Did you ever see a tall giraffe? His great long neck would make you laugh.

If he should go to buy a collar The haberdasher would surely holler, Because there's not a collar made, To fit his neck, I am afraid.

With necks so very long and slim, The baseball fence would be so low, That any boy could see the show.

Verse for the Kiddies The Giraffe

Mr. William Diesman and family wish to extend their sincere thanks to their many relatives and neighbours for their many acts of kindness shown to them during their recent bereavement.

STEPHENSON-In ever loving memory of a dear husband and father, Arthur W. Stephenson, who departed this life suddenly, July 24, 1932.

With heart both crushed and sore; But in the gloom the sweet words come, "Not lost, but gone before."

God knows how much I miss you, He counts the tears I shed; And whispers, He only sleeps, Your loved one is not dead.

So I'll be brave dear husband, And pray to God each day, And when He calls me home to you, Your smile will guide the way.

Sadly missed by Wife and Family.

SUMMERS-In fond and loving memory of Harold Summers, who passed away July 23rd, 1935.

One year has passed since that sad day, When one we loved was called away, God took him home, it was His will, Forget him, no, we never will.

Loving and kind in all his ways, Upright and just to the end of his days, Sincere and true in heart and mind, What a beautiful memory he left behind.

Lovingly remembered by Mother, Father and Borthor.

BOWMAN, John M.—On Friday, July 17, 1936, at his home, 378 Eglinton Avenue East, Toronto, ex-Controller John M. Bowman, in his 77th year, beloved husband of Ann Elizabeth Harris.

Resting at the Funeral Chapel of A. W. Miles, 30 St. Clair Avenue West. Service was held in the chapel on Monday morning at 10 o'clock. Interment at Thornhill Cemetery.

Correct this sentence: "It's bedtime for the neighbors," said she, "so we must turn off our radio."

ON THE BEACH

Come, youngsters get some old duds on, We'll seek a balmy beach, And dig and build till day is gone, Beyond the breakers reach.

We'll dig a trench down to the sea, A channel deep and wide, Upon whose flooded length so free Our driftwood ships shall ride.

We'll watch the tide run to and fro, Along its crunching wall, And let the sunny hours go Without a care at all.

You can't see it, but your grandchildren will long for these adventurous days when civilization was in the making.

ANNOUNCEMENT

B. Bloomfield Jordan, barrister, solicitor etc. announces the opening of an office at 84 Yonge Street, for the general practice of his profession.

CAN YOU HELP?

Suddenly it has turned very warm. There is no shade in the city and the pavements are hot underfoot. Steadily applications pour into the Neighborhood Workers Association headquarters from distracted parents who, asking nothing for themselves, want only that their small children should enjoy a short while in the cool and shade of the country.

Invitations have been coming in from many kind hostesses, but unfortunately the applications outnumber them about three to one. There are many pathetic cases reported by district workers. For instance there are two little boys, ages nine and eleven, who live with their mother in two tiny rooms over a store on a hot, dirty street.

In asking friends to open their homes to unfortunate children such as these, the Neighborhood Workers Association does not expect an elaborately planned holiday, it is pointed out by the General Secretary, F. N. Stapleford. All they ask is the opportunity of sending one or two children to a home which will provide a brief relief from their hard existence.

It might even be a home on the outskirts of the city—just so long as it possessed a large garden in which the children could play.

Transportation to the destination (which must be within 150 miles) is supplied by the Assoc. The child is medically examined before leaving town, and though he or she may be pale and thin, hostesses can be sure there is nothing organically wrong.

If there is room in your home for a little child—just for a two week period, the Neighborhood Workers Association earnestly asks you to consider playing fairy godmother to some boy or girl, by forwarding an invitation to 22 Wellesley Street, Toronto. Your letter should be accompanied by a note from the local clergyman or a prominent member of the community.

Cutting shortly before midnight received a telephone call purporting to be from an acquaintance, who wanted a hired man brought out. As Cutting later was driving the pair, whom he did not recognize, to Aurora, he was told to proceed to Wilcox Lake, where it was alleged the woman lived.

As the car approached a dark spot, Cutting felt the gun being pressed against his ribs, and the next thing he knew he was searched and robbed. His assailants then stripped him of his clothing, except shirt and pants, and, after warning him that he was being watched, told him to remain still, as the pair drove away in his car.

A man and woman answering the description of Cutting's assailants were reported as having been seen in the Newmarket district earlier in the evening. They are believed to be the two who, driving a stolen car early Tuesday, evaded capture by Provincial Officer Spencer by driving through two fences, and then escaping on foot to a thick bush.

Constable Syd Barraclough, Richmond Hill, and Provincial Officer Spencer, Bradford, are now combing the district for any trace of the two bandits, who are believed to be in hiding. In the car recovered by Spencer, a quantity of fruit and groceries, identified as having been stolen from the Dominion Store in Richmond Hill, was recovered.

A salute of thousands of engine whistles, which was heard from one end of the Dominion to the other, marked the Centenary of the start of the first Canadian passenger train and the commencement of the second century of service by the Canadian National Railways.

It was at noon on July 21st, 1836, that the Dorchester, the first engine in Canada, started from La Prairie for St. Johns, Quebec, hauling the first passenger train over the Champlain and St. Lawrence Railway, the first link in the chain of railways that are now component parts of the Canadian National System.
