Interesting Auction

Over 500 people attended an interesting auction sale on Saturday afternoon at "Glen Ross," the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Ross. On such a beautiful day and with so many early Canadian antiques to be sold, crowds came from the city and from miles around the countryside and cattle were sold to buyers from Markham and Agincourt and several antique dealers were spotted in the crowd.

The Ross farm was bought in 1832 by Mr. Robert Ross, grandfather of the present owner, from Mr. Ellis who had purchased it from the Crown only a few months previously. Mr. Ross has lived there all his life. "I do hate to leave the old place," he said. "I shall miss the old mill pond and the beautiful view, and all the trees we have planted." In 1930 Mr. Ross planted 1000 government trees, mostly spruce and red pine, and now they have reached a height of thirty feet. Last year he planted 2,000 more. "I find the spruce and red pine to be the hardest for this country," he said. "The mice give the walnut and oaks a hard time." Mr. and Mrs. Ross will live in King.

Meeting Friday

Rev. W. E. Smalley will be the chairman at a meeting at his home in King City on Friday evening, when he will report on his enquiries into the Community Hall Act.

At a meeting called by the Women's Institute in February, to discuss informally the advisability of building a community hall in King, Mr. Smalley was elected to enquire into the Act which governs such an enterprise. The interested people present included the representatives of the organizations in the village, to whom a community hall would mean a great deal for their activities.

Those present included Mrs. Akim Jarvis, representing the Women's Institute; Mr. George Brown, representing the Lake March Athletic Association; Mrs. W. F. R. Hood, the Cubs; Mr. G. Harvey, the Boy Scouts; Mr. Bob McLeod, the Boy's Wrestling Club; Mr. D. Findlay, the Canadian Legion; Mrs. A. Fleet, the Ladies Auxiliary to the Legion; Mr. J. L. Grew, the King Library Board. Returns From England

Mrs. Jack Dixon returned recently after a four months' stay with relatives in and about Glasgow, Scotland. It is about 28 years since Mrs. Dixon came to Canada, and she reports that the most notable change in the old country is the opening up of new districts, and the building of new homes as here. Mrs. Dixon visited her husband's aunt in Coventry, England, at the end of January and saw red and yellow primroses in bloom there then. She said that St. James Park was bright with crocus the week before Easter, when she spent a few days in London before sailing from Southampton, on the Queen Mary.

When you add it all up...

WHEN you consider the men, women and money needed to operate 3,700 branches — you see what is involved in looking after the greatly increased demands made by busy Canadians upon their chartered banks.

In ten years . . . with bigger staffs and higher wages, payrolls have jumped from $40 million a year to $102 million . . . taxes, federal, provincial and municipal, have risen from $9.5 million to $20.7 million a year . . . interest paid to depositors has increased from $22 million to $57.8 million a year.

And these are only three of many expense items. Yes, today more than ever, it costs money to run a bank.
