Camp Borden opened the scoring and Richmond Hill tied it up at 2-2. A WAR A.B.C.

(Under this heading we will publish each week explanatory matter dealing with interesting points of international affairs, which will help the reader to a closer understanding of current war news.—Ed.)

"FIFTH COLUMN". This expression, much in the news these days, arose out of the Spanish Civil War. When General Franco's forces were attempting to capture the capital city of Madrid (seat of the Government), he announced that he had four huge columns of troops advancing on the city and a "fifth column" within the city itself. This latter column consisted of Franco sympathisers who would, at the appropriate moment, rise and attack the city's defenders from within, capture strategic points in the town and generally hamper the defence, thus giving the Franco forces invaluable aid...When the Spanish Government heard this, they hunted out all the known Franco sympathisers and shot them, but they didn't get nearly all of them. When Madrid finally fell before the onslaught of the Franco troops, inside supporters gave Franco much help, just as in Norway and the Low Countries, Nazi sympathisers played havoc with the defence organization...Now, subversive elements (traitors) are known as a "Fifth Column".

ANZACS. Soldiers from the Antipodes are known as Anzacs. This word was coined during the last war by taking the first letter of each of the words comprising "Australian and New Zealand Army Corps".

DO YOU KNOW?

When the Germans "Invaded" Great Britain?

A German force invaded British soil during the last War in May 1918, when a German submarine stranded in the Orkney Islands, near Start Point, Sanday. The crew jettisoned all its torpedoes and hundreds of shells and ammunition, so as to lighten the ship, and were then able to refloat the submarine and escape. Some crofters (natives of the island) noticed the sailors while they were ashore, but as the submarine was flying the White Ensign, they assumed they were British sailors from a British submersible.

The curate prided himself on his oratorical powers. He was describing the downward path of the sinner, and used the metaphor of a ship drifting and going to pieces on the rocks.

A sailor in the audience was deeply interested. "The waves wash over!" cried the curate. "Her sails are split! Her yards are gone! Her masts are shivered! Her helm is useless! She is driving ashore! There seems no hope! Can nothing be done to save her?"

The sailor rose in his seat, his eyes wide with excitement. "Let go the anchor!" he shouted.
