"Mum" And Her Boys

Of interest to many local people is an article which appeared in a recent issue of the Telegram, Toronto, concerning Mrs. Clarence Stong of Edgeley.

Mrs. Stong, who is Edgeley correspondent for The Liberal, is a sister of Harold Mortson, Massey Harris dealer of Richmond Hill, and of Gordon Mortson, bus operator, and Herman Mortson, farmer, of Victoria Square.

Says the Telegram in its article: Mrs. Clarence Stong must like children . . . she'd have to, after looking after fifteen different ones in twenty years . . . and none of them her own, either.

Typical of the foster parents of the Protestant Children's Homes, Mrs. Stong acts as a substitute mother for children whose own parents are incapable of looking after them.

She favors boys and has had only one or two girls during her 20 years as a foster parent. "I never had any sisters, just brothers, and I guess I just got used to having boys around," she explains.

Starting to keep foster children when she was single, she continued after her marriage to Clarence Stong, who, she says, has "the patience of Job and just loves children."

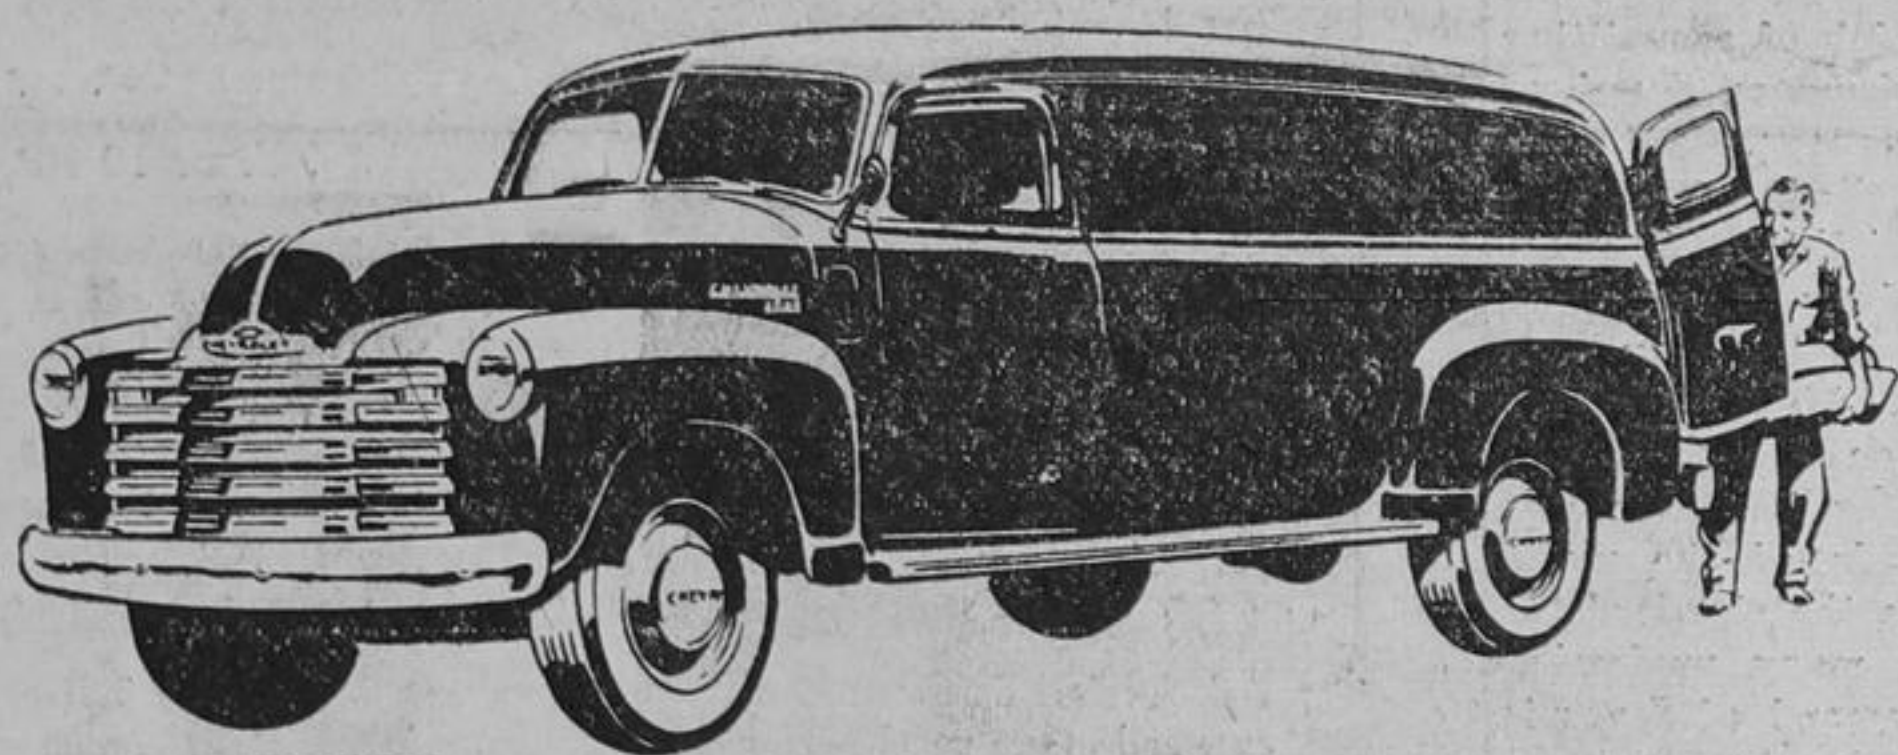

At the present time, Mrs. Stong has two boys, Terry and Ronnie, both 11 years old. Terry has been with her for six years and his brothers also stayed with her. When the older boys left last year, Terry became so lonesome, his foster mother sent for another boy, Ronnie, to keep him company.

"We have great times out here on the farm," dark, bright-eyed Terry exclaims. "In the winter there is lots of snow and we toboggan and skate and in the summer we can go swimming and fishing."

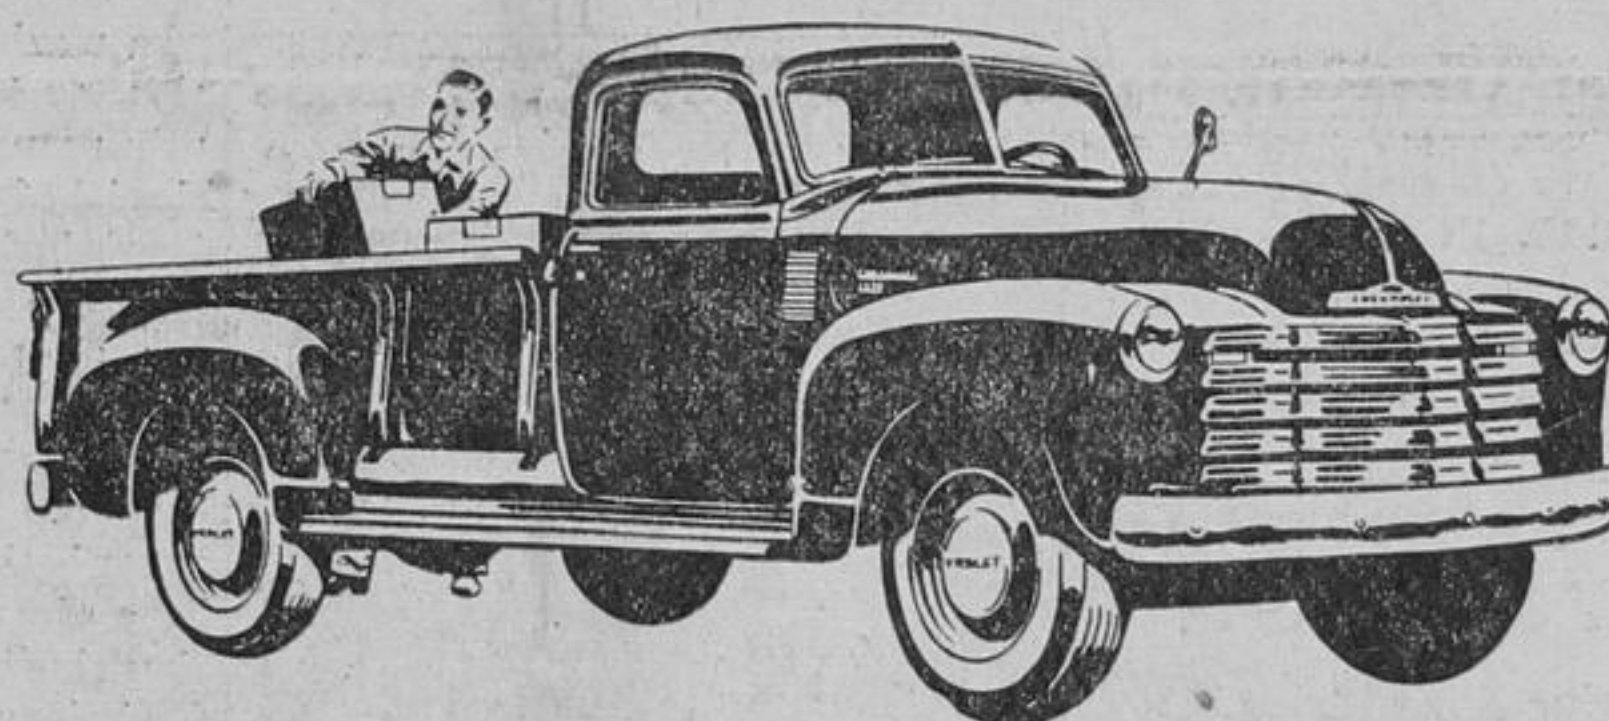

Both boys received bicycles for Easter and cycle one and a half miles to school each day. They also have a radio in their room, which keeps them interested on rainy days. Their perfect manners and fresh, eager faces are evidence of the careful upbringing they are being given by Mrs. Stong.

Both are very ambitious, Terry wanting to be a "preacher" when he grows up. "If he can master his tables," Mrs. Stong comments. Blond, blue-eyed Ronnie wants to be a doctor . . . So no doubt their foster mother will have reason to be even prouder of her "boys" some day than she is now.
