Why Vote For Beemer?

BECAUSE —

A vote for BEEMER is a vote for YOURSELF. Your interests and mine are exactly the same. If you can't buy property, I can't sell it to you. If I make it possible, you can buy it. I have been fighting for your interests for years. When I fight for you, I fight for myself. When you support me, you support yourself.

WHY AM I RUNNING FOR COUNCILLOR?

BECAUSE —

My satisfied clients demand my services, knowing they will get prompt, efficient, honorable, courteous service, without fear or favor.

I am continually dealing with the Government, with Boards, with Commissions, with Councils, with Lawyers and with the Public. I have a thorough understanding of Commercial Law. My business experience protects your interests.

You honor your Councillor with your confidence. If he betrays your trust and frames devices that reduce you to the status of a work-animal whose only business is to pay rent and taxes and to serve his selfish purposes, he is unworthy.

WHAT ARE YOUR RIGHTS?

All men and women, boys and girls have the right to live. All have the right to live in a house. WHO has any right to prevent them from building a house they can afford? NOBODY HAS. WHAT shall we do with those who try? KICK THEM OUT.

WHAT DO YOU WANT?

WARNING: If you are a selfish, greedy, grasping, human hog, then don't vote for me; I would be ashamed to represent you. NOTE CAREFULLY: If you are a man or a woman who works, no matter where or how, who is willing to live and let live, and who only wants a square deal, then let me serve you. I KNOW HOW.

MAKE BEEMER YOUR OWN COUNCILLOR

I need your support; you need my services.

THANK YOU!

ELIAS A. W. BEEMER

Mr. Pickwick Of The Rad.o

Many's the time Mr. Pickwick had passed the village pound near Dingley Dell and felt sorry for the assortment of livestock languishing there in the mud. But sorry was no word for his feelings the day he woke up from a comfortable snooze — induced by quarts of cold punch — to find himself prone on a wheelbarrow in the pound, rubbing elbows with stray cats, returning the insolent stares of many dogs, and striking up a nodding acquaintance with some disreputable-looking geese.

And to make matters worse, hoodlums were collecting around the pound, bawling insults at poor Mr. Pickwick's dejected little figure shut up inside. "For shame, Guv'ner, 'ere's somethin' to keep you company!" cried one, as a large and smelly egg broke over Mr. Pickwick's chubby features.

But before long the redoubtable Sam Weller descended on the pound and covered up Mr. Pickwick's embarrassment with loud Cockney threats for the assembled mob.

Going home to Manor Farm, in the reassuring company of his host, Mr. Waddle, faithful Sam, and the other Pickwickians, Mr. Pickwick learned the reason for his shameful experience:

Early that morning, when Mr. Waddle had suggested a bit of shooting and a cold lunch on One Tree Hill, everyone leapt at the chance for frisking about in the bracing air and absorbing some of the famous Waddle punch. Even Mr. Pickwick, lame as he was with a sudden attack of rheumatism, went along, trundled in a wheelbarrow powered by Sam Weller.

As they sat exhausted but happily eating, not one of the party gave a thought to the fact that they were trespassing on the land of that fierce little military man, Captain Boldwig. Mr. Pickwick twinkled merrily, comfortably awash with punch, and Mr. Winkle was even emboldened to suggest more shooting. As they were leaving, Mr. Pickwick's gentle snorts attracted their attention and they decided to let him sleep awhile.

And that's where Captain Boldwig and his keeper found him, cuddled up in the wheelbarrow, looking less like a trespasser with every breath. The Captain felt duty-bound to assert his position and arrest the interloper — after all, his wife's sister was a marquis. So he had little Mr. Pickwick, still asleep wheeled down to the village and installed in the pound.

"We seem destined to enter no man's house without involving him in some degree of trouble," reflected Mr. Pickwick hours later, little guessing that Fate's evil eye was still fixed on him. At that moment he received a nasty letter from the lawyers Dodson and Fogg, stating that they had been instructed by Mrs. Martha Bardell (Mr. Pickwick's landlady) to commence action against him for a breach of promise of marriage, for which the plaintiff placed her damages at fifteen hundred pounds.

"It's a conspiracy, a base conspiracy," fumed Mr. Pickwick, bouncing

Mrs. Geo. Stokes of Winnipeg visited with friends at Locust Lawn last Sunday. Mrs. Stokes, who lived on Yonge St. in Thornhill some years ago, came to Toronto to attend the funeral of her brother, Mr. Roy Kerfoot. Miss F. Clubine and Mrs. Wells also attended the funeral.

The Woman's Auxiliary of Trinity Anglican Church met at the home of Mrs. Price last Thursday afternoon to pack a bale for the West and two parcels for needy people in England.

Next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. B. Ross, Steele's Ave., on Thursday afternoon, December 9th. For transportation, meet at Griffin's sere at Steele's Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Martindale spent the week end at Cayuga, Ont., visiting with Mr. Martindale's parents. Teacher Accepts Position at Weston

Mr. John Allan who has been teaching grades 4 and 5 in the public school here will be leaving at the Christmas holidays to fill the position he accepted as teacher in the ultra-modern public school recently completed at Weston. Mr. Allan has been highly successful in teaching here, and very popular with the pupils, and it is with real regret that the community learned of his resignation.

up and down on the sofa. But while he kept insisting that the whole affair was simply ridiculous, he couldn't help remembering that Mr. Winkle and Mr. Tupman had once come upon Mrs. Bardell reclining in his arms while he soothed her anguished tears away. And when he saw that Winkle and Tupman couldn't help remembering, too, he felt very shaky indeed, and determined to go right round to see Dodson and Flogg without further ado.

If you're on hand when the Pickwick Club meets this week, Monday, December 6th, you'll hear more about Mr. Pickwick's hunting experiences — in the field of rabbits and grouse, and love. Broadcast time is 8.00 p.m. on Dominion.

Apology doesn't come easy but goes a long way.
