NEWS AND INFORMATION FOR THE BUSY FARMER

Ontario Fertilizer Board
Following two years of work assembling facts concerning the use of fertilizer, the Ontario Advisory Fertilizer Board, following its annual meeting in Toronto recently, announced that it was now prepared to assemble and publish its findings and recommendations. It is planned to publish the findings and recommendations in time for spring work this year. These recommendations, arrived at through study of experimental and research work carried on for a number of years throughout Ontario, and taking into consideration all soil and climate conditions will cover the use of fertilizer, both commercial and farm, for the following crops: cereals, hay and pasture; fruit and vegetables, roots and potatoes, muckland crops, sugar beets, corn and tobacco.

Dr. Robert Harcourt, O.A.C. Guelph is the chairman of the board which was organized two years ago. Its membership is made up of provincial and Dominion field crop experts, representatives of the various growers' organizations, and representatives of the commercial fertilizer trade. G. R. Paterson, Walkerton, Ont., is the secretary.

Agricultural Societies
The annual convention of the Agricultural Societies, held at the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, early this month, brought together representatives from all parts of the Province to discuss questions of mutual interest. In the arranging of the programme, ample time was given for discussion. In these discussions many points were cleared up. Time was also allowed for the Secretaries of fairs to hold a session.

George E. Foster, Honeywood, was in the chair and in his presidential address reviewed some of the accomplishments of the Agricultural Societies and referred to special features at different fairs.

Secretary J. A. Carroll gave a detailed report of the year's activities. There are 315 active Agricultural Societies in Ontario and 297 held a fair; 101 of these reported an increase in gate receipts over the previous year.

Last year 66 regular field crop competitions were conducted and in addition 10 combined competitions in barley. During the year three seed cleaning plants were operated by Agricultural Societies. Several Societies maintain pure-bred sires and grants were paid for the maintenance of one stallion, 27 boars, 68 bulls and 10 rams. One Society had a competition for the best managed farm. In Bruce and Grey the Societies are offering a service in securing reliable fruit trees and other Societies are behind the work on animal parasite control.

Ontario Sheep Breeders Discuss Lamb Identification

Sheep breeders in large numbers attended the annual meeting of the Ontario Sheep Breeders Association, presided over by E. Robson, Denfield. Long and inconclusive discussion took place on identification of lambs. A year ago the Canadian Association decided on identification tags bearing registered breeder letters allotted by Canadian Live Stock Records, as private ear tags were not entirely satisfactory to our friends across the line who import a lot of our lambs for breeding purposes. There was a wide diversion of opinion expressed at the meeting held by the Ontario Association and the matter was finally left to the directors to decide and send a recommendation on to the Canadian Association.

The breeders present heard the wool outlook for 1936 discussed by Geo. E. O'Brien and prospects are brighter than in the past, although substantial increases in price may not be expected. W. H. J. Tisdale reported for the Canadian Lamb Committee whose object is promoting lamb consumption on the domestic market. Methods of advertising and types of advertisements were shown to the meeting, all of which it was believed were producing results. A. A. MacMillan, of the Live Stock Branch, Ottawa, reviewed lamb grading and its benefits to breeder and purchaser.

Plowmen's Association

The annual convention of the Ontario Plowmen's Association was held early this month in Toronto, with a large attendance and many interesting addresses. The secretary, J. A. Carroll, reported 80 branches active in 1935 and 70 senior matches were held. There was keen interest in junior activities and demonstrations for young farmers were held at 26 points. Home plowing competitions were conducted in thirteen counties and eight junior matches were held. Matches and demonstrations have been staged at a number of points in Northern Ontario. At the International Plowing Match at Caledonia there was a record entry of 544 and the number of people who visited the Match was estimated by the president to be over 100,000. Reference was made by the secretary to the Farm Machinery demonstrations and the educational exhibits.

An address by Dr. E. S. Hopkins, Experimental Farm, Ottawa, on cultural implements, gave the results of various experiments that not only proved interesting but somewhat of a surprise to some who were present.

Dr. E. S. Archibald, speaking at the noon luncheon, claimed that soil cultivation was fundamental to getting a crop and to weed and plant disease control. There is a wide variation in the soil in the 9 million acres of arable land in Ontario and this must be studied in order to adapt different crops to the different types of soil. Soil changes come about owing to continued cropping, claimed the speaker, and this has given rise to certain cropping difficulties. Care of soil is not just in turning a fancy furrow, said Dr. Archibald, but in so handling it that after extracting a living the soil may be left as good or better than at the start. Conservation and intelligent handling of soil is very important. Dr. G. I. Christie and others spoke in glowing terms of the 1935 match and of the value ploughing matches were to the agricultural and industrial life of the country.

The annual meeting was presided over by J. Lockie Wilson who, in his own inimitable style, told of the growth and development during the past 26 years of the Plowmen's Association.
