WEDDINGS

DODD-BROWN

Newtonbrook United Church Parsonage was the scene of a pretty wedding last Saturday evening when Beatrice Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Brown of Newtonbrook was united in marriage to James Robert Dodd of Newtonbrook. The bride wore a brown costume with matching accessories. She was attended by Miss Gladys A. Armstrong of Woodbridge who wore a beige costume with hat to match. The groom was supported by Donald B. Kaake of Bolton. On their return from a short wedding trip the happy young couple will reside in Toronto.

MESSNER-COLYER

A quiet wedding took place at Newtonbrook United Church Parsonage last Thursday evening when Norma Fay, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Colyer of Steele's Ave. East, became the bride of John Messner of Toronto. The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a becoming costume of burgundy sheer with matching accessories and wore a corsage of pink roses and fern. She was attended by her cousin, Mrs. Hazel Archer of Toronto. The groom was supported by Mr. Percy Archer. After the ceremony the young couple left on a honeymoon to Northern Ontario. On their return they will reside in Toronto.

MacCALLUM-DAVIES

The thirty-third anniversary of her parents' marriage was chosen for her own wedding day, when on Wednesday evening, November 20, Alma Edith, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Davies, Colborne Street, Thornhill, became the bride of Mr. John MacCallum, of Toronto, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald MacCallum of Aberfeldy, Scotland. Rev. Eldridge A. Currey, B.A., B.D., of Thornhill United Church performed the ceremony.

The bride entered the living-room on the arm of her father, to the strains of Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus played by her brother, Mr. S. Floyd Davies, and took her place beside the groom, before an improvised altar, which was banked with palms, ferns, standards of Chrysanthemums, and pom-poms. A chic street-length costume of Cabana blue sand sheer was chosen by the bride. She wore a small heart-shaped hat of felt in the same delicate shade with nose-veil and carried a small circular bouquet of Joanna Hill roses and tinted bouvardia, centred with heather, which was sent from Scotland by the groom's mother for the occasion.

Mrs. Louis Reid was her sister's attendant. She wore a dusty rose wool crepe and velvet dress with velvet turban in the same shade with circular veil, and wore a corsage of Rapture roses. Mr. Louis Reid was groomsmen.

Mrs. Davies received her guests wearing a wine sheer dress with corsage of Rubrum Lillies.

Later the bride donned a black cloth coat lavishly furred with fox and a corsage of Johanna Hill roses and the happy young couple left for a short trip to points east. On their return they will reside at Blythwood Manor, North Toronto.

ITALY'S PRIVATE WAR

When the inhabitants of Rome recovered — rather slowly, I learn — from the results of the recent outbreak of anti-aircraft fire over the city, they gave the visitation a new name. There was no British aircraft there, but the falling shells killed and wounded a fairly considerable number of people. The new name is "La guerra Italo-Italiana," the Italo-Italian war.—From the London Daily Telegraph.

Red Cross Notes

During the past week the Richmond Hill Branch of the Red Cross Society has forwarded to Provincial Headquarters a cheque for $1000 as its contribution to the National Emergency War Appeal.

Open house will be held at the Red Cross Work Room on Wednesday afternoon, November 27th, from 3 to 5 o'clock p.m. On display will be sweaters and garments made by this branch during the last two months, for victims of air-raids in England. Your contributions to the Red Cross Society have made possible the purchase of materials for these garments, and it is urgently hoped that everyone interested in Red Cross work will take this opportunity of viewing what is accomplished on Wednesdays and Fridays in the Sewing Room, and by knitters at home. We are fortunate in having received as a speaker for the afternoon, Mrs. Basil Wedd, a resident of Lille, France, until the outbreak of the war. Mrs. Wedd's husband, Major W. B. Wedd, D.S.O., M.C., is serving at military headquarters in London, England. Conditions in France and the experiences of Major and Mrs. Wedd and their two daughters in leaving the country will be the subject of Mrs. Wedd's address.

Field Marshal Sir Philip Chetwode, chairman of the British Red Cross, has written the Canadian Red Cross expressing gratitude for the gift of 130 ambulances and also for the agreement to supply 10,000 parcels of food from Canada every week for British prisoners of war in Germany. The British Red Cross is the voluntary auxiliary of the British Government and is committed to the task of supplying food and clothing to prisoners of war in enemy territory.

"The ambulances are a highly valued gift, made at a moment when our organization was hard-pressed to know how to obtain a sufficient number of ambulances to prepare to meet the need," Sir Philip wrote, "I am glad to have this opportunity of re-iterating the gratitude of the British Red Cross for the generous and ungrudging help given to us at all times by the Canadian Red Cross in so many directions, and particularly for their latest gesture in undertaking the packing, despatch and financial responsibility for 10,000 parcels per week for our Prisoners of War."

"I hope you will be able to find means of letting the public in Canada know how immensely this assistance is appreciated in this country and how deeply grateful we are for the unflinching support given us on every occasion." The ambulances were contributed to the Canadian Red Cross for Britain by individuals, business firms, service clubs and other organizations throughout Canada.
