

WEEKLY NEWS NOTES FROM THE UNIONVILLE DISTRICT

THEY KINGDOM COME
Just pause for a moment, and picture a scene;
The rich man, the poor man, and God in between.

News in Unionville is indeed at a premium this week. All meetings cancelled for the Toronto Exhibition and all local interest seems to be centred in the big Fair.

The September meeting of Brown's Corners United Church W.M.S. Auxiliary was held in the church on Wednesday evening with Mrs. R. L. Stiver presiding.

To be honest—to be kind—to earn a little and spend a little less—to make upon the whole a family happier for his presence—to renounce when that shall be necessary and not be embittered—to keep a few friends but these without capitulation—above all, on the same grim conditions, to keep friends with himself—here is a task for all that a man has of fortitude and delicacy.

TO PRESERVE A FRIEND
Three things are necessary: to honor him present, praise him absent, and assist him in his necessities.

Mrs. J. R. Hood and Mrs. G. Dukes attended the Mixed Rinks' Tournament held at Richmond Hill on Wednesday.

We regret to report the illness of Mrs. John Snowball and extend best wishes for a speedy recovery.

Miss Dolly Burns of Toronto was the guest of Mrs. J. A. Gibson last Thursday.

School opened on Monday with the full quota of scholars, sixty-five enrolled in the Senior Room and forty in the Junior. The entrance class includes twenty-one and the Beginners' Class fifteen. Looks like activity for the coming year.

Bowling activities continue with much interest. The weekly ten cent tournaments bring out a record attendance of the members, the honors of this week going to S. M. Hutchinson's rink that included Percy Payne and Mrs. G. Dukes. The mixed doubles tournament of last week brought visiting rinks, Mr. and Mrs. Freeman of Agincourt winning the first prize for three wins, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Trunk, second prize and Mr. and Mrs. Berkett of Claremont third. The schedule for next week

Alternate mixtures in ungreased tube cake pan (like marble cake) and bake in moderate oven for about 1 hour. Hang until cake cools. Ice as desired. Butter icing colored pale green is attractive.

VERSE FOR THE KIDDIES
A Wish
I'd love to give a party
To all the fairy folk,

With scarlet autumn leaves for plates
Oh! it would be a joke.

And every little lady fay
Should have her acorn cup
To hold her fragrant rose-leaf tea,

Until she drank it up;
And every little elf should have
His acorn pipe to smoke;

I'd love to give a party
Beneath this grand old oak.

IN MEMORIAM

HARRISON—In loving memory of our dear mother, Christina Harrison, who passed away September 3, 1935. The truest friend we ever had

Was you, our dearest mother;
We know, to-day, our hearts are sad
Because you left us, mother.

But you are happy in your heavenly home
As with Christ and your dear ones
you forever roam,

And some day we, too, will hear the call "Come",
To be with you all, dear mother.
Sadly missed by her family.

Letters From The People

BELIEF, FAITH and KNOWLEDGE

There is much confusion of thought regarding the above. Many religious people put all their emphasis on belief whereas rationalists despise it. The truth lies between these two extremes. If I believe that doing a certain thing will be beneficial and then have faith to go to work and do it I will obtain knowledge whether my belief was true or not and even if the belief proves unfounded it is always good to know when a thing is not true. Thus we see that belief has no value in itself and yet it is the only way by which we can obtain knowledge which is very valuable.

This new conception of God as something within us and of which we are a part as opposed to a being entirely separate from man who manipulates and changes natural laws to our advantage on our demand is the most vitally important truth and is the only truth which can set men free from the errors of the past. The world to-day is hungry for truth and for a religion which is rational and a rationalism which is religious. Pragmatism answers this demand and the acid test is "Will it Work."

RELIEF CHISELERS

In spite of efforts made by relief authorities everywhere to rid the lists of unworthy recipients and to protect public funds from raids staged by chiselers there is reason to fear that the combing has not been done thoroughly enough to get rid of all the undeserving. The assistant Crown Attorney at Windsor says that within the past few months there have been fifty-two cases in that city in which men have accepted relief cheques while having money in their possession.

The latest of these offenders admitted to the magistrate that on the day he applied at the welfare office for his usual half-month relief cheque he had $410 in his possession. The two months' jail sentence this confession got him appears all too light a punishment for such an offence.

There should be a special penalty to take care of the brazen individuals who seek to conserve their savings at the expense of the public. In every community a part at least of the money that is paid out to such chiselers comes out of the pockets of citizens who have been having a hard time keeping off the relief lists themselves and who would be glad to have anything like $410 in surplus cash at their disposal. Yet this Windsor man and hundreds of others equally unprincipled lie about their savings and accept relief, ignoring the fact that some of it must necessarily come from people who have had no chance to save because they are too busy keeping out of debt and paying their taxes. Two months in jail is not enough for folks who are mean enough to accept relief while they have funds with which to maintain themselves. An example made of a few of the most glaring offenders might cause other grafters to watch their step and thus help to purge the relief lists of some of the imposters now enrolled.

Courtesy For Children

Vital Need, McQuesten

Pedestrians Must Share in "Try Courtesy" Idea Says Highways Minister

SETS "EXAM PAPER"

Toronto, Aug. 31.—With the re-opening of Ontario's schools for the Fall term this week and thousands of children all over the province getting themselves and their school books collected for the annual return to classes, motorists were urged to exert extra caution and courtesy during the next few weeks in a statement issued today by Hon. T. B. McQuesten, Ontario minister of highways.

"The courtesy campaign which the department has fostered during the summer months has evidently made a very strong impression on visitors from England, the United States, and other provinces of the Dominion," Mr. McQuesten said, "but motorists who have created this impression must make sure that this same courtesy is also extended for 'home consumption' and avoid the possibility of having it classed as 'company manners' to be displayed only when visitors are present and discarded as soon as they go home."

"What better opportunity can be presented for establishing motoring courtesy as a natural characteristic than by extending it to our own children," Mr. McQuesten asked, "and when will we find them so susceptible to such an influence as during the next few days when they will be assuming their responsibility again after a long, pleasant holiday?"

The burden of courtesy on highways and city streets must also be shared by those who walk, Mr. McQuesten declared, pointing out that 40 per cent. of all people killed in automobile accidents are pedestrians.

The safe and courteous walker, he said, pays strict attention to the movement of traffic and endeavors to anticipate the actions of others on foot or in vehicles. He urged that every parent in the province, when sending their children off to school for another year, give them an "examination" on how to be a courteous and safe pedestrian.

The "examination paper" proposed by Mr. McQuesten read as follows:

- 1. Do you step out carelessly from behind parked cars or obstructions?
2. Do you try to weave through traffic?
3. Do you cross streets diagonally?
4. Do you get off and on vehicles in moving traffic?
5. Do you cross streets without observing traffic?
6. Do you cross at intersections against the light?
7. Do you stand in the street?
8. Do you play on streets which carry heavy traffic?
9. Do you walk with, instead of against, traffic on the road or highway?
10. Do you fail to use particular care at night?
