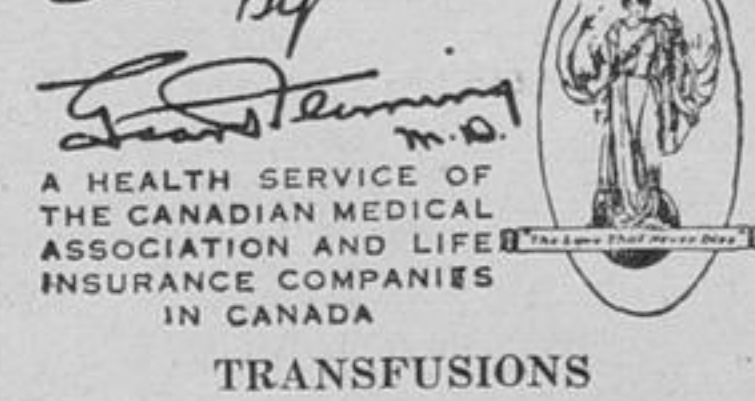

"No suh," said the unabashed Mose,

"Ah always dictates it."

Why not educate youngsters to get themselves liked by the right people? That's the qualification for a government job.

HEALTH

TRANSFUSIONS
The sight of blood usually arouses a sense of fear and, in many instances is sufficient to cause nausea and faintness. Blood is essential to life. The proper functioning of the body depends upon many things, including an adequate amount of pure, healthy blood.

You will almost surely have noted that blood transfusions are now frequently used in the treatment of a variety of conditions. It is no exaggeration to say that, in many cases, life is saved and health restored through blood transfusions.

In years past, transfusions were used only in emergencies when they apparently offered the only chance for the patients. To-day, transfusions are frequently used as treatment, because we have learned about blood groupings which allow for transfusions to be made with safety.

We may consider the blood as being composed of two parts: a liquid part, or serum, and solid particles, or corpuscles. There are several kinds of corpuscles, but in transfusions we are concerned with the red corpuscles of which there are approximately five million in every drop of normal blood.

Human beings may be divided into four groups, corresponding to the four blood groups. The blood from two persons of the same group may be mixed with perfect safety. Not so, however, with the blood of persons from different groups. In other words, it is necessary to have a donor the giver of the blood, belonging to the same group as the recipient, or patient who is to receive the blood. The same requirement applies to skin grafts. Unless the skin for grafting is taken from a person of the same blood grouping as the person on whom the skin is to be grafted, the operation will fail.

The test is simple. A small quantity of blood is taken from both donor and recipient. The blood from each is divided into two parts, one of which is allowed to clot, squeezing out the serum. To the other part is added a chemical to prevent clotting, so this is really a suspension of red blood corpuscles. The serum of each is mixed with the corpuscles of the other and watched for twenty minutes. If no change takes place in that time, the blood is said to match and the transfusion may proceed. If, however, the red blood cells become clumped, this shows that the bloods do not match. Under these circumstances, the donor cannot be used for if his blood were injected, it would, for one thing, cause a clumping of the red blood cells in the body of the recipient, leading to a plugging of the small arteries, with disastrous results. Blood matching makes blood transfusions safe.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.
