Bird Chatter

Two local enthusiasts were out along Maple sideroad about nine o'clock Sunday morning and saw fifteen kinds of birds between Richmond Hill and the third of Vaughan. Besides the more common ones were bluebirds, horned larks, juncos, killdeer plovers and meadow larks. Later in the woods west of Maple they saw a winter wren and red breasted nuthatch, and along the roadside, both golden crowned and ruby crowned kinglets, mourning doves and quite a large flock of red polls. Altogether the list of those seen totalled 25 species, and the sandpiper, pheasant and ruffed grouse were heard but not seen.

The storm last Friday brought birds seldom seen near buildings to the feeding places of our village bird-lovers. Thus it happened that looking out the window on the flagged terrace where we hoped to see a cold and hungry Robin or two, we saw to our surprise the brown-headed Cowbird and his soft-brown colored wife, in fact five pairs of them. With them were other members of the blackbird family: the Bronze Grackle (known on the Atlantic coast as the Purple Grackle), the ubiquitous Starling and, a real surprise, the Red-winged Blackbird. It was a delight to observe the Red-winged so close at hand, to see his velvet black in contrast to the metallic coloring of the Starlings and Grackles. Besides the blackbirds, Robins and Song Sparrows and Juncos came confidently and fed eagerly, flying to the bird bath for a drink before they went off for the night. The Chickadees and Downy Woodpeckers of course made their usual visits.

Two bird calls that are familiar to us who visit the Maple bush are the "Kee you" of the Red-shouldered Hawk and the flicker-like call of the Pileated Woodpecker. The Pileated is rarely seen in this district as its haunts are the primeval forests. Next to the rare Ivory-billed this is the largest of all North American woodpeckers. We have made many pilgrimages to the Maple woods to see this bird. Finally following the sound of his drumming we went in some distance and waited for some time in the silence. Then he came towards us flying low from tree trunk to tree trunk, suddenly flashed into the sunlight his bright poppy-red crest and the white markings on his great black wings.

There, too, we have seen the Brown Creeper making his way up the tree so close to the bark that he seems to be a bit of it, flying down to begin his ascent of a nearby tree. In contrast to him is the Nuthatch who flies to the top of the tree and makes his way down, head first. Golden-crowned Kinglets, Juncos and Tree Sparrows also rewarded our last trip to the Maple bush. And from a thicket came a soft "quirt, squirt", the call-notes of the Hermit Thrush.

We welcome any contributions to this column and appreciate those sent in this week.

LOYAL CITIZENS DO NOT HOARD!

Hoarders are people who buy and store away goods beyond their immediate needs.

They want to be in an unfair position over their neighbors.

Hoarders are traitors to their country and their fellow citizens, because by creating excessive and unnecessary demands for goods, they slow down the war effort.

There is no excuse for "panic buying" and hoarding. Everyone will have enough, if no one tries to get more than a fair share.

Hoarding must stop! Every unnecessary purchase makes it more difficult for Canada to do a full war job.

THERE'S A LAW AGAINST HOARDING

It is against the law to buy more than current needs.

Violation of the law is punishable by fines up to $5,000, and imprisonment for as long as two years.

AVOID ALL UNNECESSARY BUYING — AVOID WASTE MAKE EVERYTHING LAST THE LONGEST TIME POSSIBLE

In cases where it is advisable for you to buy in advance of your immediate requirements—such as your next season's coal supply—you will be encouraged to do so by direct statement from responsible officials.
