LETTERS FROM OVERSEAS

Corpl. Peter Walker Writes From the Front Line in the Battle of Britain — Had Two Narrow Escapes During Nazi Air Raids

Editor of The Liberal,
 Dear Sir:—

Thanks very much for "The Liberal" which I have received without a break. I sometimes get two at a time and once I got three at one time, so I hope the people at home don't think that all our ships are at the bottom of the sea. We have a few left yet or I would not get my paper so regular, thanks to our wonderful navy. Well, time sure does fly, a year ago today (the glorious twelfth) we left Toronto for somewhere. Some had us going to Iceland, others to Newfoundland, some had us going to Egypt, but after all our guessing we sailed from Halifax on July 23rd and landed in good old Scotland on August 1st. We are now stationed somewhere in the South of England and have been working hard ever since we came here. Our work is of a very important and secret nature. Our company is scattered as far wide as Gibraltar and the north of Scotland and practically all over England. I believe our Company is one of the most important units of the R.C.E. overseas. I think I said in my last letter I would give you a little of my own personal experiences next time I wrote. Well I don't like to say much about myself but there are two rather exciting experiences I went through, the first less than 3 weeks after we landed in England. On August 18, 1940 I was detailed along with my section (No. 2 Scot) to a job 93 miles from where we were stationed. On Sunday we left our Headquarters at 9.30 a.m. and around 12 noon our convoy of 10 trucks was attacked by a squadron of German planes, 50 in all. We had a powder truck on the lead of convoy with 3 tons of highly explosive Gelnigite. A land mine was dropped just as the truck was passing a bus completely demolishing the bus. A piece of shrapnel went right through 1 box of Gelnigite and into another and did not explode. How it did not no one can tell. It was certainly an act of God and nothing else. I was driving the truck immediately behind, I would say about 150 feet and had just drawn up to a full stop when the mine went off. We saw the bus being lifted right across the highway through a high wall and thrown against a house partly demolishing the house. The sight was awful, too horrible to describe here. We were then machine gunned and had to crawl under our trucks for shelter when all of a sudden we saw 2 Spitfires come up from nowhere and attack the Germans and was there a real dog fight. Five German planes were taken down with one Spitfire. We got to our temporary camp around 5 p.m. and again we were machine gunned by a lone Jerry plane which was taken down by our machine gunner, Cpl. Stevenson, who has since been mentioned in dispatches and is now Lieut. Stevenson.

My next experience gave me a little more pain. This happened on Nov. 9th a Saturday afternoon. I happened to be in town and not knowing there was a raid on I was walking along the street without my steel helmet on although I saw other soldiers wearing their's. It never struck me there was a raid on as

Some where in England,
 July 12th, 1941.

I had not heard the alert. On walking up the street I met a companion that came over with us on the same boat and belongs to the Seaforth Highlanders. We shook hands, talked a minute and then crossed over to the other side of the street on our way to a hotel to have a glass of beer. Just as we got on the sidewalk and near the hotel we were both hit with a bullet as a Jerry was busy machine gunning the civilian population and the street was crowded at the time. We both went in a drug store and had iodine put on the wound but we didn't get our glass of beer. Oh no we were too excited to think of beer then. As we got out on the street again I took my cigarette case from my pocket and found a huge dint in one corner of it and it open. Well did I hug and kiss that cigarette case for if it had not been for it I would very likely have been back in Canada by now a helpless cripple, but as it is I am none the worse only left a little scar but after all it taught me a lesson for if that same bullet had hit me on the head I would have been surely knocked out. So every time I hear an alert now, the first thing I look for is my steel hat. There are lots of other minor experiences I have had but space will not permit.

Now to close I must say we are enjoying the best of summer weather among the roses of lovely England. I wish all my friends in and around Richmond Hill and Richvale the best of wishes and hope this war will soon be over and we will all be back safe and sound in Canada once more.

Now Mr. Editor I thank you once more for your paper which I receive and thank you for space for this note.

Cheerio to all for now.
 Sincerely yours,
 Cpl. P. T. Walker,

Vaughan Ukrainian Faces Assault Charge

Wife Suffered Fractured Nose and Black Eye

Sam Sergarwich, Ukrainian farmer of Vaughan Township was committed for trial on a charge of assault and occasioning bodily harm to his wife, Christine, on August 5, by Magistrate W. Keith in County Police Court Friday afternoon. Bail was set at $500.

Mrs. Sergarwich appeared with one eye blackened and the other eye bandaged. Anne, her 17 year old daughter, interpreted for her. Mrs. Sergarwich said that on August 5 she and her husband were working on the farm. Her husband asked her to drive the team while he was doing some other job. When she demurred, Sergarwich threatened her with a hay rake, she stated. A few minutes later, she felt something strike her left eye.

The woman said she didn't know what struck her, but that there were pitchforks nearby.

Dr. R. A. Bigford of Maple said that the woman suffered two lacerations of the left eye, a fractured nose and a blackened right eye.

Magistrate Keith said: "I don't think Mrs. Sergarwich should go back to the farm pending her husband's trial."

Miss Sergarwich said her mother could be accommodated at a neighbor's.

Sergarwich lives on the 6th concession of Vaughan.
