Highschool Highlights

Well here we are back at school after a short but refreshing holiday. With Christmas come and gone for another year we have one thing to look forward to, our reports. Bad or good they soon will be in the mail. Parents take note.

Since you last read this column much has happened around our school. On Thursday, December 22 (the last day of our fall term) the Literary Society gave a party opened with the singing of carols. Three pictures were shown to the group, "The Night Before Christmas," "Country Hospital" with Laurel and Hardy and a Christmas comedy. A tea dance followed.

On Thursday, December 29, Grade XII held a swimming party at the Glenview Terrace Swimming pool. Following this the party returned to Jane Tobias' home for dancing and refreshments.

Of interest to ex-students is the dance to be held on Friday, January 13, 1950 in the High School gymnasium. The dance which is sponsored by the Literary Society is named "The Snow Ball" (hope we get some). Supplying music for the occasion will be Max Boag and His Orchestra. Dancing is from 9 till 1, with tickets 75 cents each, available from any student.

Due to the fact that we have just returned from holidays there is not much sport news. But this winter term will bring about the basketball schedule boys and girls, both senior and junior. As soon as we receive the dates they will be printed in this column so that parents and friends may be on hand to see the school play.

Christilaw-Gooding

On Saturday, December 24, 1949, at three-thirty p.m. the United Missionary Church, Gormley, was the setting for the marriage of Ruth Elsie Gooding, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. A. T. Gooding, Gormley, to Mr. Thomas William Christilaw and the late Mrs. Christilaw, Toronto, son of Mr. H. B. Christilaw and the late Mrs. Christilaw of Blind River. The bride's father officiated and Mrs. Allan Doner played the wedding music. The soloist was Miss Isabel Christilaw accompanied by Miss Doris Christilaw, sisters of the groom.

Mr. Eldon Gooding, Utterson, Ont., gave his sister in marriage. Her graceful, trained gown of white satin had inserts of lace on skirt and train. Her tulle veil was fingertip and she carried calla lilies and bouvardia. Mrs. Frank Tate of Guelph, matron of honor, and Miss Eileen Gooding, sister of the bride as bridesmaid, were gowned alike in Christmas-red bengaline taffeta with matching hats and muffs trimmed with holly and white chrysanthemums. Mr. Walter Duffield, Amherstburg, was groomsmen and ushers were Mr. Beverley Secord St. Catharines and Mr. Vernon Gooding, Streetsville.

The reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Doner, Gormley. Mr. and Mrs. Christilaw will reside in Toronto.

Hunter-Elliott

Miss Elizabeth Elliott and Mr. Gordon Hunter were married quietly on December 28 at St. Mary's Church, Richmond Hill. After the ceremony, Mrs. W. Elliott entertained a few friends and immediate relatives to an informal supper at Pony Crest Lodge, Elgin Mills. The tables were beautifully decorated with Christmas fern and yellow and white chrysanthemums. Mr. and Mrs. Hunter will reside in the Windsor Court Apts., North Toronto.

Look At That Label, Please

The label referred to is the one at the top left hand corner of this paper — a label which, if you happen to be one of our subscribers who receives his or her copy through the mails, gives delivery instructions to the Post Office people. After your name on that label appears a date. That date indicates the time to which your subscription is paid. A newspaper is just like any other commodity. Its sellers expect to get paid for what they deliver. They must collect if they expect to stay in business and to pay wages, paper bills and the thousand and one other costs which are involved in the production of a newspaper.

At the present time, however, there happens to be another reason why The Liberal is anxious to bring its subscription lists up to date. It hopes to join, shortly, an internationally known organization which specializes in the auditing of newspaper circulation for the benefit of advertisers, giving them the guarantee that the advertisements which they address to a publication's readers are actually reaching the number of readers claimed. But under the rules of that organization subscriptions, in order to qualify, must be up-to-date. Therefore we are asking those of our readers who happen to be a little behind in their subscriptions to look at that label and to assist us by sending in the remittance which will put them in good standing. We hardly need to say that the co-operation of subscribers will be greatly appreciated.

90% Of Trouble Lies With Drivers Asserts "Mile Of Death" Rescuer

Curtis C. Dumm, manager of a service station on Highway 23, about 30 miles south of Columbus, Ohio, has also a self-appointed role as rescuer of traffic-accident victims — that is, those who are not beyond rescue — on the mile or so of nearby highway. The road is smooth and the curves sweeping, Dumm says in the January Reader's Digest, but he calls this inviting highway the "Mile of Death."

In 21 recent months Dumm has towed in from Highway 23 and its tributary roads the wreckage of 142 accidents. He has helped remove the bodies of 11 men and women who died in those crashes. Thanks to his knowledge of first aid, he has saved the lives of many more.

By day and night, "like a fireman always listening for the alarm" Dumm is summoned not by a bell, but by a report like an explosion, followed by the grinding noise of crashing metal. "When I hear those sounds I roll out of bed before I am fully awake, jump into my clothes, grab a wrecker and am off. Meanwhile my wife telephones for the state police and calls an ambulance."

Dumm wonders — as he works with blow torch and crowbar to untangle twisted steel and shattered arms and legs, and to remove from the wreckage human skulls split as if by an axe — "why the brains spilled all about weren't used to prevent such useless smashups." The Reader's Digest article's record of deaths is confirmed by a representative of the National Safety Council who checked with highway officials, local newspaper and the sheriff. "In very few of these accidents," Dumm states, "have I found the cause to be mechanical defects; 90 percent of the trouble lies with the drivers. I refer not only to those under the influence of liquor but to those who become intoxicated with the sense of power the moment they get behind the steering wheel, those who get so cocky they believe they are immune to accidents, those who feel they have the right-of-way over everybody, those who think it's adventure to flirt with death by wild driving."

Good roads, good lights, and efficient traffic control are not enough, Dumm emphasizes. The one thing most desperately needed is the will to drive carefully. If we can popularize highway safety, we shall have gone a long way toward keeping hospitals and graveyards empty of motorcar victims.

"Why not a one-man campaign by each of us," he suggests, "to make good driving, starting with our own, the smart thing to do?"

Increase Fees On Light Cars

Swamping of the Canadian market by light four-cylinder motor cars during the past two years has brought an increase from $2 to $5 in motor license fees for that class of vehicle manufactured after 1933. Cars manufactured prior to that year will remain at the $2 rate.

Motorcycle licenses have been increased 100 per cent., being raised from $1 to $2. Commenting on the changes, Hon. George Doucet pointed out that the fees for registration of motor vehicles in Ontario are still lower than those prevailing in other provinces. In other provinces the fees for four-cylinder cars range from $9 to $20 and the fees for motorcycles range from $2 to $6.

Up until the end of November there were about 13,000 motorcycles registered in Ontario. As a result the new fee will represent an increase of $13,000 in revenue.

Four-cylinder cars built before 1933, and which therefore escape the license hoist, are chiefly old Canadian and U.S. models largely confined to the rural areas of the province. There were 79,479 four-cylinder cars registered in 1948.

It is estimated that some 7,000 additional English, Italian and French four-cylinder cars have entered the province during the present year. It is estimated that registration will slightly exceed 80,000 in this category this year.

Penny Postage

Fifty-one years ago, on Christmas Day 1898, Imperial Penny Post was introduced between Canada and Britain. Tradition says that the day was chosen on the spur of the moment. A biographer says that when the Postmaster-General of Britain, the Duke of Norfolk, told Queen Victoria that penny postage was to be introduced with Canada, she asked on what day it was to come into force. "We thought of the Prince's birthday," replied the Duke, referring to the Prince of Wales, who was born on November 9. "And what Prince?" asked the Queen, in her iciest tones. The Duke was equal to the occasion. "The Prince of Peace — on Christmas Day" he replied. Thus the new rate became effective on December 25, 1898.

BUTTONVILLE Correspondent: Mrs. Walter Craig Phone: Agincourt 358J1 Our sympathy is extended to Mrs. Wm. Barrow on the recent death of her father, Mr. Watts of Lansing, a veteran of World War I, and for many years caretaker of Duke of Kent school, Lansing. He died at Sunnybrook hospital on New Year's Day and the funeral was on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. S. English has been a visitor in Kirkland Lake for the Christmas Holiday Season. The annual meeting of the school section was held last Wednesday evening. Mr. Bill Hood was elected as the new trustee. The ratepayers present inspected the new heating system, an air conditioning unit with an oil burner installed by the Richmond Hill Electric. This week the student teacher at the school is Mrs. Croydon. Miss Frances Baker spent the holiday week with friends in Windsor. Her intention had been to fly home, but weather conditions grounded all planes. Frances, who attends Normal this year, is teaching this week near Port Perry. Miss Betty Hamilton, who has been holidaying at her home has returned to her school duties in Fort William.
