Chick'n Chats

(By E. W. Anstey)

For many years it was believed that flying down from high perches caused bumble foot, especially if a heavy bird landed on a hard floor with little or no litter on it. Roosting on sharp edged narrow perches has also been blamed.

No doubt these factors are partial or indirect causes, but recently a germ in pure culture has been isolated from the resulting cheesy-like masses contained in the hot swollen areas.

In laboratory examinations this germ appears very much like the germ of tuberculosis. However very little is known about it as yet and no investigator has reported that it is a form of tuberculosis.

It is believed that the disease does not spread by direct or indirect contact, and for years it has been observed that a higher percentage of hens than roosters develop bumble foot. It is also known that the disease seldom occurs in pullets before laying begins; with an increase of bumble foot during high egg production; and a gradual decline in hens out of production.

The disease is first noticed when the pad of one foot begins to swell, and the affected bird walks with a sort of lameness. In serious cases of long standing, the whole foot, except the toes, swells and the infection extends to the top of the foot with noticeable swellings between the toes.

Treatment is not worth more than average value. Surgery must be resorted to, opening the diseased areas and scraping out the diseased tissues.

A cotton pack soaked with iodine may be applied and the foot bandaged. Change the dressing every other day until healing occurs, during which time the bird should be kept in a cage or clean box with soft litter without a perch.

As a precautionary measure, roosts should be rounded, and roosts and nests not too high from the floor at all times.

The caecous purulent accumulation in bumble foot results from the entrance of germs through the broken skin from the outside.

The egg market has continued weak throughout the past week with some further price reductions. It is felt that the market has about reached its low, and that any further price changes will be of an upward nature.

Country dealers are quoted on graded eggs, delivered at Toronto, cases free:

- Grade A large 21c.
Grade A medium 19c.
Grade A pullets 18c.
Selling price to the retail stores:
Grade A large 25c.
Grade A medium 23c.
Grade A pullets 22c.

HOCKEY NOTES

Sutton and Richmond Hill opened the season here on Friday night the locals emerging the victors by the score of 5 to 2. Sutton with their 250 lb. defence player were unable to stand the tough going and were blocked at every move by the locals. The Hill boys were playing a different brand of hockey from the night they met Beaverton, they only had one penalty which might have been avoided had the referee thoroughly seen the play. We wonder what the local management told the players as they did not seem any too anxious to visit the penalty bench.

The game itself was anything from a good brand of hockey owing to the condition of the ice, and both teams deserve great credit for so few penalties.

Brown and Brockbank were the stars for Richmond Hill. Whenever these boys were on the ice they were always a serious threat. B. Gilby, stalwart defence player, was Sutton's outstanding man, saving them several times by his checking and was always dangerous on the rush.

The first period saw the Hill boys away to a good start when Irwin Brown netted the puck for the locals on a pass from Brockbank within three minutes of play. This was equalized at the 9 minute mark by Griffith who beat House in the local nets, on a shot from the blue line to tie the game. Both teams missed several chances to score but could not control the rolling puck. In the final minutes Norm Mabley took a nice pass from Brockbank to score, putting the locals in the lead, which they never relinquished.

Sutton's stalwart defence player, B. Gilby, was the first man sent to the cooler for tripping. The Hill boys having the advantage of the odd man, added another to their total when Lunau scored on a pass-out from the corner by Mills. The remainder of the period was very ragged and very little hockey shown, neither team could control the bouncing puck, it was just golfed from one end to the other.

The third period opened with Sutton playing every man up in an effort to tie the score. The puck was banged from one zone to the other neither team having any serious threat on scoring. Brown was penalized for hooking Gilby. This was Richmond Hill's only penalty of the game. Apparently the rest was just what Brown wanted for when he returned to the ice he put the Hill three in the lead scoring on a pass from Mabley. Sutton, pressing for goals, were finally rewarded Griffith scoring on a pass from Cook to beat House from close in. The only casualty of the game occurred here, Cook who has only one eye failed to see his flying puck, and received a nasty cut above the eye, two stitches being required to close the wound. Armstrong banded in a loose puck for the Hill to end the scoring for the night, Lunau getting the assist.

The line-up: Richmond Hill: Goal, House; defence, Stewart, Barrow; centre, Brockbank; wings, Mabley and Brown; subs, O'Rourke, Beresford, Lunau, Mills, Armstrong and Patton.

Sutton: Goal, Pivnic; defence, B. Gilby, Lavolette; centre, I. Gilby; wings, O'Dell, Thompson; subs, Cook, Crandall, Schmidt, Dunn, Griffith and Robertson.

Ceremonials at the opening hockey game last Friday were opened with a two minute silence observed in honor of the memory of the late councillor Harold J. Mills who for many years was the popular chairman of the arena commission and one of the town's most enthusiastic and generous sports supporters.

The teams were lined up on the ice for the ceremony after which councillor Dr. J. P. Wilson faced off the puck with Reeve T. H. Trench and ex-reeve J. A. Greene as opposing centre players.
