Memorial Window To Commemorate Pioneer Family

One of the oldest families of Whitchurch township will have a window dedicated to their memory Sunday, July 23rd at 11.10 a.m. by Archdeacon Warren, Archdeacon of York, in St. John's Church, Oak Ridges. The window will be unveiled by Arthur Alleyne, oldest surviving son, who is also the donor. The window shows Daniel in the Lions' den, with the inscription "Daniel Prays" and "In Memory of the Alleyne Family".

One hundred and twelve years ago, Arthur Leslie Alleyne, of the West Indies, brought his bride, a Miss Garbutt, from West Gwillimbury to live in the present house. He had bought the farm from Garrett Lloyd, the builder of the house. Nine children were born here, Elizabeth, Philip, Henrietta Josephine, Mary, Edith, Caroline, Helen, Arthur and Charles. The latter two are the sole survivors. The former remains at the old homestead, while Charles is at his mother's old homestead in West Gwillimbury.

All their lives they have been connected with St. John's Church. Some of the girls were prominent workers. Arthur was a Warden. The girls all attended school in Richmond Hill.

For many years the old homestead was the centre of bright social functions. The Alleynes were of aristocratic bearing, had delightful furnishings, and were superb hosts.

It is sad to see this old family pass from the earthly scene. There are no descendants. The window and tombstones will recall their names to posterity.

BLACKBERRY JAM AND JELLY Don't Miss Making Some Even On Vacation

By Katharine Baker

Whether you are at the cottage or at home, you won't want to miss the blackberry crop. And you don't have to. These delicious, plump berries are found in almost every locality. Now the idea of making jam at the summer cottage would be ridiculous were it not for modern methods. Working over a hot stove for hours would be bad enough in the city but on vacation and with limited cooking facilities, it would be nothing short of idiotic. The answer to the problem of how to have a good holiday and still have a nice supply of jams and jellies for winter is easy—it's the "short boil" method. By adding bottled fruit pectin to the fruit mixture, the boiling time is cut down to a minimum, a great economy in fruit and sugar is made possible and the result is sure—a delicious jam or jelly.

Blackberry Jam

- 4 cups (2 lbs.) prepared fruit
- 7 cups (3 lbs.) sugar
- 1/2 bottle fruit pectin

To prepare fruit, grind about 2 quarts fully ripe berries or crush completely one layer at a time so that each berry is reduced to a pulp. Measure sugar and prepared fruit into large kettle, mix well, and bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard 2 minutes. Remove from fire and stir in pectin. Then stir and skim by turns for just 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Pour quickly. Paraffin and cover at once. Makes about 10 glasses (6 fluid ounces each).

Because ripe blackberries haven't enough jellying substance to make them jelly of themselves, blackberry jelly was practically unknown before the widespread use of bottled pectin. This recipe will give you 12 glasses of the most delicious prize-winning jelly that ever stepped through the gates of a fall fair.

Blackberry Jelly

- 4 cups (2 lbs.) berry juice
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 8 cups (3 1/2 lbs.) sugar
- 1 bottle fruit pectin

To prepare juice, crush thoroughly or grind about 3 quarts ripe berries. Place in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice. Squeeze and strain juice from 1 medium lemon. Measure sugar and juice into large saucepan and mix. Bring to a boil over hottest fire and at once add pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1/2 minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin and cover at once. Makes about 12 glasses, (6 fluid ounces each).
