R. Jenkinson spoke on "Easter Afterglow." Eloquent silences that come to man in a variety of ways each one filled with purpose and destined to fill its mission toward man's completion of his earthly life. In the after Easter quiet, are we really appreciating Easter with all its glorious meaning. The silence imposed by sickness and pain when the sufferer or afflicted learns "to live" and treasures of life are found and recognized. The period of poverty which exalteth itself in spurring man to become master of surroundings, and sweetened lives to fruitful maturity. The silence of reflection that comes to the wealthy who use their means for service to humanity. And the silence of bereavement which recognizes the meaning of Easter, the stone rolled away and beholds the "risen Lord."

Mrs. R. Farren gave a paper entitled "Easter, Vision and Service." In part, she said "Let us at this Easter season accept His Challenge, and command and pledge ourselves anew for blessing and comfort, a source of strength to others."

Mrs. Charles Gordon gave the Glad Tidings prayer and Mrs. Fred Curtis, president, who was chairman gave a vocal solo accompanied by Mrs. Farren.
