

ENOUGH CLOTH TO HANG HITLER
 Since the outbreak of war the Department of Munitions and Supply and its predecessor boards have purchased over 18 million yards of woolen and cotton cloth, enough to stretch from Ottawa to Berlin and back again, according to Hon. C. D. Howe.

SO THEY SAY!

"We must help England, because if England falls we fall."—Rachel Crothers, American playwright.
 "I believe it would be better for the Allies if the U.S. remains neutral. They have done great work already by sending us supplies and munitions."—Hon. G. Howard Ferguson.
 "Italy, shaped like a boot, is behaving like a heel."—Walter Winchell.
 "Time would have been on our side if we had treated it as an active ally instead of as a sleeping partner."—Sir Nevile Henderson, ex-ambassador to Germany.
 "The Italians are gutless."—R.A. F. pilot home from a raid in Africa.
 "We may give mercy; we shall ask none."—Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill.

Speaking of American radio commentators, J. B. Priestly, English author said: "People who are not prepared yet to fight for anything anywhere should not rebuke others because they cannot undertake to fight for everything everywhere."
 Local Girl Guides under the leadership of Miss Winnie Howarth are camping for ten days at Riverside Park, Markham.

PRICE-STONG

Miss Bertha Elizabeth Stong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Stong became the bride of William Thomas Price, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Price of Vellore in a ceremony performed recently by the Rev. M. Fockler.
 The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attended by Miss Betty Kerswell. Best man was Mr. I. Price and wedding music was played by Miss Evelyn Stong. Following a reception the couple left for a wedding trip to the Thousand Islands. They will live at Edgeley.

INCIDENTALLY

If you saw a man wandering around in the streets with a smallpox rash on his face you would immediately notify the Medical Health Officer and demand protection for yourself and your family. Why, then, do you hesitate to notify the police authorities when you see a motorist driving his car in a careless and dangerous fashion?—(From the Chatham News.)

WORKSHOPS LORRIES TO SERVICE VEHICLES IN CANADIAN DIVISIONS

Mechanization is the keynote of modern warfare. Wars of movement are fought on heavy rubber tires and steel caterpillar threads. Fighting vehicles and mechanized transport must be kept in readiness at all times to speed troops across all types of terrain, ranging from smooth concrete highways to brush country and ploughed fields.

All this means service. Armies and army divisions cannot count on wayside garages and service stations to do their repair and re-fuelling jobs. To meet these needs the Department of National Defence has introduced specialized units and equipment as part of its Army Field Workshops.

Each army division in the field is accompanied by two complete motor transport lorries. Each is the equivalent of a modern city garage. Designed by the Department's technical staff, each unit has a special steel body mounted on six wheels with four wheel drive and heavy duty chassis.

Each workshop lorry is equipped with its own electrical plant, to operate electric grinders, drills, refacers, lathes, brake servicing equipment and other tools.

Lubrication, battery service and overhauling facilities, including the boring of cylinders, the fitting of pistons, valve grinding and welding are provided in this modern garage on wheels.

All tools required, specially designed by the Department's technical experts with a view to portability, are part of each lorry unit.

According to the Department of National Defence, Canada's is the first army to adapt such units to regular Army divisions.

BREN GUN PRODUCTION MOUNTS

The output of Bren guns in July virtually doubled the revised schedule arranged last April when production began about six months ahead of the date originally planned, according to Honourable C. D. Howe, Minister of Munitions and Supply. The results achieved to date indicate that within six months the monthly production may be five times as great as that originally planned.

WEDDINGS

PEPPER-HOMME

The marriage of Miss Martha Homme, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Homme of Richmond Hill, to Mr. Harry Pepper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pepper of Toronto was quietly solemnized on Saturday evening, August 3rd, in St. Mary's Anglican Church by the Rev. Mr. Pocknell. The bride wore a gown of French blue crepe with white hat and corsage of Joanna Hill roses. Her bridesmaid, Miss Norma Marshall, a niece of the groom, wore a gown of wine crepe with white hat and corsage of gladioli and roses. Mr. Jack Pepper, brother of the groom, was best man.

HUSTON-WATSON

A quiet but pretty wedding was held at King United Church Parsonage Thursday afternoon, August 1, when Hilda Eileen, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Watson of Maple, was united in marriage to Roy Garfield, younger son of Mr. E. G. Huston and the late Mrs. Huston of Sutton with Rev. Douglas Davis officiating. The bride looked lovely in a turquoise blue sheer gown made with square neckline and full skirt which was floor length. She wore a floor length veil of tulle which was trimmed with seed pearls and carried an old-fashioned nosegay of roses. Miss Helen Watson attended her sister as bridesmaid and wore a floor length gown of pale pink sheer and corsage of pink roses. Mr. Fred Pike of King was groomsmen. Following the ceremony a dainty buffet lunch was served at the home of the bride's parents with immediate relatives present.

After a shower held the same evening when lovely gifts were received the young couple left for a short trip after which the groom returned to Camp Borden where he is in training having enlisted with the Queen's Own Permanent Force, C.A.S.F.

SAVAGE-HALL

The marriage of Peter Gould Savage, son of A. G. and Mrs. Savage of this village, and Muriel Irma Hall, daughter of Merton E. and Mrs. Hall of Toronto was solemnized in the Eglinton United Church, Toronto, on the afternoon of Saturday, August 3rd, the pastor, Rev. W. J. Johnson, officiating. Dr. Goodwin, organist of the church, presided at the console. Huge bowls of white gladioli and Queen Anne's lace with mauve flox on high standards adorned the altar.

The bride, unattended, wearing a soft blue dress of chiffon with large white French hat edged and trimmed with matching blue and carrying a bouquet of pink roses and white sweet peas, entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of the Lohengrin Bridal March, and proceeded down the aisle to the altar where the groom awaited her. The ushers were William Savage, brother of the groom and George Hall, brother of the bride.

The ceremony as read by Mr. Johnson held a note of personal appeal to the young couple. While the register was being signed Mr. Mott, a cousin of the bride, sang "Because", and as the wedding party re-entered the church the organ pealed forth Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

The wedding reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Fairlawn Ave. where the bride and groom with their respective parents received their guests numbering fifty. The bride's mother, Mrs. Hall, wore a dress of old rose sheer crepe and a white hat while the groom's mother, Mrs. Savage, wore a turquoise blue lace dress and large black hat. The groom, ushers and other male guests wore dark coats and white flannels.

After admiring the many beautiful and practical gifts, the guests were served refreshments of pleasing and dainty variety. Rev. W. J. Johnson proposed the toast to the bride in very happy vein and bespoke for the young couple a happy life remarking the sweet and gentle disposition of the bride. The groom in a few words thanked Mr. Johnson and the guests for their kindness and generosity and expressed confidence in a happy future with the bride of his choice.

Amidst a heavy shower of confetti and trailing cowbells and varied streamers the happy couple left for a short honeymoon in Gaspe Peninsula.

GOOD TOOLS

If one were to get up a debate on what is the world's most valuable tool, it might be claimed that words are entitled to that honor. When people first arranged certain sounds in the form of words to express their ideas, they moved from barbarism into civilization. By the use of language made up of words, man's power of persuasion, he becomes able to direct the labor of others and to lead social and political movements. —(From the Sarnia Canadian Observer.)
