Colonel Lindbergh thinks that the United States will be able to cooperate with Hitler should the Nazis win the war. Well, there is no question about Hitler's willingness to cooperate. Marshal Petain is an illustration of it.—Globe & Mail.

Trade and War
Capacity to produce is affected by our ability to import. Modern industry represents the importation of raw materials which can be produced more cheaply abroad than at home. It would be folly at a time like this to waste effort by producing in Canada a product which we could obtain more cheaply — that is with less cost in human effort — by producing something else and exchanging it for the things we need. "Raw material" in the sense in which it is here used, means products used in Canadian factories in the production of other products. Steel is a finished product, but it is the raw material of shipyards and a raw material for tanks. The lack of ability to import — due to the stranglehold of the British navy, forces Germany and Italy to expend far more labour power in production than either country would be compelled to devote to this purpose under normal conditions. In war we seek to produce more with less effort. Our blockade of the axis powers compels them to reverse this process — to produce less with more effort. The measure of change in this connection is shown by a total increase in our imports in the first six months of this year, of $175,000,000 the increase in exports was $145,000,000. The figures for June, the last month available, show an increase of $34,500,000 in merchandise exports and $27,000,000 in imports. There was also a substantial increase in exports of non-monetary gold. Canadian trade, despite war, moves upward and helps to carry the burden of the war. The increased demand for labour has led to the National Registration — the hope is to speed up production by drawing more men into the army of workers. Many more will be needed. The war is not yet over.

Registrar Expresses Thanks
King City, Ontario,
August 22nd, 1940.
The Liberal,
Richmond Hill, Ont.
To the Editor—
Dear Sir,
We wish to pay tribute to the splendid co-operation received from the numerous patriotic citizens whose efforts have contributed to make the undertaking of National Registration in York North a success. The task given to us was one which no one person or group of persons alone could accomplish, therefore it is with pride and gratitude that we acknowledge the help rendered us by every organization and individual concerned, of whatever character or relationship, without which we should have failed in the job committed to us. Whatever mistakes or oversights may have occurred, we trust shall be attributed to our zeal, rather than to any other cause or interest. You have rendered Canada and the Empire a great service and we humbly say to all — THANK YOU.
Capt. Frank Mesley,
J. Bruce MacKinnon,
Registrars for York North.

DON FAIRBURN OF CBL GUEST SPEAKER AT EBENEZER JUNIOR FARMERS
The August meeting of the Ebenezer Junior Farmers and Junior Institute was held at the home of Mr. John and Miss Jean Hostrawser last week. The president of the Junior Farmers presided for the opening of the meeting and for the roll call which was answered by "A Canadian Made Product". Mr. Wreford Nix acted as chairman for the programme and introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Don Fairburn who gave an explanation of CBL. He also spoke on the market situation. Mr. Alex Johnson read a very interesting paper entitled "Wheat". This bringing the programme to a close the boys adjourned.
Miss Jean Hostrawser opened the Junior Institute meeting by singing of the Institute Ode followed by the Lord's Prayer repeated in unison. Miss Gertrude Codlin called the members on the roll who responded by giving their Pet Economy or by paying the fine. During the business plans for a picnic were made. It is to be held at Miles Park and a corn roast will be held at Wm. Kersey's, the date of which will be announced later. Mrs. C. D. Graham who had consented to be the guest speaker for the evening was unable to be present and her place was taken by Miss Reta Ezard who gave a very complete and interesting paper on Current Events. This was followed by an instructive demonstration on the making of an attractive luncheon cloth by Miss Elsie Elliott. The girls then adjourned for the joint meeting.
Due to the inclement weather outdoor games were unable to be conducted, thus ice cream and cake were served by the committee. Later Mr. Frank Julian extended the appreciation of the Juniors to the Hostrawser family for their hospitality. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarke Peters at the beginning of October. Messrs. Rankin Kellam and Wreford Gardhouse are the scheduled speakers for the boys' programmes and Misses Hazel Codlin, Irene Williams and Dorothea Nix for the girls.
Buy British, Buy Canadian, and help win the war.

Lord Athlone Pleased With Military Display Over Petawawa Hills
The crash of heavy artillery and the rumble of mechanical transports echoed through the wooded hills of Petawawa when Lord Athlone, Canada's new Governor-General, accompanied by Princess Alice, visited the big training centre. It was His Excellency's first inspection of a Canadian military camp and the series of special displays arranged for his benefit testified to the vast strides made by the Dominion's fighting forces since the outbreak of war eleven months ago. Bronzed fighting men, trim in their summer uniforms and sun helmets, staged realistic mock battles for the Vice-Regal party. At other points along the route taken by their Excellencies displays demonstrating practically every activity of an armed force, from bridge building to bayonet charges, were given. The most spectacular exhibition was a sham battle in one of Petawawa's wide valleys. The Vice Regal party, together with high military officers, watched the show from a special stand constructed on the side of a hill. More than a mile from the observation stand was a dummy village with the flag of the "enemy" flapping from a steeple. When the "attack" began, field guns opened fire at the base of the hill and the air was filled by the shriek of shells as they sped toward their target. His Excellency, an old soldier himself, watched intently through field glasses as the heavy shells smacked the earth near the steeple. When they finally scored direct hits and the "village" had been reduced to a flaming shambles, His Excellency applauded enthusiastically. So accurate was the firing that shells were hammering into the centre of the target after the third round had been fired. Meanwhile, as field guns bombarded the "village", anti-aircraft machine guns peppered floating balloons, with tracer bullets. It was explained to His Excellency that the anti-aircraft unit was warding off an "enemy air attack" directed at the batteries concealed in the foliage at the base of the hill. Dummy tanks were towed across the fields and became the targets for 18-pounder guns, fired with open sights. One tank, bearing the swastika, exploded with a roar as a heavy shell made a direct hit. Obviously impressed by the smartness and efficiency of the troops as they carried out their displays under conditions simulating actual combat, the Governor General spent the entire afternoon at the training camp before returning to Ottawa.

SELF-RELIANCE
The ability to do things well is not the monopoly of any one people. Canada is to-day proving that there are virtually few limits to what can be produced in this country, a place which a few years ago was looked upon as the Granary of the Empire. That experience will not be lost on this country. It should prove to us that we can do things in the future which have been looked upon as too formidable in the past. "Do it Yourself" will be a good enough sign to nail up at the crossroads in Canada for all time to come.—(From the Peterboro Examiner.)
A cannibal, walking through the jungle with a pretty black girl, was met by a missionary, who wished him the time of day and then asked: "Aren't you going to introduce me to the lady?"
"That's no lady," replied the cannibal. "That's my lunch."
