VERSE FOR THE KIDDIES
 Once a little turkey,
 Fond of her own way,
 Wouldn't ask the old ones
 Where to go or stay.
 Said she: "I'm not a baby;
 Here I am half grown,
 Surely I am big enough
 To run about alone."
 So she made a supper
 For a sly young mink,
 'Cause she was so headstrong,
 That she wouldn't think.

DEMOCRATIC DENMARK
 Denmark is very democratic. Its constitution can be readily changed, not by actions of the Courts for the Courts are merely civil institutions enjoying such limited civil and criminal jurisdiction as Parliament sees fit to bestow upon them. The Constitution is not a thing to be interpreted by the King or by the Courts. Parliament is the sole judge of its own powers and when it decides a change should be made the act is final.

Denmark has no fears of democracy. She has adopted the proportional representation system as to both parliamentary and local elections. Elections are made from large districts from lists made up of the outstanding men in the respective parties. Men no longer represent local constituencies, they represent the State as a whole, and they get into Parliament by having attained a national, rather than a local distinction. There is little opportunity for local or special interests, there is no spoils system and there is certainly no such a thing as Patronage Committees or Patronage Lists.

There are men in Denmark who are not content even with this extreme democracy and one of the interesting things of this little country is the freedom with which men propose and discuss unusual political devices. Novelty is invited rather than the reverse. New suggestions make their way as they find adherents. Democracy in Denmark is much more than voting, it is something that is going on all the time with the utmost freedom of discussion and the participation of all classes.

W. J. Dunlop, Masonic Grand Master was guest of honor at a Masonic Banquet in the town hall in Stayner on Monday evening, November 15th. More than 200 members of the order attended. Mr. Dunlop resided in Stayner several years ago.

Final test of breeding: Trying to be a gentleman in dealing with somebody who won't let you be one.

It is now easy to pick out the first-class powers. They are the ones scared stiff by the second-class powers.
