GERMAN PRISONERS CAPTURED AT PICHON, TUNISIA: THOUSANDS MORE HAVE JOINED THEM SINCE
Picture Shows: A line of German prisoners captured when U.S., French and British forces attacked early in April, 1943, on the Central Tunisian front. British armoured elements captured Pichon. These men have since been joined by many thousands of their fellows who were captured or surrendered during the liquidation of the Axis armies in Africa as a fighting force.

Report on Crop Conditions Throughout Province of Ont.

Western Grain Needed To Supplement Local Crops To Meet Demands for Livestock Feeding

Practically all spring grains, with the exception of buckwheat, in central and western Ontario have now been cut and threshing is well underway. In eastern Ontario harvesting is nearing completion.

Yields of all grains are reported to be far below normal and quality extremely poor, although satisfactory yields are being obtained in a few scattered sections, particularly from early seedings. There has been much damage in the stock by large flocks of starlings, black birds and sparrows. Although there was some sprouting of fall wheat after cutting, very little weathering interfered with or damaged the harvest this year. Supplies of grain will not be nearly sufficient to meet demands for livestock feeding. Several cars of Western grain have already been ordered and some delivered. Many more will be required to maintain production of meat, milk and eggs. Seed grain for the spring of 1944 also constitutes a problem in planning for next year's crop.

There is an abundance of hay and pasture, and second cuttings of alfalfa were slightly better than normal. Frequent rains throughout the summer have given new seedings of hay and clover an exceptionally satisfactory start, but some fields show poor stands due to difficulty in securing a good seed bed last spring. Fall wheat acreage increases up to 100% are reported from some sections, although some farmers will not seed normal acreage due to scarcity of good quality seed. Considerable fall rye is being sown for fall and spring pasture or for turning under as a green manure crop to build up organic matter content for such crops as potatoes. Many farmers requiring seed rye, are having much difficulty in locating suitable supplies.

Fodder corn has made excellent growth and many fields of hybrid corn developed excellent ears despite late planting in some cases. Soybeans are variable, but majority of fields are below normal and weedy. Flax and buckwheat have developed satisfactorily and marked increases in acreage of each crop are quite noticeable. Most turnips and mangel fields show good stands and are making excellent growth.

All classes of livestock are in good condition. Purchases of feeder cattle have been below average due to high prices of feeder and stocker cattle coupled with a light grain crop.

Excellent demand for dairy cattle continues and although milk flow has been fairly well maintained, a shortage of fluid milk on some markets already is evident.

Weather conditions during the growing season have been favourable for the potato crop in most sections of the province, but cold, wet conditions at the normal time of planting, high cost of seed and scarcity of labour will have a definite effect on aggregate yields. Carleton County, which is one of the major potato producing counties, reports that total yields for the county will be down 60% of normal, due to reduced acreage and some poor stands on low land, it having been necessary to plow up many fields on low land. Likewise, in the North Bay section of Northern Ontario it is reported that yields will be possibly less than 40% of normal due to patchy fields and disease injury.

In many of the other counties and districts, potato crops gave promise of excellent yields during the early part of August, but leaf hopper in-
