Babies today... buyers tomorrow

More than 200,000 babies in Canada graduate to a bottle diet of cow's milk every year and thereby enter the ranks of consumers. Will they use dairy products for only a few years, or for a lifetime? That depends upon how good milk seems to them, and how thoroughly it is sold to them. Aided by progressive dairy producers, Borden service and research have developed methods for keeping in the final products all the goodness of the original milk. Every dairy farmer can be proud of his part in this achievement. At the same time, Borden salesmanship has kept before consumers of all ages, the story of the benefits of milk. All of this joint effort has contributed much to making milk and dairy products Canada's most important foods.

A social evening was held in the Presbyterian Church Sunday School room on Thursday evening. The evening was spent in games, contests and community singing. During the evening Miss Agnes McLean, former organist, was presented with a Bulova wrist watch set with two small diamonds and a sterling silver engraved bracelet. The address was read by Mr. James McNeil, eldest official of church and presentation was made by Jean Ingram. The address was as follows: Dear Agnes:—

The congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church are remembering the years, during which you acted as organist. To-night we have assembled together and have invited you to be present that we might express our appreciation of your service in that capacity, and also the use of your home so frequently for choir practice. To mark our appreciation we ask that you accept the gift of this watch and bracelet and trust that you will not only find them useful but that they may serve to remind you of times spent together. Signed on behalf of the congregation, James McNeil; Board of Managers, Milton McDonald; Choir, A. D. McNaughton.

Lunch was served by the ladies of the congregation. Miss Catherine McQuarrie returned to Tweed on Sunday after spending her Easter holidays at her home here.

Save 6 Weeks' Feeding Get 6 Weeks' Extra Eggs

By Buying Bray's Started Pullets

Also 3-Weeks-Old Pullets or Non-Sexed Chicks at Attractive Prices

THE KEY to success in poultry-keeping, today, is the early-laying pullet. The flock that lays the most eggs between July and December had the double advantage of highest average egg prices and lowest average production cost. We sold more early chicks, this season, than ever before. Now we offer you a chance to catch up with these "early birds" and GET IN ON THE BIG END OF THIS OPPORTUNITY.

6-Weeks-Old New Hampshire Pullets — 50c. Each

These pullets belong to Andrew Christie's famous "Spizzerink-tum" strain—famous for vigor and hardiness. They are all hatched from eggs weighing 25 ounces per dozen and over. They are well grown and well feathered. They should be laying by late July or early August, if well fed through the balance of their growing period—and right at the height of their production from September to Christmas.

They will save you 6 weeks' feeding, and give you 6 weeks' EXTRA eggs during the high-profit half of the year.

Pullets or Non-Sexed Chicks — 3 Weeks Old

These chicks are past the "critical" stage of brooding, so they won't take much time during the seeding rush, when minutes are precious. They will save you 3 weeks of feeding. The pullets will give you 3 weeks EXTRA eggs during the most profitable half of the year. And the cockerels can be finished and marketed in time to catch the high tourist-season prices.

3-weeks-old sexed pullets (90% guaranteed), Xtra-Profit grade

$29.90 per 100

3-weeks-old male and female chicks (not sorted), Xtra-Profit grade

$19.90 per 100

Your choice of New Hampshires, White Rocks, White Wyandottes, or Rhode Island Reds at the above prices.

Standard grade chicks, if available, 2c. per chick less.

Leghorn Pullets, various ages — write for prices.

Order Direct From This Advertisement

The above prices apply only to chicks now on hand, for immediate delivery. Act quickly. Order direct from this advertisement or phone us to reserve chicks for you. Don't forget that we also have a constant supply of day-old chicks—your choice of seven breeds—"Xtra-Profit" and Standard grade.
