A FAVORITE TESTED RECIPE Chocolate Cookies

1/2 cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 2 oz. bitter chocolate (melted), 2 eggs, 1/4 cup chopped walnuts, 2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/8 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 tablespoon milk.

Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually and mix well. Add melted chocolate. Break whole eggs into mixture and beat well. Add sifted dry ingredients, stirring to thoroughly mix. Add milk, about 1 tablespoon but only sufficient to combine the ingredients. Sift flour on pastry board and turn out dough on floured patch and roll out to 1/4 inch thickness. Cut with cookie cutter, sprinkle top with granulated sugar and finely chopped nuts. Place in ungreased pans, not too close together and bake in a moderately hot oven for 15 minutes.

THE CHILDREN'S FRIEND

A well known bishop was very fond of children and set out one night to attend a party given "by children for children."

"Don't announce me," he said to the servant. Leaving his coat and hat downstairs he quietly opened the drawing-room door, where the buzz of voices, announced the presence of company. Dropping on his hands and knees he entered, making strange noises, distinctly resembling the neighing of a horse. Aware of a dead silence, he looked up, and found guests assembled for an eight o'clock dinner regarding him with disgust, not unmingled with alarm.

The children's party was next door.

The reeve of the Township of Hagar in the Sudbury district, wants to resign, and is asking the other four councillors to do the same, and turn affairs over to the Provincial authorities. Inability to collect taxes, or borrow money, mounting relief costs and debts are the reeve's excuse for wanting to lay aside public duties. With four months' salary due the teacher, and no prospects of meeting current expenses, the school may have to close not later than Christmas. Of a population in Hagar Township of 561, 380 are receiving relief.

Pedestrian (to boy leading a skinny mongrel pup): "What kind of a dog is that, my boy?" Boy: "This a police dog." Pedestrian: "That doesn't look like a police dog." Boy: "Nope, it's in the secret service."

S. J. HUNGERFORD

Royal Winter Fair Nov. 18-26

With the Royal Winter Fair only two months away, to be dedicated this year to "Youth in Agriculture," the survey of live stock conditions in Eastern Canada, undertaken annually by the Fair, gives a brighter prospect and a clearer assurance of broadened interest in exhibiting, notwithstanding effect of summer drought, than at any similar period in the fifteen-year history of the Fair. Results of the survey appear of sufficient significance as indicating optimistic tone and financial outlook in an important section of the industry to interest industrialists and others whose winter business has to be estimated by agricultural conditions.

The fact is everywhere emphasized by live stock owners that prize animals are least of all influenced by actual pasture conditions because valuable enough to warrant hand-feeding in any crop shortage. Further, the abundant rains of the last few weeks have brought about a material improvement in the late fodder crops and in some districts given an aftermath which is little below an average crop yield.

Both beef and dairy cattle of high competitive quality are reported to be in first class condition. Not only is this true of Canadian herds in the Atlantic Provinces, Quebec and Ontario, but a "much better than expected" tone is reported from several American States which in the past have had important exhibits at the Royal Fair in November. There is a gratifying increase apparent in the number of smaller and medium sized breeders preparing early to show. The quality of their live stock is highly satisfactory because based largely on the older blood-lines which have won honours at previous shows. Thus, all the elements for keen contests in the forthcoming cattle classes are present.

There has been a steady and healthy improvement in the position of the sheep industry in Canada for the past eighteen months. This bright feature of Dominion husbandry is due partly to the broadening domestic market for Canadian lamb and to the markedly higher wool prices now prevailing, dependent chiefly on world-wide influences and reports of severe drought losses in the fine-wool breeds of Australian sheep. Breeders are showing more readiness than for years past in prospective exhibiting at the Royal.

In swine, all breeding interests in the chief breeds known in Canada, Yorkshires, Berkshires and Tamworths, speak of business picking up due largely to a good outlook for Canadian bacon in England and 90 per cent of the men covered by the Winter Fair survey are preparing to exhibit.

For poultry the survey indicates that fully as many Canadian Associations will co-operate as last year and there is a "golden ring" of interest by the prospective addition of two of the largest American breed associations which have not hitherto been represented in Canada.

The Royal Winter Fair dates are November 18-26.

This war business in the countries across the seas is getting tiresome. A few weeks ago people couldn't buy lemons at any price, because Italy was warring on Abyssinia. Now because the Spaniards are butchering each other instead of baiting bulls, olives are going to be scarce, and cakes will have to go without filberts, walnuts, almonds, currants and raisins next Christmas if the fighting isn't stopped.
