Voters' Open Forum

behalf of Capt. McLean. His contribution is as follows:—
"Richmond Hill, along with all other communities, is confronting a new educational problem, the problem of channeling instruction to persons no longer attending school. The boy or girl who was obliged to leave school with education unfinished should not be denied the right to further instruction. Usually, he is looking for and requires technical training, but whether that is his need or whether he wishes to advance his general education, he should be given the chance to do so. We have the buildings and we have the equipment, and the student, now earning an income, be it ever so small, could and would want to spare the trivial cost of tuition. Therefore, there would be no reason whatever to worry over the possibility of community education increasing taxes so long as "Jimmie" McLean and his like are in council to direct the enterprise.

"Jim" McLean would not be the son of a father who gave to the village of his best as councillor if he was given to rash promises. Instead of so committing himself or of confining his representations to glittering generalities, he does promise a well organized attempt to attract progressive industrial concerns that will afford employment for people of the village, and by sharing the cost of municipal government and expansion, keep down the tax rate while at the same time affording us any needed improvements. He proposes also that council plan for the rehabilitation of local veterans in civic life, and he promises to give careful thought to the various proposals for a war memorial in keeping with the self-respect of the citizens, but not on the extravagant side. Costs, upkeep and public disposition towards any such project will certainly receive his best attention."

Wes. Middleton
My policy as a councillor has been always to run the affairs of the village as you would your own business. A man wouldn't put a burden on his home that would be a debt to him if he was sensible. Then why should he do such a thing with other people's money in village affairs? I have always tried to serve the village in a practical way.

Progress? Sure, but in a sensible way. I believe in being outspoken if it is in the interest of the municipality to let people know how I stand. That, of course, is not always a good way to get votes, but it is my way of doing things.
Of the 27 years I have lived in Richmond Hill, I have served almost half that time on the council. I'll never be a pussy-footer on or off the council and I think the majority of the people do not want a councillor to be one.

Ralph W. Paris
I wish to thank The Liberal for the opportunity of presenting; First, a brief review of some of the work accomplished by the council this year; secondly, an expression of my own aims and aspirations for Richmond Hill in 1946 should I be elected as councillor.

Though their efforts have been necessarily curtailed due to wartime exigencies, several worthwhile measures have been inaugurated. The collection of garbage during the summer months has meant the elimination of an unsanitary condition which was an annoyance to all. The weekly gathering of ashes in the winter does away with those unsightly piles which, with the departure of snow loomed up in every garden.

The new amplifying system in the arena provides a public address hook-up, plus a much improved sound system for the playing of music on skating nights (Monday, Wednesday and Saturday).

The enlarged club room in the park will permit many more men of our village to take advantage of the privileges offered at the Curling Club. This room will also provide appropriate quarters for the display of handicraft, etc. on Fair day.

The opening up of new roads has facilitated travel on our streets. These and other works accomplished, show that your council has been alive to the needs of the community.

During the year the council has given considerable thought to the preparation of plans for the installation of a sewage system. This we have planned as our major post-war undertaking. The year 1946 should see the commencement of this work.

As I stated at the nomination meeting I have in mind the improvement of our town park. At a moderate cost the old track, which is no longer used, could be filled in. When drained and graded the entire park area would be available for use. Proper playing fields for sports could be established, plus a picnic area perhaps at the eastern end.

As a long range programme (upon the completion of the sewage system) I would like to see the construction of permanent roadways for our town, designated sections to be completed each year.

In the council you elect on Monday next will be vested the power to shape a post-war Richmond Hill. Careful planning and sound judgment will be required, in order that the ratepayer may receive full value for money expended.

Having, I feel, merited the confidence you have placed in me for the last three years, I am again seeking election as councillor and would therefore bespeak your support on election day.

OMITTED LAST WEEK
Last week in the article of Thanks to all who helped in the collection of clothing the names of Little Bros. and Paris Auto Supply were omitted.

EDGELEY
Attention, ladies! The Edgeley Women's Institute will meet at the home of Mrs. Edgar Phillips Thursday afternoon, December 6th at 2.30. The roll call is to be answered by a gift for a child. The motto, "Life's greatest happiness is found in making others happy". The subject, "Christmas customs in other lands" will be taken by Miss Evelyn Espey. A very interesting part of the program is a pot luck supper to which everybody is kindly asked to contribute and to which every lady in the community is heartily invited.

A very interesting farm meeting and showing of films was held in the Edgeley hall on Monday evening, November 23rd. Many new and easy ways to save much work and trouble in farming were shown besides some very entertaining films as well. The wearing qualities of Firestone tires and what they could accomplish on the different machines were well demonstrated. Mr. Earl Williams, the agent, was there to answer questions and he gave a little extra information as well. Of course in order to have this wonderful machinery do the work they must have the proper lubricants. They have the product and Mr. Joe Keffer, the representative, can supply you at Keffer's Service Station.

Mrs. Annie Mortson of Victoria Square is spending a week with her daughter Mrs. C. S. Stong.
Mr. and Mrs. Alf. Topper and Mary had tea with Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Broadbelt on Sunday.
Mr. Donald Elliott, accompanied by his mother of Toronto, are spending a couple of weeks with relatives in Chatham and London.

The Farm Forum met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Snider Monday evening with a fair attendance. The Young People's Choir were invited to officiate at the Maple Young People's installation service Sunday evening. Afterward they were entertained by them at the United Church parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs. Alf. Bagg spent Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Giffen, Toronto.
Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dalziel and Mr. Chas. Agnew, Mrs. Alf. Bagg, Donald and Mrs. Frank Locke attended the funeral of the late Jack McCallum, a former school teacher here. Mr. McCallum made many friends while living in this community and his wife and family have their deepest sympathy in their very sad bereavement.

Mrs. Norman Lewis, Mrs. Joseph Keffer and Mrs. Alf. Bagg attended the bazaar and tea at Mrs. White's, Maple, held under the auspices of the Lutheran Church.
