Community Welfare Council Activities

The series of nightly meetings carried on by the local branch of the Community Welfare Council in the school under direction of Miss Jessie L. Beattie of Toronto, Director of Rural Recreation, last week ended on Friday night when the branch organized for the season with the following officers: President, Miss Avis Poole; Vice-President, Norman Jackman; Secretary, Miss Margaret McKenzie; Treasurer, Miss Maybelle Harris. It is planned to produce a play by a cast selected by Miss Beattie from the Council membership, the proceeds of which will be devoted to the beautification of some outstanding spot within the confines of the Village municipality. At the opening meeting of last week Miss Beattie outlined the program arranged for the week and in her talk which was illustrated by lantern views of the Village of Dorn on the Grand River which also included scenes from the play and cast produced under her personal direction, the proceeds being used to establish a reference library in the community.

Late William James Barnes

William James Barnes, aged 71, died on Sunday morning, Oct. 7th, and was buried on Monday afternoon last, the funeral taking place from his late residence, 8th Avenue North, Woodbridge, to Salem Cemetery, Pickering Township, where interment was made with Rev. J. E. Anderson conducting the burial service. Mr. Barnes was a son of the late John and Jane Byers Barnes whose ancestors crossed the Atlantic from Ireland about 1830 and settled in Pickering where they endured the hardships of Canadian pioneer life. Deceased was born near Greenwood where he spent his early life. He was well known throughout Vaughan, Markham and Pickering Townships, having served as an implement salesman many years for the firm of Frost and Wood, and lived at Thornhill and Unionville coming to Woodbridge ten years ago where he lived in retirement. His death was not unexpected as he had been in declining health for about five years. Mr. Barnes was a member of the United Church and Conservative in politics. He is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Mary Fairgreaves with whom he lived, Mrs. John Carrol, Mitchell, and Mrs. Geo. Middleton, Greenwood, Pickering Township. Pallbearers were Woodbridge neighbors, J. G. Whitmore, John Wood, William Cameron, Thos. Scarland, George Hugill and William Mitchell.

CAPITOL THEATRE

LATEST ROLE TAKES JANET INTO KITCHEN

Player Enjoys Opportunity Given For Two Vastly Differing Parts.

A dual personality has persistently remained with Janet Gaynor, from the time in her early girlhood when she played tom-boy during the better part of the day with her pals of the Philadelphia and Chicago street games, to her latest assignment in "Servants' Entrance" at the Capitol Theatre this week-end, a role which also demanded two characterizations of her—namely, a rich and a poor girl. But turning from a pampered, rich heiress, as she must in her new film with Lew Ayres, into a common scullery kitchen maid was something else. She began to sympathize with all the kitchen maids in the world, with dishes piled greasy and high from feasting they never shared.

In spite of the fact that she apprentices herself into the role of a poor house-servant in order to qualify as a housewife in her new film assignment, the line between rich and poor which she must cross again and again in the picture calls for a craftsman-ship in acting technique more demanding perhaps than any Miss Gaynor has essayed heretofore.

With Lew Ayres as the chauffeur of a wealthy family, Miss Gaynor is cast as a servant in the same household.

Modernism: Taking endless pains to shield the kids from germs; giving them a fast car in which to risk their necks.

VARIETY AT THE COMING ROYAL WINTER FAIR

Variety and novelty to a striking degree seem assured for the forthcoming Royal Winter Fair, a fact made plain by the enlarged number of departmental prize lists and catalogues containing new classifications which are now being mailed to thousands of exhibitors from the offices in Bay Street, Toronto. For the Royal really comprises "ten big shows in one," each appealing to widely different interests, yet bound into unity by being gathered in a 25-acre space—larger than many a Dutch or Belgian farm—under one roof.

The Royal Horse Show is now accepted as society's opening of the winter season for combined sport and fashion. It is in a class apart so far as Canada is concerned, and finds its peer, this year, only at the smart New York Horse Show. An excellent program is being arranged with highly interesting special interludes.

Then cattle exhibits for both dairy and beef breeds are assured of keen competition from the United States. Not only are the best herds from the Middle West taking in the Royal at Toronto this year, but several are making a special point of their display because the Royal Winter Fair offers them the last opportunity to add points in their "all American contests" which cover six or eight of the large American fairs. All the Canadian breed associations without exception promise first rate entries.

The same cheery prospects are being reported to the Royal Winter Fair management for the exhibits of sheep, swine, poultry, pet stock (including rabbits, guinea pigs and fancy fish), fruit, flowers, seeds and grains.

The Royal Cat Show, which is carrying on traditions of the Canadian National Cat Club of almost 30 years, reports enthusiastic prospects for this year's entry, and the officials of the Canadian Cat Council, under whose auspices the Royal Show is held, have the enthusiastic support of American cat fanciers in several states contiguous to the Canadian border.

A gratifying feature of the preliminary work is that despite drought and other adverse conditions Canadian agriculturists, breeders, and stockmen from Prince Edward Island to the Rocky Mountains are as determined and hopeful as in more prosperous years.

"Their spirit cannot be downed" was an admiring outburst at a committee of the Royal this week.

Regularity!

TO MERCHANDISER :-

"You sweep out, you trim the windows, you dust off the counters, you make up new price cards, you unpack and arrange new stock, you plan your merchandise showings, you do these and a hundred other necessary jobs REGULARLY in the normal conduct of your business.

"But how about the biggest job of all—contacting the people and telling them repeatedly that you are in business and have the goods they need. Do you do that REGULARLY? Do you figure you are going to get your share of the available business if you don't tell folks about your merchandise or your service at REGULAR intervals instead of doing the job spasmodically or not at all?

"By all known tests, experience and thousands of records, the acknowledged best-of-all medium for REGULARITY is advertising in the local newspaper. A newspaper going REGULARLY into the homes of your possible customers not only in your city but the surrounding territory as well, makes it easy enough for anyone to see how your local newspaper offers you the finest kind of a vehicle for carrying your business message REGULARLY to the people.

"And don't think these folks won't miss your REGULARITY of advertising. They look for their newspaper REGULARLY, READ IT REGULARLY, study its advertising (yours, if it's there) REGULARLY.

"And what's more, you'll find they are buying fairly REGULARLY, too, if you'll just check up, especially with the advertisers who do use space REGULARLY.
