Agree To Request To Hold Mid-Month Meet In Evenings, Councillors Of Markham Twp. Agree

In keeping with a desire expressed by members of Elmwood Park, Doncaster and Langstaff Ratepayers Associations prior to the municipal elections and approved by all candidates, Markham Township councillors have agreed to hold one of their regular monthly meetings in the evening.
 The council is now meeting on the first and third Mondays of each month as a general rule, and it was agreed at the first meeting of 1951, held last Monday to make the mid-month meeting the evening one, commencing in February. It is planned to receive deputations, as far as possible, at that meeting only in order not to retard the steadily-increasing amount of business with which council has to deal. Ratepayers associations are being advised to that effect.
To Form Committees
 "We can save a considerable amount of time," said Reeve Win. Timbers. "We can give better service to the public," stated Councillor Charles Hooper when formation of committees to relieve the entire council from a large amount of routine work at meetings was under discussion. All members agreed and will appoint committees at the next regular meeting.
 Considerable time was spent by councillors in discussing the general principles of assessment and in studying proposals to make the distribution of taxation between farm and suburban property more equitable. It is likely that a special meeting will be called to go further into the matter.
 Commercial pig-raising in the township was also discussed, with Clerk Charles Hoover being instructed to prepare a by-law restricting it in certain areas.

Local Organizations Join In 1951 Council Inaugural

Co-operation was the keynote when on Wednesday the inaugural meeting of Richmond Hill Village Council was held, with Reeve J. A. Greene occupying the chair for the first time since his recent illness.
 Outward emphasis was given to the presence of representatives of local organizations. Mrs. H. H. MacKay represented the Women's Institute, The Lions Club was represented by its president, Mel Maltby and the Business Men's Association by President Archie Murray. Jack Smith, M.P. for North York, was present, together with Chairman James Pollard of the Richmond Hill Public School Board. Superintendent L. J. Roy of the Hydro-Electric Commission was also a guest.
 As an evidence of interest in the younger generation, and in order to encourage an interest in local government, Reeve Greene had invited two students from the Public School and two from the High School to be present. They failed, however, to put in an appearance.
 Opening the inaugural proceedings, Rev. C. B. Brethen called for two minutes' silence in memory of Dr. Frank Hogg, who died on Monday. The tribute was followed by scripture reading and prayers.
 In his address Reeve Greene extended thanks to various organizations for their co-operation during the past year. He named particularly the Women's Institute and those groups which had relinquished their quarters in the Municipal Hall to provide accommodation badly needed for surplus school population. He expressed congratulations to Deputy Reeve Tom Taylor on being the first to hold that office in Richmond Hill's history and welcomed Councillor Ken Tomlin back to the council table.
 Following Reeve Greene's address all members of the council and visitors spoke briefly.

Hockey Standings
 Standing of the five bantam teams in the Richmond Hill Hockey Club and of the five juvenile teams in the O. M. H. A. — Richmond Hill, Port Perry, Sunderland, Stouffville and Lindsay — will appear as a regular feature in The Liberal each week.
 Warm weather on January 2 forced cancellation of the first game of the bantam series scheduled for that date. It will be played at the end of the series instead. An announcement as to dates and places of games in the juvenile contests is expected shortly.

Vaughan Twp. Police Hunt Deer, Bicycles

A spot of variety marked activities of Vaughan Township's police force during the Christmas season, with hunting of two kinds featured.
 Spotted by Larry Crouch of Thornhill was one of a pair of deer which have been seen in that area on numerous occasions recently. It appeared to have a broken leg. Chief Constable William Skidmore, Constable Bone of the township force, together with Provincial Game Warden Armitage and Harry Meighan searched for the animal for many hours, finally discovering and destroying it.
 The other hunt was for two bicycles stolen from the Scout Hut at Thornhill. Acting on a tip, police found one in an hour and recovered the other the next morning. They had been hidden among trees and shrubbery.

Fire And Water Problems Exercise T'nship Councils

In a lengthy meeting which started off the 1950 sessions members of Vaughan Township Council handled a large amount of routine business and discussed at length problems connected with the rapid growth of their municipality.
 Banking facilities at Maple came in for considerable comment, with councillors expressing forcible opinions to the effect that the service being given was not adequate for the requirements of the village. After a similar discussion some months ago the council asked the bank's head office to institute a six day service instead of the three day one now being given. No action having been taken councillors expressed their determination to follow the matter further.
 Requirements of the municipality with regard to water were talked over at length, with Reeve Hostraver, Councillor James Robson and others indicating their belief that the problem was one too big to be dealt with on a piecemeal basis.
 Headed by S. Griffiths, a deputation of five residents from Jackes Avenue presented a petition asking for the provision of water on a local improvement basis. The situation was urgent, the council was told with a number of houses having no water supply at all. It was necessary to carry drinking water in cans, said Mr. Griffiths, and those who had no cars were seriously handicapped. The deputation also asked for improvement to the road, which they asserted was in very bad condition.
 Following the regular meeting members of both Markham and Vaughan township councils held a joint meeting, at which further consideration of problems of the area relating to water, garbage and fire protection were discussed without any definite conclusions being reached.
 The meeting stemmed from an application from the trustees of Thornhill requesting both townships to set up a fire and water area and arrange for municipal garbage collection. Charles Hoover, clerk of Markham Township, said that he had advised the Thornhill trustees to secure advice and information regarding their fire protection needs from the Ontario Fire Marshal's Department.
 "We should get together with Richmond Hill, Aurora, and other points to see if we could not set up a joint incinerator," said Councillor James Robson of Vaughan. He and others pointed out that the present dump system was fast outliving its usefulness.

Council Turns Down Tomlin Suggestion For Building Inspectors Replacement

"During the coming year I plan to urge that this council confer with neighbouring municipalities with the view of extending the borders of our municipality" said Councillor K. Tomlin at the inaugural meeting of Richmond Hill council Wednesday evening.
 Councillor Tomlin made the announcement as he urged council to advertise for a building inspector, rather than re-appoint Councillor Wesley Middleton who has served in this position for many years without remuneration. "We need the additions" he said "to provide for residential and industrial expansion." This, he claimed, would mean a great deal more work for a building inspector and he thought the appointment should go to someone not a member of council.
 Councillor Perkins supported the Tomlin suggestion as he said he didn't think it fair to ask a councillor to enforce the regulations of the building by-law.
 "That doesn't bother me one bit," said Councillor Middleton. "I don't mind telling a man to do what's right." He said he had undertaken the duties of building inspector in order to save money for the municipality. I am glad to do it as a matter of public service" he said, "but if you don't think I'm doing a good job appoint somebody else."
 After this pronouncement the members quickly gave unanimous support to a motion by Reeve Greene that Councillor Middleton be re-appointed.
 Deputy-Reeve W. J. Taylor, in the chair for the discussion, paid tribute to the service rendered over the years by Councillor Middleton. "There's no doubt," he said that by serving in this office without remuneration Councillor Middleton has saved the village many hundreds of dollars."
