

Dividing the wealth sounds good. What scares us is seeing them now dividing what we'll have to earn 20 years from now.

The newspaper still has one advantage. People needn't send for copies of it to make sure just what it said.

HEALTH NOTES

ANAESTHETICS

There is a striking similarity between the accounts of the discovery of vaccination, the circulation of the blood and of anaesthetics.

The discovery and use of anaesthetics took place with almost explosive rapidity. In 1844 Wells produced surgical anaesthesia with nitrous oxide; in 1846 Morton, a dentist of Boston, did the same with ether, and in 1847, Sir James Y. Simpson of Edinburgh introduced chloroform.

Crawford W. Long, a rural doctor in Georgia who in 1842, had used ether in operation, had had luck. He failed to publish his results until 1852 and thus missed the opportunity of fame.

Many advances have been made in anaesthesia since their initial discovery, but it is generally agreed that ether, nitrous oxide and chloroform are together more important than all the other known agents.

Up to 1923, there was extraordinarily little change in the drugs used to drown the pain of operation. Since that date cyclopropane and ethylene have been introduced, intravenous anaesthesia with sodium evipan has gained great popularity and a wide variety of measures to induce unconsciousness has been investigated.

ANNUAL MEETING & ELECTION OF OFFICERS, NORTH YORK TWP. VETERANS' ASSOC.

President A. W. Skelly and Other Officers Elected by Acclamation for 1939

The annual meeting and election of officers was held in the new Memorial Hall on Wednesday, January 11th with a very large attendance of members.

The treasurer, Chas. Iris, gave his report which showed the club to be in a good financial condition, all the furnishings being paid for and leaving a good surplus with which to carry on.

The auditors also gave a very good report. The Vice-President, Mickey Hawes, gave a report on the social side of our club.

We are looking forward to a very good year. Mr. C. Gibson gave a report of the entertainment committee and outlined some of the features for this year including a Movie Night on Thursday, January 18 and a big Canadian Corps night on Friday, January 27th when every veteran is invited as this is an open night of entertainment and fun.

The following were elected for 1939: President, A. W. Skelly; Vice-President, C. Hawes; Sec.-Treas., Chas. Iris; Auditors, B. Thackerby and W. Bentley; Chairman entertainment committee, C. Gibson; Welfare, Tom George; Sergeant-at-Arms, Frank Robinson.

INCLUDE CANADIANS IN NEW HYMN BOOK

United Church Also Favors More Christmas Carols

The familiar green-covered "New Canadian Hymnal" used as a supplement in United churches throughout Canada for many years is to be replaced. A new hymnal, designed for the children and youth, is being prepared by a special United church committee, it was announced today.

A number of new hymns, written by Canadian authors, will be included in the volume scheduled for publication next fall. "But when you have all the hymns written for 1900 years to choose from there are few new ones which can measure up," Dr. Frank Langford, secretary of the committee, commented.

A much wider group of Christmas carols will be included than previously. Hymns from more than 15 books have been considered. From these 500 will be chosen for the new volume. Rev. C. W. DeMilne is chairman of the committee.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD BABY PICTURES

No doubt about it, the babies themselves "directed" these snapshots. In other words, they did as they pleased and the camera was clicked at the right instant.

THERE aren't any official statistics that we know of, so we're perfectly safe in saying that babies constitute the largest single group of snapshot subjects.

It's perfectly reasonable that this should be so; for we snapshot those things in which we are most interested. For another thing, babies make ideal subjects, because they don't pose. They're always natural.

There are baby pictures and baby pictures, of course. Some arouse spontaneous enthusiasm; others are merely records, without much appeal.

What's the essential difference between the good and the merely so-so baby pictures. Usually you'll find, the good pictures show infants doing something—crawling, chewing a doll, wrestling with toes, or even indulging in a real good cry.

Of course, it's possible to take a picture of a sleeping baby and get a charming result. But to do this, the camera work must be unusual. Very well, what about the technic of baby pictures?

First, you'll need to have light enough for action pictures. Few babies stay still long enough for time exposures. Out-of-doors, you'll have no trouble at all working in open shade or out in the full light, providing it's not so bright that it casts unpleasantly sharp shadows or causes the baby to squint. Use the regular snapshot time and lens opening.

This time of year, of course, it may be more convenient to work indoors. One of the easiest ways to take baby pictures indoors, during the daytime, is to get the subject fairly close to a big window (not necessarily a sunny one) and then use a photo-flood-type lamp to light up the side of your subject that's away from the window. A photo-flood bulb in one of those inexpensive reflectors will be found very handy for this and other indoor shots.

Don't forget that you can use supersensitive film to get beautiful action shots with much less light than other films require.

And let your baby subject "direct" his own picture. Let him do as he pleases, with only slight suggestions from you. So doing, you'll get real looking, satisfying pictures. And you'll always treasure them.

JOHN VAN GUILDER.
