Crop Failure Worst on Record

The Statistics Branch of the Department of Agriculture, has released the August Monthly Crop Report giving a review of crop conditions in Ontario as compiled from reports from a large staff of regular correspondents.

Crop conditions reported at the end of July are the worst reported for Ontario since records of condition figures have been established. Intense heat from July 9th to 15th and an entire absence of rainfall over about two-thirds of the Province during the first three weeks of the month, caused severe injury to all crops. In Elgin, Essex, Kent, and in counties east of Kingston, moisture supplies were generally sufficient and the best crops are situated in these counties. Fall wheat, fall rye, first cutting of alfalfa, and to a large extent, the main hay crop, were sufficiently advanced to be only slightly reduced in yield by the drought, which set in towards the end of June. Spring grains will be reduced in yield an estimated 20 per cent for the province as a whole, with the loss in the counties of Brant, Welland, Wentworth and Haldimand, averaging close to 50 per cent. On quite a number of farms in this small area spring grains have been cut green to supplement the shortage of green fodder. Late grains are poorer than early sown fields. Buckwheat, potatoes, roots, pastures and second growth alfalfa are in poor condition throughout most of the province. The milk flow is considerably below normal except in Eastern Ontario, and many farmers are feeding winter rations of hay and grain. The rains of July 23rd and 24th checked the effects of the drought temporarily, but failed to provide any great amount of soil reserve moisture, and rains are again badly needed in Southern, Central and Western Ontario.

The harvesting of fall wheat and fall rye is completed, while the cutting of early oats and barley is nearing completion in Southern Ontario, about 50 per cent completed in Western and Central Ontario, and has commenced in Eastern Ontario. Fall wheat turned out a very good crop, with the estimated yield placed at 23.7 bushels per acre as compared with a final yield of 22.7 bushels in 1935, and 15.8 bushels in 1934. The preliminary estimate of the yield of fall rye is 16.8 bushels per acre as against a final yield of 17.6 bushels and 15.5 bushels in the previous two years, respectively. It is too early to predict safely the yield of spring grains, but it is fairly certain from the condition figures at the first of August, that the production per acre for these crops will be reduced to the extent of approximately 20 per cent. The extremely high temperatures which prevailed in the middle of July forced the premature ripening of spring grain, and together with insufficient moisture supplies, have resulted in light filling of grain and short straw. The exception for Eastern Ontario again has to be made here, as reports indicate that spring grains are only slightly below average, due to late seeding and appear to be filling well. The yield of hay and clover, and first cutting of alfalfa, will generally ensure sufficient fodder for winter feeding purposes, although a number of individual farmers may find it necessary to purchase part of their needs. The first cutting of alfalfa is placed at 1.76 tons per acre as compared with estimates of 2.02 tons in 1935 and only 1.08 tons in 1934. New seedlings of hay and clover have been affected seriously by the dry weather. The scarcity of pasture and aftermath in hay fields is resulting in loss of weight by livestock.

LATE JOHN HARRISON

Mr. John Harrison of Toronto, former resident of Richmond Hill died suddenly in Toronto last Wednesday morning. The funeral service was held from the home on St. Clarens Ave. conducted by Major Bunton of the Salvation Army. The late Mr. Harrison is survived by his wife of Toronto, two sons and four daughters, one of whom is Mrs. James Butler of Richmond Hill.

EXPRESSES APPRECIATION

The Vaughan Social Club appreciate very much the kindness of the following list who donated toward their successful picnic held recently at Laskay Park:—Maple Sand and Gravel Company of Maple; F. J. Mansbridge, P. C. Hill, F. Y. W. Brathwaite, S. Ranson, Kerr Brothers, of Richmond Hill; Mrs. Duckett, Mr. and Mrs. Horton, Mr. and Mrs. Norris, George Allison Jr., of Richvale; and the Ocean Blend Tea Co. of Toronto.

Just a few minutes before the attempt was made on his life King Edward spoke wise words to the Guards whom he was reviewing: "Only a few of us on parade this morning have known the awful weight of war with all its sorrows and yet its comradeships during the world struggle of twenty years ago. With all my heart I hope, and indeed pray, that never again will our age and generation be called upon to face such stern and terrible days. "Humanity cries out for peace and the assurance of peace, and you will find in peace opportunities of duty and service as noble as any that bygone battle fields can show."

Letters From The People

NON-RESISTANCE

Editor, The Liberal

Sir:— Because a common saying is generally accepted as true does not make it so. It is natural to fight is such a statement; on the contrary living organisms, like mechanical energy, always tend to follow the path of least resistance and leaving out a few abnormal exceptions, only fight when it is necessary to preserve life or to propagate it. Sex instincts are no longer a cause for physical combat among civilized people and the removal of the fear of want (which only requires intelligent planning) will also remove the necessity for war. The following illustrations may make the principle of non-resistance clear. Imagine two men starting out through a forest determined to reach a certain point on the other side. One uses a compass and disdaining natural obstacles sets a straight course; the other one taking a lesson from the wild animals follows runways etc. and avoids dense thickets. Which man will get there first? It is a mistake to imagine that the advocate of non-resistance has a weak will; though it may be more flexible it is often more effective than bull-headed obstinacy just as a car-driver finds it better to follow the road than cut across country. New York skyscrapers will swing as much as six inches in a high wind. If they were built rigid they would not be safe. A bullet will pass through a solid object easier than it will through a succession of sheets hung loosely.

Jesus was one of the leading and maybe first advocate of non-resistance as exemplified by his command that his disciples turn the other cheek if struck. The early christians made a sincere attempt to carry out this command with the historic result that christianity became installed as the official Roman religion. Since then the question as to whether christianity can be applied to everyday living has been largely theoretical since it has only been tried by individuals and small groups but never on a large scale. Count Leo Tolstoi was another leading advocate of non-resistance or as it might better be called moral resistance. He made a personal success of it as under czarist absolutism he went fearlessly all over Russia openly speaking the truth as he saw it and at the same time saying it was not necessary to fight against the great evils prevalent at that time. He bore a charmed life and even the mighty czar and his clique of military dictators did not dare to harm him. There is no nation or large religious body (the Doukobours are an exception) who sincerely believe or advocate the teaching of Jesus that we turn the other cheek and "practical people" prefer to rely on battleships and armies. The main point at this time is not whether non-resistance is practicable but why should we teach something to our children in our Sunday Schools if we don't want them to carry it out when they grow up and go out into the world.
