BUY VICTORY BONDS

Singapore has fallen, and the general war situation throughout the world must be serious enough to convince even the most idly complacent that VICTORY is going to demand every last ounce of effort by the free people of the world.

EVERYONE must do a part. North York has an objective of $1,600,000 in Canada's second Victory Loan and this objective must be reached. It can be reached if every citizen subscribes to the limit of his and her ability. It will not be reached if some fail in doing their full duty.

This week in the face of the gigantic challenge of Canada's Second Victory Loan we have but one editorial message.

ENLIST NOW AS AN INVESTOR IN THE FUTURE OF CANADA AND DEMOCRACY.

We are proud of those from our County who serve in the various branches of the fighting services. We must back them up with dollars to provide in ever increasing quantity the tools of war.

We commend those who are serving in the various military branches, realizing the sacrifices that they are making and the further sacrifices which they are willing to make if such is demanded of them.

But What Are We Doing To Help?

How much of a contribution are we making towards the arming of Canada? What part are we playing in making our nation strong so that it may protect our own liberties and assist those who are fighting brilliantly against tremendous odds to preserve for themselves and their descendants the rights of free men?

What Can We Do To Help?

We can assist in providing the most important of all the raw materials which go into the creation and maintenance of an adequate system of national defence.

Money is the most vital defence essential.

Money buys raw materials.

Money builds machines.

Money pays those who are operating the machines.

Money pays for an army, a navy, an adequate air force.

We must provide the money—

We all produce some defence money through taxes and we know that we will have to produce more and more through this medium. But this is not enough.

It is not sufficient that the Government obtain money by exacting it, through tax collections, from a people made up of those who give willingly and those who surrender cash grudgingly.

Defence funds should reflect the readiness of the citizens of this country to go "all out" for defence.

PARTICIPATION IN DEFENCE FINANCING IS WITHIN THE MEANS OF THOUSANDS OF CANADIANS — OF HUNDREDS IN THIS COMMUNITY.

The new Victory Bonds are available in such denominations that few of us can plead inability to become investors in defence and contributors to the protection of our beloved country.

Further, the new Victory Bonds are so arranged that they are inviting to those who are interested in the protection of their personal security.

You can aid your own future while contributing to the guarantee of the future of your country.

We do not know what will come as an aftermath of the war. We may fear what is ahead of us as a sequel to the war — remembering the economic let-down which followed World War No. 1.

Why not take a thought to providing your own protection against the uncertain future.

After the first World War, vast numbers of Canadians had reasons to be grateful that they had been prevailed upon to invest a part of their augmented war-time earnings in defence securities — for the sound investment represented by these bonds availed to carry them over a difficult period.

FROM OUR EXCHANGESDON'T BE A COMPLAINER

On all sides one hears complaints about the bearing restrictions brought forth by the government have made on our way of living and business in general. Complaints are heard regarding the shortage of metals, of tires, and inner tubes, of certain food lines, of cars of radios, stoves and refrigerators. The argument is that should the restrictions continue, business will become stagnant.

There are some restrictions coming, and changes that will make and mean many more alterations and adjustments in our way of living. But they must be taken in our stride, for the government will not see business become stagnant. Right at the present time conditions are such that they are in a more or less experimental stage. Government is trying by every means and resource available to keep business on an even keel, despite the restrictions imposed.

It isn't an easy task to set forth restrictions that affect our way of living, but still, haven't all been living perhaps a bit too high? There are many things we could have done without, and with a war to win, those things will have to be dispensed with entirely.

There will be no place for a complainer who just complains about some inconvenience because he can not get this or that article or service formerly given, and now discontinued. That kind of complainer is selfish and does not wish to lend his co-operation under existing conditions. So don't be a complainer. It not only hurts yourself, but others who are grinning and bearing the restrictions imposed.—Tara Leader.

THE OLD WAYS COMING BACK

Wartime, with its rapid advances in scientific discovery and industrial development, is also bringing back many of the things that had been relegated to the "good old days".

Since the suspension of weather forecasts which might be useful to the enemy, the weather vane on the barn roof is coming into the limelight, and the prophets are having a field day. According to the Christian Science Monitor, many of the old proverbs are based on the clouds and are quite dependable, since they have technical reasons behind them. A few of them are:

The higher the clouds, the finer the weather.

Clear moon, frost soon.

A red sun has water in his eye.

Sound travelling far and wide a stormy day will be.

When the smoke goes west guide weather is past.

When the smoke goes east, guide weather is neist.

Restrictions on gasoline, and on the sale of new cars and tires are bringing Old Dobbin into favour too, and before the war is over it is likely that the horse and buggy days will be more than a memory of the older generation. — Fenelon Falls Gazette.
