Buses Due For Retirement Pressed
Into Service For War
Emergency

The next time you board a bus for some Ontario centre try not to be too critical if you have to travel on an old-timer a bit the worse for wear. It's just another case of "guns or butter".

Like everyone else, the bus people are having their troubles and for some months their biggest headache has been a shortage of buses. Due to war-time prosperity, regular traffic is increasing daily and buses have also to be found for special military service.

A. H. Foster, Vice-President of Gray Coach Lines, says that the modern high-powered buses are made only in the U.S.A. and that the Company has postponed further buying of new equipment to conserve United States funds for the Canadian Government's purchases of essential war materials.

To meet the emergency, a large number of buses which are due for retirement have been reconditioned and pressed into service. Mr. Foster says that every effort is made to place the most modern buses on the regularly scheduled trips, but the demands for service frequently require the addition or substitution of older equipment.

After all, the Company has demonstrated very convincingly, over a period of several years, its faith in public appreciation of the highest possible standard of service by supplying modern and luxurious equipment for its routes. Now that a war emergency is upon us Mr. Foster believes that the public will endorse the Company's action in co-operating with the Government's plans for conserving exchange and will gladly accept any slight temporary inconvenience involved.

So the next time you have to ride in a bus that is not quite new, remember we must win the war. Remember too that our boys who are riding in tanks, gun carriers and other army vehicles are not enjoying much in the way of modern luxury during their travels.

Are you a War Saver? If not, why not?

Safety Warnings

Warning—before you pull out from the curb, be sure to look behind for oncoming traffic.

This warning is being impressed on more than 4,000 truck drivers by the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations as their rule-of-the-road for September in their campaign for safer and more careful driving.

It is being distributed in the form of colored posters to be set up in the cabs of industrial trucks as a constant reminder of one of the most dangerous of traffic hazards. The cards, colored blue and black, show a truck driver stepping out of his cab with his face turned to the road behind on the alert for approaching traffic. In large letters are written: "Look Behind for Oncoming Traffic before Pulling from the Curb."

The cards, issued by the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations, are changed every month to impress on drivers some important phase of traffic hazard. They are placed in metal slots in the cabs of trucks whose drivers are on the road for eight or more working hours. They are circulated in the trucks of newspaper publishers, transport companies, dairies and bakeries, whose drivers spend the large part of their working hours in driving throughout the streets and highways of Ontario.

Safety officials feel that by frequently changing the cards and making them humorously appealing, drivers are made more safety-conscious than a permanently-painted routine warning against careless driving.

AN INVALUABLE SERVICE

It is doubtful if in any other line of business the man at the retail end renders as technically expert and helpful service to his customers at so low a cost as does the local Implement Dealer. This, while it has always been so, has greater significance in these days of more highly mechanized farming, calling as it does for training and experience in the servicing of modern machines.

His experience with machines enables him to give time and money-saving service in the speedy furnishing of the correct part when repairs and replacements are required—for delays in seeding, haying and harvesting may result in substantial loss to a farmer. In those critical seasons his warehouse is open practically at all times, and he is untiring in playing his part to prevent farmers suffering from delays.

His accumulated knowledge of methods being used and of the experiences of the many farmers he calls on and associates with makes his advice helpful and valuable.

Since the early pioneering days, through all the vicissitudes of farming, the Implement Dealer has shared the hardships as well as the fortunes of farmers rendering a worth-while service and establishing a well-founded place for himself in our economic set-up.
