A JAM SESSION

With Two Old Favourites
By Katharine Baker

Currants and raspberries both make delicious jam but when combined, make a luxurious jam. The making of this jam offers an adventure in cookery and the fruits blend perfectly to create an entirely new and individual flavour.

We are sure you will find this jam a real treat in months to come and the ease with which it can be made is a treat for the cook now. There is no long boiling time to waste fruit and sugar in this recipe. Bottled fruit pectin does away with all that and insures you of a jam of the right texture, natural colour and delicious flavour.

If it's not looking too far ahead, we'd suggest putting this particular jam in small bottles for gifts next Christmas. But don't give it all away—keep some for the family who will appreciate it too.

Currant and Raspberry Jam

4½ cups (2½ lbs.) prepared fruit
7 cups (3 lbs.) sugar
½ bottle fruit pectin

To prepare fruit, crush about 1½ pounds fully ripe currants. Remove seeds and skins by sieving. Crush about 1 quart fully ripe red raspberries. Combine fruits.

Measure sugar into large kettle. Add prepared fruit, filling up last cup with water if necessary. Mix well and bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard 1 minute. Remove from fire and stir in bottled pectin. Skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jam at once. Makes about 11 eight-ounce glasses.
