SOFTBALL NOTES

The Richmond Hill park was the scene of an exciting ball game on Tuesday night when the boys from the Hill met the Newmarket Redmen for the first time this season. A pitchers' duel waged for the first five innings with neither team scoring. In the first half of the sixth inning Newmarket scored two runs to take the lead but the Hill tied it up in their half with a home run by Cochrane with a man on base. In the first half of the seventh inning Newmarket took the lead on a walk, an error and a triple by Gibney who got home on a wild pitch. Three runs down the Hill tried hard to pull the game out of the fire but the best they could do was a home run by Saul with the bases empty. The final score was 5-2 in favor of Newmarket.

Next Tuesday will feature a game of special interest here when the Camp Borden Air Force Boys will play the locals. Be sure and attend this game and see a real ball game.

SO THEY SAY.....

"I know that England has debits in her ledger, but there are credit marks there, too. A man is not judged by the position he has but by the way he holds it. And certainly England has justified the position she has by the way she holds it."—Bernard O. Schonegeval, J.P., South African statesman.

"Our movement (Trade Unions) recognises it has responsibilities as well as rights, especially at a time when the nation is engaged in a life and death struggle."—Sir Walter Citrine (a prominent British labour leader).

"After spending years in Africa, I'm still amazed at the terrible hats women are wearing. Nothing I had seen in darkest Africa compared to the headgear smart American women affect."—Mrs. Ava H. S. Singer, American big-game hunter and writer.

"I'm not denying women are silly sometimes. Why shouldn't we be? The Bible says the good Lord made us to be suitable mates for men!"—Gwen Bristow, American authoress.

"We Germans are, taking it all in all, incredibly harmless people."—Danziger Vorposten, German newspaper.

"When I am asked to distinguish between the German leaders and the German people, I reply, 'I shall be ready to do so when the German people themselves make plain the difference!'"—Sir John Simon, British Lord Chancellor.

"Canada's conscience is clean. You are keeping faith. My final word to you today is: In our own time, and in our own way, we, the people of the United States of America—your neighbours and your friends—we also will keep the faith."—Lawrence Hunt, New York lawyer, at Toronto.

Quebec Expects Banner Tourist Season

The Great Gates of Quebec's ancient city wall—originally designed to discourage hostile visitors—will be thrown open this summer for a large scale tourist invasion, expected to top all previous records. With most of Europe's Old World charms affected by wartime conditions, increased numbers of Canadians and Americans will take advantage of Quebec's historic surroundings and fine sporting facilities.

Combining the charm of the past with the luxuries of the present the Chateau Frontenac is the centre of the city's social and sports activities. Dominating the city's skyline, the majestic Canadian Pacific hostelry is within easy distance of the city's outstanding points of interest—an ideal headquarters for the visiting tourist. Dufferin Terrace, adjacent to the hotel, offers an ideal view of the historic "Lower Town" and the broad St. Lawrence.

Though possessing ideal facilities for practically every modern sport, Quebec's chief fascination to the tourist lies in its Old World charm. Its narrow, winding streets, lofty spired churches, convents and quaint domerred dwellings are reminiscent of medieval Normandy. Its not-so-peaceful years are recalled by battlefields, grim stone forts and ancient cannon.

Nearby points of interest include the Lorette Indian Reservation, the Isle of Orleans, unspoiled by the rush of civilization, the Shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre, and the Montmorency Falls. For the sports enthusiast there are fine facilities for golf, tennis, and badminton, while miles of colorful highways beckon the motorist. Laurentide National Park, 39 miles from the city, is a paradise for fishermen, canoeists, camera fans and nature lovers.

Quebec City is easily accessible over Canadian Pacific lines, and is conveniently connected with important centres in eastern Canada and the United States.
