A government test of the quality of the water is said to be excellent for drinking purposes. It is not too hard, and does not contain too much lime content. The test hole has been located on the Dew farm, close to the village. Springhill was the original name of the village and it is true to form.

Boys-Bovair Nuptials
 In a setting of choice gladioli and mixed flowers, Eversley Presbyterian church was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday, September 22, when the marriage of Verna Irene Bovair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Scott Bovair, King, to Frederick Murray Bovair, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Bovair, King, was solemnized by Rev. C. H. Bowman, Maple.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length gown of white satin, styled with insets of lace, square neckline with deeply shirred front and long sleeves. Her white illusion fingertip veil was caught to a lace halo. She carried a shower bouquet of red roses. She wore a strand of pearls, the gift of the groom and an heirloom blue handkerchief. Her attendant was Miss Marion Boys, sister of the groom, wearing blue sheer, floor length, matching halo and veil and carrying a bouquet of deep pink roses.

The groom was supported by the bride's cousin, Norman Wade, and the ushers were Ross Bovair and Ray Glass. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Laura E. Rolling and the groom's oldest sister, Mrs. David McAllister, sang "O Perfect Love" and "Thine Alone."

At a reception held at the bride's home, her mother wore a two-piece romance blue and silver crepe dress, black hat with blue feather trim, black accessories and corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother was dressed in black, black velvet hat with lime green feathers, and corsage of roses.

 Following the ceremony, the bride changed to a princess brown dress with gold touches, matching hat and accessories and moss green coat. She wore a corsage of roses. THE WARTIME PRICES AND TRADE BOARD

The Worst Inflation came after the last war
NOW is the Real Testing time ...

Victory has been won on the battle front — but we must not relax our efforts if we are to continue to avoid the evils of inflation and deflation.

We are rapidly moving towards the day when shortages will be overcome — but reconversion takes time.

The danger of inflation, and its black shadow — deflation — will last as long as goods are not enough to meet demands.

The ending of the war brings the temptation to scramble for things we've been without, and to offer to pay any price to get them.

That's the way inflation gets started. Inflation with its soaring cost of living is bad enough.

But inflation is always followed by deflation with its falling prices, bankrupt businesses, unemployment and distress. Deflation would be a calamity that would involve every man, woman and child in Canada.

The only controls that are being maintained are those that aid the production of needed supplies and their speedy and fair distribution to the public, and which prevent an inflationary price rise.

As soon as conditions warrant, these will be dropped.

Until industry gets back to normal production, price ceilings, rationing and some controls are a necessary safeguard for everyone of us.

Keep them working.

IT'S YOUR JOB AND YOUR SAVINGS THAT ARE AT STAKE

This advertisement is one of a series being issued by the Government of Canada to emphasize the importance of preventing a further increase in the cost of living now and deflation and unemployment later.
