AT THE MOVIES

"Easy Come, Easy Go," a Paramount production, will be the Richmond Theatre's main offering on Friday and Saturday, September 9 and 10.
 Starring Barry Fitzgerald, Diana Lynn and Sonny Tufts, the picture tells an hilarious story of life and love in a New York boarding house owned by Fitzgerald, a conscienceless, lovable scoundrel, and run by his romantic daughter, played by Diana Lynn. Sonny Tufts plays the man Diana wants to marry, an event Fitzgerald tries to prevent by vicious and laugh-packed methods.
 The supporting cast features Dick Foran, Frank McHugh, Allen Jenkins and Frank Faylen.

ute parody on a national problem. They play the roles of four homeless students whose dire predicament precipitates the most mixed-up activity ever to occur on Opa-locka University's campus — or any other one.
 All the quartet wanted was to get into higher education but what they managed to get into was a confusing comedy of errors. In a maddening search for living quarters the two ex-soldiers and their girl friends finally lease two apartments and their troubles begin. Their harmless deception enmeshes the collegians in a welter of confusing and amusing complications with their friends, landlords, professors and deans.
 There's a laugh a minute in this fast-paced movie for anyone who has been apartment hunting recently, or for anyone who even knows a house-hunter. A group of catchy new songs adds to the general mood and merriment.

One of the most discussed dramas of the year, "Johnny Belinda," comes to the Richmond Theatre next week. No film in years has created such a storm of heated interest as the stark, moving drama of the Nova Scotia folk which Jean Negulesco has directed.
 Recognizing the outstanding interest of the picture, the Richmond Theatre will run it for three days, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, September 12, 13 and 14.
 Labelled "Adult Entertainment," the picture is from Elmer Harris' stage play of the same name which ran on Broadway a few seasons ago. It co-stars Jane Wyman and Lew Ayres. Miss Wyman's role in particular has stirred up much comment. She shelves her usual beauty and glamour for the plain, simple role of a country lass, disliked by her widower father until tragedy enters her life. The strong supporting cast includes Charles Bickford, Agnes Moorehead and Stephen McNally, the latter playing the villain in the drama, hitting a new high for this type of screen portrayal.
 Of special interest in this film are the photographic effects achieved by veteran cameraman Ted McCord. Scenes of the rugged Nova Scotia coastline, a raging storm, and marine sequences are worthy of comment.

Back in A.D. 1900, Raff & Gammen's penny arcade provided the cradle for the first motion picture, in scenes that performed in sequence to give the sense of action. The idea was adapted in Thomas Edison's kinoscope. One of its feats was to present the comical antics of Charlie Chaplin.
 The kinoscope is shown in "Let's Go to the Movies," first in a series of featurettes dealing comprehensively with motion pictures and which will be seen at the Richmond Theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.
 Since its beginning the motion picture has grown into a mammoth thing of arts and sciences.
 Covering the progress of the film industry from its cradle, "Let's Go to the Movies" shows examples from early films such as "The Great Train Robbery" and "The Birth of a Nation" until the advent of sound pictures with "The Jazz Singer" and the great modern films that attract millions of theatregoers and favorably influence the economic welfare of the nation.
