CAPITOL THEATRE

HALF PARIS SHOWN IN 'TOVARICH'
 For a single brief film sequence, Warner-Bros. studio constructed one of the largest and most complete sets ever built, a copy of the Belleville district in Paris. The set is for the opening sequence of "Tovarich," now showing at the Capitol Theatre. The set appears on the screen for less than four minutes.
 Designed by Art Director Anton Grot, it covers two acres and took four weeks to build. It shows a section of Paris heretofore ignored by the screen, the portion of the city in which the working class lives.
 The setting is one of five pretentious ones constructed for the film. One set, showing the roof tops of Paris, covers an entire sound stage. Another, the market set, a copy of the French sidewalk markets, is two blocks long and to "dress" it with produce, the studio had to purchase the entire stock of a wholesale vegetable concern for two days.
 The fourth is a copy of the Famous Russian club in Paris and the fifth is a fine French home built on the largest sound stage at the studio.
 "Tovarich" was directed by Anatole Litvak. Claudette Colbert and Charles Boyer are the stars.

HOW TO WEAR FLOWERS
 Flowers with their colourful, fragrant beauty give added poise, confidence and the chicness that is so much desired by smartly dressed women. Flowers make a perfect accessory but, in wearing them, good taste is always expressed through simplicity and naturalness. Many varieties of suitable flowers may be seen at the National Flower and Garden Show which continues in the Automotive Building in Exhibition Park, Toronto, until April second.
 For sporting events, large flowers are to be preferred and these can be either pinned to the lapel of the coat or carried in the hand. For afternoon parties, flowers are dressier and may be worn anywhere on the frock but not too large to detract from the lines of the costume. For formal garden parties, a very sophisticated note is struck, with a flowing gown and large picture hat trimmed with the same material, while in the hand is carried a bouquet of spring flowers or delicately shaded roses tied together with the same material to complete the ensemble.
 If you are wearing a tailored suit for street wear your flowers should be worn on the right lapel and for luncheons should be worn high so that they will not interfere with the table.
 Many dinner gowns do not call for accessories and so your flowers, which must be petite, should be worn in the hair. Dark red roses or red carnations may be worn by platinum blondes, while white carnations, gardenias or orchids look particularly devastating in these new coiffures when worn by a brunette.
 For formal wear at night the corsage should be as light as possible because heavy, bulky flowers will pull a light flimsy frock out of shape. These can be worn either at the shoulder or the waist and can harmonize or contrast with the dress. For dancing, the flowers should be worn on the right shoulder so as to avoid crushing. Here again it is very important that the flowers should be light in weight.
 Orchids, carnations, roses, as well as hundreds of other flowers may be seen in all their splendour at the National Flower and Garden Show now in Toronto.

 No More Dread of Plagues, But "Seven Killers" Must Be Fought Surgeon Declares
 Progress in medical science during the past 100 years was outlined by Dr. Malcolm T. MacEachern, of Chicago, Canadian-born associate director of the American College of Surgeons, at a meeting of the English-Speaking Union in the Royal York recently.
 "Medical science has done much in the last 100 years to bring happiness and the joy of living," he said. "We need no longer live in dread of plagues, the mere mention of which struck terror into the hearts of our forefathers."
 Dr. MacEachern traced the history of anaesthesia and dealt with the life-saving research in anti-septic surgery by Lord Lister. He referred to Sir Frederick Banting's momentous discovery of insulin for the treatment of diabetes, and expressed the hope that a similar discovery would be made for cancer.
 "Yes, medical science has gone far afield in the last 100 years," he declared, "but we still have much fighting to do, a big battle ahead of us in combatting the seven 'great killers of the human race to-day'.
 The "seven killers" were, he said, heart disease, cancer, kidney disease, accidents, pneumonia, high blood pressure and hardening of the arteries and tuberculosis.

 Some hints on the care of cut flowers and the suitability of different types of containers for various occasions and places concluded his interesting talk.

 At the regular monthly meeting of the Thornhill Home and School Association, Miss Power, Director of Health Education for the Department of Health of Ontario, spoke on "Health of School and Pre-School Children". One of the best forms of co-operation a parent can offer a teacher, said Miss Power, is to learn the newest methods of guarding the children's health. Absence from school through illness discourages the child and hampers the teacher. Another feature of the evening was a one-act play, "The Birthday Party." Those taking part were Mrs. E. J. Farrel, Mrs. N. L. Morton, Mrs. P. Bone, Mrs. R. H. Neil.
 Mrs. R. H. Neil, president, was in the chair. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

 A large section of the Presbyterian Church shed that for years during the horse and buggy days sheltered worshippers' horses and which has outlived its usefulness is being wrecked and transferred to somewhere in Caledon. This is just more proof that time marches on and nothing is that way.
Moving Day is Here
 By the time that this week's Liberal reaches its readers, April 1st, will be upon us and many movings will be in order. Villagers move from house to house and farmers very often change their location at some distance where new neighbors are made and friendships cultivated. Children attending school meet with new school mates altogether different from those they have been separated from. Truly April 1st is an eventful day.

Young Son—"Say, Dad!"
 Dad—"Now what, young fellow?"
 Young Son—"Nothing much. I was just fighting these pesky flies and wondering if Noah had two flies in the ark."
 Dad—"Why, I guess so. They say he had two of every kind of living creature on that old boat."
 Young Son—"Then, what I can't figure out is why he didn't swat both of them when he had the opportunity."

FORD OFFERS TWO NEW CARS
in the low-price field

THERE are two new Ford cars for 1938—the De Luxe and the Standard—differing in appearance, appointments and price—but built to the same high standard of mechanical excellence.
 Both are big, impressive cars, and thoroughly modern in appearance. Both have the famous Centre-Poise Ride, Ford Easy-Action Safety Brakes, and the other distinctive Ford features.
 Both bring you the basic advantages of the 85-horsepower Ford V-8 engine.
 V-type 8-cylinder engines were used only in expensive cars before Ford made them available in The Universal Car. Eight cylinders give great smoothness and flexibility. Compact V-type construction leaves more room for passengers and luggage.

Both new cars are economical to operate. Economy has always been a Ford tradition. The facts of Ford V-8 economy are confirmed by the findings of owners, who report 22 to 27 miles per gallon of gasoline. Value is also a Ford tradition.
 Both cars, in proportion to price, represent true Ford value. The De Luxe costs slightly more than the Standard but provides extra style. De Luxe closed Sedan body types have considerably more passenger room and luggage space.
 More people bought the 1937 Ford V-8 than any other 1937 make. It was a good car. But these are better cars, because Ford improvement goes on constantly. You'll realize that when you see and drive either new Ford V-8 for 1938.

$30 A MONTH, with reasonable down-payment, buys any new Ford V-8 car under T. F. C. National Finance Plan.
