BI-CENTENARY OF JOHN WESLEY

Evangelical Christendom is looking forward to the celebration on Sunday next of the great spiritual awakening which came to John Wesley while he attended a religious service in Aldersgate St., London, on the evening of May 24th, 1738. To use his own words, he "felt his heart strangely warmed," and from this new experience he went forth into every corner of the British Isles proclaiming the "glad tidings of great joy" to all classes and conditions of men. During his life-time he travelled 250,000 miles, most of it on horseback, and preached 42,000 sermons. Today his spiritual followers number not less than fifty million. It is believed that a similar spiritual awakening is the urgent need of the world to-day.

VICTORIA SQUARE

Well, once more the weatherman has given us reason for believing summer is approaching, in spite of the hail storm on Tuesday. The trees and spring flowers certainly gladden one's heart and make one feel that it is good to be alive.

A meeting of the officers of the Sunday School last week resulted in plans being made for the usual "Square Party" on the third Saturday in June and the Sunday following. All friends and ones interested in a good time remember both dates, please. No trouble or reasonable expense will be spared to make these "special days". Further notice will be given later.

The Woman's Missionary Society feel they were fortunate in securing for Sunday a speaker in the person of Dr. Speers Smith, a former missionary in China. Characteristic dress of the once "class in authority" in China was worn by several of the members, which lent atmosphere to the occasion. At the afternoon service the Ratcliffe quartette was expected but through illness were unable to be present. In their absence Messrs. E. Avison and R. E. Sanderson kindly sang a duet which was much enjoyed. In the evening the congregation was favored with two selections by the ladies' quartette of the Brethren in Christ Church. Altogether the Sunday was felt to be a decided success.

Prayer meeting was held again in the Sunday School room and a good attendance was present. A splendid talk was given by Mr. Boyd Mount. Next week Miss Annie Avison will give the address. The leader, Mr. R. F. Boynton, is well satisfied with the attendance.
