"I believe the whole cost should be borne by the bus line," declared Councillor Hooper, "We're only getting 11% of the profits and why should we be assessed 25% of the necessary expenses?"
"We're getting some new roads out of it" commented Reeve Timbers. "But we'll have to bear the burden of snow removal in the winter months."

I don't believe there should be any objection to having the cost come out of the general revenue of the bus line" commented Councillor Robson.
"Improvements for the old street car line always were paid out of the operating fund" suggested Councillor Hooper.

It was finally decided to have Reeves Hostrawser and Timbers reopen the matter with the other municipalities concerned.

The matter of creating a fire area in Thornhill was discussed briefly and inasmuch as little had been heard from the village recently, there wasn't much possibility of action this year. Difficulty of getting personnel was emphasized as a serious obstacle to creating a fire department in the village which is now served fairly efficiently by Richmond Hill and North York.

Thornhill Street Lights
Clerk McDonald reporting on street lights for Thornhill, said assurance had been given by Chairman Robert Saunders of the Ontario Hydro Commission that the latter would finance installation of the lights and would collect later on an instalment basis. It was decided to have this definitely understood before further action is taken.

The Department of Highways will be requested to have a representative come out and discuss with Township Engineer Babcock a project for laying a sidewalk north from Steele's Corners to Thornhill. It is hoped to get action on the project this summer. Will Cost $5,500

Clark Hoover of Markham reported that it will cost $5,500 annually to inaugurate garbage collection on the east side of Yonge St. from Steele's Ave. to No. 7 highway and he had written the various ratepayers groups along the route advising them to this effect.

He estimated that such a price would work out at about $13 a year per family and action is being held up pending further word from the property owners concerned. The council stipulated in asking for bids that the collector must provide his own dumping ground.

Ed Little assured the group that the Horticultural Society would put on a flower show the same as last year and the local rose growers will be invited to arrange displays. It is expected the Boy Scouts will cooperate in handling parking as they did last year.

Don Valley

in the townships of North York and East York alike. In my day I also urged that a University be established in the capital of this new province to form a bulwark against the inroads of Republicanism. We wanted none of our youth to be tempted to American seats of learning "where their morals might become corrupt and their loyalty overthrown." In the University which now adorns the city of Toronto formerly known as York, I understand there is a hall which bears my name. I hope it will be a constant reminder to graduates and undergraduates alike that Canadian Education should still be for Canadians. We hope the University places a just value on outstanding achievement, and is not designed primarily to permit as many students as possible to graduate with as little effort as possible for themselves or their instructors. I am happy to participate in this excursion of the Don Valley Conservation Association because of my own early familiarity with this area. My summer home was on the lower Don; and in 1793, while seeking a path between Lake Ontario and Lake Huron, I discovered a fine trail from Holland Landing to the mouth of the Don. We breakfasted near the source of a small branch, now known as German Creek, at what I understand is now approximately the site of Elgin Mills. We travelled six or seven miles further to the east branch of the Don and there encamped. This would be about two miles south of your Thornhill. We later reached the west branch about a mile and a half below your York Mills, near which there was in my day a most excellent spring. This Don Valley was replete with historical associations even in my time; and for this reason as well as for its magnificent natural beauty it should be protected and preserved.

May I thank you for the welcome we have received on my own behalf and on that of Mrs. Simcoe, and our companions, Captain and Mrs. Macgill. We hope you will call us from the past whenever we may be of service to the cause in which we are all interested.

Brought Together
"The Don Valley Conservation Association has brought the residents of entire streets together in a common appreciation of the woodland wealth at their doors" declared President Sauriol. "We as an association have sown seeds of conservation which will produce crops in their own way for generations to come. Today we are a factor and a power for the common good of all."

"We do not bargain our time for money in the matter of conservation, for conservation is priceless: The planting of a tree, the producing of a trillium from seed, the protecting of a river bank, the preserving of a spring, are minor acts of conservation which carry their own rich reward."

"We love our tiny part of this immense Canada, down to the very life-giving soil itself. We are enamored of the beauty which that soil casts through growth across our landscape, and we want it to endure. We will protect it and fight for it against its would-be despoilers. It is our heritage, yours and mine, and our children's."

"A century ago Wm. Lea pioneer settler of Leaside wrote these lines, he was speaking of the Don, 'If the object was to contemplate the works of the creator here was quiet; only the rippling of waters over a stony bed, or the whirr of wild ducks . . . This might truly be considered a temple not made with hands!'"

"Thankful are we that some of this heritage has been handed down to us. Another generation may well thank us for the modest work in conservation which we are doing today."

"Last fall a number of us made a trail in a previously inaccessible woodland of the Don valley — so long as the trail was not made, no one passed that way — but no sooner it seemed, had the soil been cut with the spade and the ground cleared than the trail was discovered. Already its ground is packed hard with the impact of many feet."

"Today we have blazed a new trail, a trail to the thinking of thousands of our citizens who will discover for themselves that the paths of conservation lead to good citizenship, to the preservation of an heritage, to mutual understanding and love and respect of fellow men. May it also make us conscious through gatherings such as this of the effort of the pioneers and the history makers of our country to whom we owe so much."

There were also brief addresses by Art Uren president of the Richmond Hill Business Men's Association, and Harry Simpson, reeve of East York.
