On Tuesday evening of this week over forty of the friends of Pine Grove and vicinity met at the parsonage to honor Miss Ruth Edwards on the eve of her marriage with a miscellaneous shower. The presentation was made by little Miss Elizabeth, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dudgeon dressed as a bride with long flowing veil and drawing a little wagon with a basket loaded with gifts. Many useful articles were received. Miss Edwards is much beloved by the folks of Pine Grove and they all join in wishing her a very happy wedded life. The wedding will take place later this month and we trust to give our readers an account of same in a future issue of the paper.

Hints For Wartime Jams And Jellies

Ten hints, together with 12 recipes for making wartime jams and jellies have been issued by the Consumer Section, Marketing Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture. The hints are:—

- (1) Cook no more than three to four quarts of fruit at a time;
- (2) Fruit used for jam should not be over-ripe;
- (3) To prepare fruit, wash and cut finely or mash. A little water may be added to less juicy fruits, but care should be taken that too much is not added;
- (4) Less acid fruits may be improved in flavour by adding a little tart fruit or a small amount of rhubarb juice, lemon juice, or cider vinegar;
- (5) Make your measurements accurate and follow recipes exactly;
- (6) Heat fruit slowly to extract the juice without burning. Stir frequently, using a wooden spoon.
- (7) Add sugar according to recipe;
- (8) Boil exactly the recommended time;
- (9) Have containers sterilized and hot when filling with hot jam;
- (10) Cool and seal with paraffin. Cover with metal cover or paper to prevent contamination from dust.

The recipes deal with raspberry, raspberry and red currant, and raspberry and rhubarb jams; black currant jam and black currant jelly; gooseberry jam and gooseberry jelly; blueberry and rhubarb jam and jellied blueberries; jewel jam (cherries, gooseberries, red currants and raspberries); red currant jelly, and red currant and raspberry jelly. All recipes are based on sugar ration of 3/4 pound sugar to one pound of fruit, purchased weight. A copy of the pamphlet may be obtained free by writing to the Publicity and Extension Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

TOMATOES ON POTATO VINES
Several in the district have telephoned us to tell us about tomatoes growing on potato vines. We have seen several of these and some of the "tomatoes" may be seen at our office. We are told on good authority that they are really not tomatoes, but seeds of the potato plant which closely resemble tomatoes. If left to ripen and seeds are planted next year a new variety of potato may be developed. It is rarely these seed formations are seen, but it is said they are prevalent this year owing to the abundance of moisture.
