Answering Questions Most Often Asked About Conditions in Britain

This is the 13th of a series of 18 articles on conditions in Great Britain in wartime, written exclusively for the weekly newspapers of Canada by Hugh Templin, of the Fergus News-Record.

Having completed the first dozen stories in this series, perhaps I should take time this week to answer the questions most often asked me since I came back to Canada. I shall not attempt to answer them all, of course, but only four of those which seem the most important and which are most frequently asked. WHAT CHANGES IS THE WAR MAKING IN GREAT BRITAIN?

This was my first visit to England and therefore I cannot answer from my own experience, but among my fellow travellers were several who had been born in the British Isles, or had visited them on several occasions. During my stay in England, I met people of all classes. My hosts included titled persons of various degrees of prominence and rank. I travelled by myself when time permitted and met and talked with people of all classes. I wandered away from the group to talk to people who were working in their gardens, to the men and women running machinery in the factories. I met many former Canadians now living in England.

It seems to be unanimously agreed that the changes in Britain have already been great; that more are still to come, and that things can never be the same again as they were before the war began.

A great levelling process is taking place. Money is of little use if it cannot buy luxuries. Ration-

NOTICE RE DOGS

Village By-Law provides that it is forbidden for dogs to run at large in the Village of Richmond Hill on and after May 1st.

Dog owners are asked to take notice and see that dogs are tied up on and after this date.

The provisions of the by-law will be strictly enforced.

BY ORDER OF COUNCIL.

ing applies to all. No matter how many suits of clothes a man had before the war, he can buy only the same number now as the humblest laborer. True, the quality will be better, but even that distinction tends to disappear.

During more than three weeks in London, I saw only two young men dressed in formal evening clothes, not counting the waiters in the hotel. These two were in an underground station and they were drunk. They were pointed out to me as a bad example by a constable. Yet in the days before the war, a Canadian cabinet minister was refused admission to the dining room in the hotel where I stayed because he was not in evening clothes.

An incident happened during my stay in Britain that shows the Germans have no idea what a change they have wrought in England. One night, they dropped a spy by parachute. Evidently, he expected to move in society. He was dressed in tails and his outfit was complete even to white spats. The outfit marked him at once, and he had the further misfortune to drop in a mud puddle and spoil his spats. He was picked up before he had time to hide the small wireless transmitter he carried. His clothes cost him his life.

Even then, pleasure travel in automobiles was limited to the distance one could go on three gallons a month. Since then, it has been prohibited. While I was in England, the distinction between first and third classes for railway travel was abolished and there is now only one class.

Rich and poor suffered alike in the bombing. That, perhaps, did more to break down distinctions than anything else. Everyone physically able to do so must take a turn at fire-watching.

It is said that income and other taxes amount almost to conscription of wealth. I cannot say whether that is true, but it is obvious that wealth can no longer obtain many luxuries, and a great levelling process has been taking place. And I did not hear any complaints about it.

LETTERS FROM OVERSEAS

The Maple Women's Institute packed nine boxes for local men overseas late in January. Replies are coming in now from several of the boys who received these boxes. The following is one received from Georg Miller who enlisted in the Lorne Scots early last year.

England, March 20th, 1942.

Maple Women's Institute
Dear Friends:—

I hope this finds you all well as it leaves me the same. Thanks for the lovely box. It arrived O.K. and in good shape. Before I write any more I would like to thank the ladies that packed it. Mrs. Andrew Snider, Mrs. Donald Allen and Mrs. Milton Palmer. They are really experts on packing. Also I want to thank Mrs. Jack McMahon who made the socks. They are really nice.

I just returned from a seven day leave and the box was here waiting for me. I spent most of my leave in the North of England—250 miles north west of London at Kendal, Lancaster. I had a real nice time there and it was very quiet. You wouldn't know there was a war on up there.

I was out on March 7th with a traveller for a ride in an Austin car. He drove about 60 miles out in the country. I didn't know there were so many mountains and hills in England. It's what they call the Lake District. There are lots of lakes and wonderful hotels there. It is a summer resort in peace time and they tell me there are thousands of American tourists visit it.

When we left in the morning it was raining pretty hard and you couldn't see very far for the mist. However it cleared up later on and turned out to be a grand day.

I also stayed in London for two days and went on a sight-seeing trip in a bus with quite a number of different Allied Forces. There were fellows from New Zealand, Australia, Africa, India and America—quite a mixture.

We visited Windsor Castle, St. George's Chapel and Eton College. We saw some of the students in their famous tall silk hats, long coats, and striped pants. We were also taken around London and shown some of the famous old buildings. Each one has quite a history. Yesterday I tried to get on the air to speak to Maple, but couldn't. There are so many of the boys who would like to speak home that it's almost impossible so I guess I will just have to give it up as a bad job and write to you.

Good-bye and Cheerio. Thanks again for the box.

I remain,
Yours sincerely,
George Miller.
