Pictures, Planting Features Meeting For Horticulturists

The Richmond Hill Horticultural Society started the season with a "bang", as a most enthusiastic crowd assembled in the Public School Auditorium on Thursday last to see pictures taken and shown by Mrs. A. Timbers of Stouffville, whose collection included the beautiful estate of Mr. F. T. James at Islington, floral floats of the Markham Township Centennial and vivid sunsets by Mr. C. R. Past action resulted when Constable Ernest Bone of Vaughan Township police force was advised last Friday by James Wilson, of Jackes Avenue, that a deer was being mauled by dogs near the corner of Jackes Ave. and Bathurst Street. In less than half an hour the animal's body had been picked up and owners of the dogs responsible contacted.
The deer a year-old buck was caught in a fence and mauled to death by the dogs, who tore it savagely. Scene of the killing was only approximately three miles from the northern limits of Toronto.

Local Schoolboys Enjoy Their Hockey Through Young Business Men's Backing

Two of the boys who have benefitted from the work done by a group of Richmond Hill's younger veterans on behalf of junior hockeyists of the municipality are shown above. They are Watson Cottrell, goalkeeper for the Maple Leaf team and George Crean, goalie for Black Hawks.

Here are the three "originals" of the Richmond Hill Hockey Club — Tim Saul, Dick Mills and Harold Mills, who started the program which has meant so much to Richmond Hill's younger hockey players back in the winter of 1947-48.

Local Ladies Attend Homemaking Classes Held At Newmarket

Several local ladies were in attendance at the two-day Spring Training School for leaders of Homemaking Clubs in York County, held at Newmarket, when milk and its importance in the diet was the subject dealt with.

Those present were given instruction in the organization of Homemaking Clubs in their local community, as well as information concerning milk and the part it plays in building up and keeping a healthy body. Methods of including milk in the menu were discussed and the ladies were taken on a tour of a local dairy to see the pasteurization and bottling of milk.

Present from this district were Mrs. E. Phillips and Mrs. G. Baldwin of Temperanceville; Mrs. George Foster and Mrs. J. Boddy of Elders Mills; Mrs. F. W. Baker and Miss Aileen Easton of But-tonville; Mrs. N. C. Payne, Mrs. Rumble, Mrs. D. Jarrett of Maple.

Ladies interested in the formation of Homemaking Clubs should get into touch with their local leader or with the Home Economist, Department of Agriculture, Newmarket.

Delphinium Society Year Books Gift To Library Of Village

A new set of books of particular interest to floriculturists is now on the shelves of the Richmond Hill Public Library. Brought there through the co-operation of the American Delphinium Society and Mr. C. E. Little of Richmond Hill, Eastern Canada vice-president of that organization, the set comprises the year books of the society from 1932 to the present time, and was presented to Richmond Hill by it.

Annual Guild Dance Has Winter Setting

Old Man Winter provided the timely setting when the annual dance of St. Mary's Anglican Evening Guild was held in Richmond Hill Public School auditorium on January 26.

A large throng danced to the music of a popular six-piece orchestra amid hundreds of glittering snowflakes. Its specialty numbers the spot dance was won by Mr. and Mrs. Stan Tinker, the Birthday Dance by Mrs. H. MacKay of Toronto. Several times during the evening the music changed to familiar square dance measures and whirling sets did a dos-a-dos and a "swing your partners all" to the calling of Earl Empringham.

Receiving the guests were Rev. and Mrs. W. F. Wrixon, Mrs. William Banks, Miss Marion Scrivener and Mr. H. Stanford.

C. Long Starts Parcel Delivery

Unique in that it is the first of its kind in Richmond Hill is the new small parcel and light cartage delivery of Clayton Long, Church Street, son-in-law of one of the village's well-known barbers, Ted Grainger.

A T.T.C. bus driver for the past eight and one-half years, Mr. Long saw the need for such a service here, and has taken on the job of delivering orders for many of the local merchants. The district he intends to cover includes the area from Elgin Mills to Richmond Hill. Mr. Long commenced his duties on Monday last.

Annual Campaign To Be Conducted By Scouts, Cubs

Between Senior Scouts, Scouts and two Cub Packs, scouting in Richmond Hill looks after about ninety young citizens. On top of that the Cubs have a waiting list for a third pack when leaders and a meeting place are available. But, officials say, there is a crying need for a modest headquarters in which to meet and to store equipment.

Provision of funds for that purpose will be one of the main essentials when the Scouts' financial campaign is conducted in Richmond Hill between February 5 and 18. Incidentally, contributions to the campaign are deductible for income tax purposes and there is no deduction for campaign expenses. Every cent goes to the Scouts and Cubs locally.

The Village Council has been asked to provide a suitable site for the proposed new Scout headquarters.

Richmond Hill vs. Stouffville
RICHMOND HILL ARENA
ADMISSION • 25c

Because three young veterans of the Second World War got an idea three years ago, and did something about it, it's possible to walk into Richmond Hill's Arena every week and see teams in the sweaters of the Maple Leafs, Canadians, Rangers, Boston Bruins battling it out on the ice in hard-fought league contests.

There, except for the zest which is put into the games, the similarity ends, for the oldest of the Richmond Hill players is only fourteen. The youngest is eight.

Something should be done for the youngsters of the town in the way of giving them organized winter sport, decided war veterans Harold Mills, Tim Saul and Elgin Barrow in the winter of 1947-48. So they got together a group of forty local boys, organized them into three hockey teams, arranged two games weekly for them on an outside rink built by the local Lions Club.

The next winter another veteran, Dick Mills, joined them. The Richmond Hill Hockey Club was formed. With four teams that year, some form of identification became a necessity and names of clubs in the N.H.L. were chosen to distinguish the groups. Sweaters, it was decided, were necessary and a "whip-round" among local business houses raised the required funds quickly. A team from Maple, four miles away, was brought into the league for the season. Play continued on the outside rink, but the boys and their managers were permitted to use the Arena occasionally.

Another war veteran, Brydon Ellis of the RCAF, joined the sponsoring group in the 1949-50 season, together with one of the village's other young business men, Bud Jones. With over fifty local boys clamouring for places on the teams, four groups bearing N.H.L. names were formed. A midget team was made up of boys who had edged over the limit for bantams and fought its way up to the finals, playing in a league with teams from neighbouring municipalities.

The present season started off with five teams, which were increased to six to give as many boys as possible a chance. Another war veteran, Jack Hollowell took over the management of the new team. Other ex-servicemen from the Second World War, Bob Ross and Bill White, stepped in to help and two teams made up of boys from eight to ten years of age have been made into another league. More teams are to be added to it. Around one hundred boys are now playing under the auspices of the club formed by the first three young war veterans four years ago.

Games are played regularly in Richmond Hill Arena every Tuesday and Friday night — ice permitting. All expenses of the club have been covered by voluntary contributions, including the annual dinner which is given to the young players at the end of each season.

The midget team which played last season had graduated to juv-

a Little buys a Lot of telephone service

EVERY DAY we receive hundreds of requests for service. Its cost hasn't gone up as much as most other things you buy; in fact, your telephone bill now takes a smaller part of the family budget than it did five years ago.

With more and more families getting telephones, you can now talk to twice as many people. And so, in that way alone, you get a lot more telephone service for your money.

At the same time, the quality of telephone service keeps steadily improving in many ways, and, as always, telephone people try to be helpful and friendly. Any way you look at it, today's telephone is big value!

If you haven't yet got service! You can be sure your neighbourhood will be served, and your place on the list protected. Taking care of people without service as quickly as possible is one of our biggest and most important tasks.

Electors Of Richmond Hill

The untimely death of our late friend and Reeve, John A. Greene, has left vacant the most important office in our municipality.

Nominations for candidates to fill the vacancy have been called for and I offer myself for election to the office of Reeve for the following reasons:

- (1) The electorate should have a choice of candidates.
- (2) The development of Richmond Hill has made it increasingly important that our representatives be men having an eye to the future and a wide knowledge of county and provincial affairs.
- (3) I am a practicing solicitor and believe that my experience of municipal and business affairs, my knowledge of our law and government will be of valuable assistance.
- (4) Richmond Hill is my home. I am proud of it and wish to serve its interests to the best of my ability.
