Canvass for War Savings Next Week

"I am certain that if Canadians had a full appreciation of the perils that would follow a Hitler Victory, they would give their fullest support to the war savings movement, and to everything else that would further the defeat of Hitler," said Ralph Ingersoll, noted American editor in addressing a Canadian gathering this week. "I came back from a round the world tour of the battle areas feeling that the North American continent is physically threatened by Hitler's military machine on three fronts," said Mr. Ingersoll warning that "there is no justification in a sense of complacency in successes in Libya or Russia."

The job of beating Hitler is going to demand the best effort of every Canadian. Right now the appeal is for greater financial support to provide the weapons of war. A Dominion-wide drive for increased purchases of War Savings Stamps and Certificates has been going on for some time, and in connection with this drive a canvass of every home in Richmond Hill will be made next week. A canvass was made last February and the results were very gratifying, but the increased need necessitates that another be made now in the interests of increased savings.

Every Canadian must support the war effort by the purchase of War Savings Certificates to the very limit of his or her resources. There is no doubt the Nazi propaganda machine through its agents is trying to damage Canada's war effort by preaching the doctrine "let the other fellow do it."

Russia has been free to carry on her battle against Germany without the handicap of German fifth columnists in the rear. Russia accomplished this by shooting, arresting and deporting fifth columnists before the war broke out.

Canadians do not go in for shooting of traitors. The country has no vast system of secret police comparable with the Gestapo. But the intolerable situation of today, in which Canadians find themselves being attacked from within by enemy agents who try to cripple Canada's war effort by discouraging the sale of war savings certificates demands that Canadians face the facts and do something about it. Not that Canadians as a whole are not making a good showing in support of Canada's financing of the war effort. The great majority are doing something, many are doing exceedingly well but some are not doing anything. In an effort to enlist the maximum contribution from every citizen this second canvass of the municipality will take place next week.

A meeting of the local committee was held Tuesday evening. A volunteer force for the coming canvass is being enlisted and these men who will call on you next week are meeting in the Municipal Hall Tuesday evening when they will be addressed by a speaker from headquarters.

Richmond Hill's present objective is one Naval gun per month. A Naval gun costs $3000. Richmond Hill will not fail.

Few Ratepayers Attend King Twp. Public Meeting

Reeve and Members of Council Present Year's Financial Statement

That the two year term for municipal councils is accompanied by dwindling interest in municipal affairs was evidenced at a public meeting of King Township electors held at King last Friday to present the annual financial statement of the municipality. The former annual nomination meetings attracted capacity houses, but Friday only a small gathering of ratepayers was on hand to hear the municipal representatives give an account of their stewardship. In fact outside of members of council and officials there were three ratepayers in attendance.

It appeared that there is general satisfaction with the work of the council as no grievances were aired at the meeting. Reeve Thomas McMurchy and all members of the council spoke and gave a detailed and interesting account of the year's work. Hints were given that a lower tax rate might be expected next year. The rate was reduced this year.

William Davis, farmer, of Lloydstown rural route, has been appointed as third part-time constable. This takes care of West King policing.

It was pointed out from the department of Municipal Affairs that "members of all local boards, including boards of trustees of rural school sections in a municipality in which the act is in force and who were in office on the 15th of February, 1941, continue in office for the further term of one year. Thus if elected for three years his term is extended to four years. This does not apply to the members of any local board which has jurisdiction in two or more municipalities. In any such case an election must be held."

Clerk Harold Rose was complimented on the excellence of the township books.

Lynd of Downsview and the present minister, Rev. W. A. Wescott. Fine tribute was paid to the christian character and exemplary life of Dr. Norman.
