Prize Winners in Junior Farmers' Judging Contest

Miss Agnes McLean of Maple Wins Chicago Trip—
Vaughan Wins Two Township Trophies

The annual Livestock Judging Competition of the York Junior Farmers and Achievement Day for the York Junior Institutes took place at Richmond Hill on Thursday of last week, June 4th, with a very large number of competitors in both groups. One of the interesting and encouraging features was the number of beginners or novices who competed.

The girls' work took the form of a display of articles made by them in their project work, such as Supper Club and Clothing Clubs conducted throughout the County by the Women's Institutes Branch under the direction of Miss Betty Wallace. In addition to the display of sewing, menus and work or note books, the girls also had some judging work and gave team demonstration on Table Setting and Being Correctly Dressed before a large turn-out of visitors from the various women's institutes. The coveted prize of a trip to the Chicago International for the girl making the best showing in at least three projects was awarded to Miss Agnes McLean of Maple, and the A. J. H. Eckardt Silver Tea Service to the runner-up went to Miss Marion Smith of Unionville.

The Live Stock Judging Competition was under the direction of W. M. Cockburn, Agricultural Representative, and ten classes of stock were judged at the Municipal Farm, Rose-lawn Dairy Farm and Don Head Farms. After the judging was completed, the boys returned to the Town Hall to give reasons on their work to the staff of judges.

At noon, Mr. John D. Patterson entertained all the contestants and officials to a picnic lunch on the beautiful lawn at his residence at Don Head Farms. In the evening, 140 enjoyed the annual Junior Farmers' Banquet, provided by the Richmond Hill Women's Institute, and presided over by Albert Rutherford of Woodbridge, President of the J. F. A. Miss E. M. Collins of the Women's Institute Branch was guest speaker and others taking part included Morgan Baker, M.L.A., W. J. Gardhouse, M.L.A., Miss Florence Eadie of the Women's Institutes Branch and Reeves J. A. Greene and J. J. Jefferson.

Miss Wallace and W. M. Cockburn announced the prizes for their various departments. Negligence Is Verdict of the Coroner's Jury

The inquest into the death of Tobias Thompson who was killed while working with the Department of Highways paint gang on Yonge St. on May 27th, was held in the Municipal Hall, Richmond Hill Wednesday evening. Coroner Dr. J. P. Wilson presided and the verdict of the jury was that Thompson came to his death as a result of being struck by a car driven by Alexis Gavard of St. Catharines, and that while the jury felt the Department of Highways employees had taken sufficient precaution against traffic they found that Gavard was guilty of negligence in causing the accident.

Evidence showed that there were 45 flags on the pavement as a warning to traffic that men were at work and that the car driven by Gavard suddenly swerved when opposite the men striking two and fatally injuring Thompson who died in a few minutes. Constable Robertson in his evidence said that Mrs. Gavard stated to him that her husband had momentarily dropped off to sleep when the car swerved.

Witnesses heard included Constable Barraclough, Constables Lemmon, Byles and Robertson, Mrs. Edith Broome, an eye witness, the two men working with Thompson at the time of the accident, Dr. Marwood who rendered first aid and performed the autopsy, and engineers and photographers who made diagrams and photos of the road. Mr. Gavard and Mrs. Gavard did not give evidence on the advice of their solicitor.
