School News.

Tuesday turned out to be an ideal day for the Science Hike which the Senior Room took as part of the practical side of that subject. Complete with compasses and maps they proceeded along No. 7 Highway to Bayview and Leitchcroft Farm to observe trees and soil formation.

Parents Night.

Parents will have an opportunity to see their children's work and discuss their progress with the teachers when the school holds open house on Tuesday Nov. 20th. The building will be open from 7:30 till 9 and as Mr. D. Smith, the principal expects the report cards to be out before Parents Night there will be no doubt be points which, if discussed, will help parent, teacher and child.

Home and School.

The Executive of Langstaff Home & School Association worked hard, with the assistance of the members, to put on a good show at the Bake Sale and Tea held in the school Saturday afternoon. Patronage did not come up to their hopes and expectations partly due to similar affairs near at hand, but a very pleasant afternoon was experienced by those who did attend.

Mrs. J. Anderson and Mrs. D.

Robeson convened the bake table. Mrs. E. C. Bell and Mrs. H. LeMasurier the teas and Mrs. Little of Garden Avenue kindly read the teas. Mrs. R. Cudmore donated a lovely chicken for the draw. Mrs. J. Cooke not only took care of the draw, she took home the chicken, which caused considerable fun, and, of course, the usual remarks.

Euchre

Future plans of the Home and school to recoup their finances include a euchre to be held Thursday, November 8 at 8 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Anderson, No. 7 Highway, two houses west of the railway.

If possible, please advise Mrs. Anderson previously if planning to attend. These monthly euchres are not "for members only" — everyone who enjoys a friendly game of cards is welcome, but seating capacity is, of course, limited.

Book Club

The ladies of the Book Club met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Milt Fairbairn on Roosevelt Drive. Hostesses assisting were Mrs. Frank Radner, Mrs. Bill Rooney and Mrs. Ed Spears. Besides the usual discussions, the Club's Christmas project was considered, and it was decided to send boxes to Britain this year. A collection will be taken at the next meeting and arrangements will be made through one of the accredited organizations, such as "CARE".

Mark-van W. I.

Members are reminded to bring their toys for the roll call this evening. The meeting is being held at the home of Mrs. Charles E. Ellison, Roosevelt Drive.

Junior W. I. Bazaar

Members of Langstaff Junior W. I. are hard at work completing articles for the annual bazaar which they are holding as usual in Langstaff Public School on Saturday, November 17.

Hospital Reports

Admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital on Wednesday of last week was Mrs. Ernie Richard of Yongeview Avenue. Mrs. Richard has not been really well for some months and it is hoped that her trouble will now be diagnosed and cleared up. She is on Floor 6.

Mrs. F. Bickmore, Garden Ave., is making steady progress, is walking about quite a lot and is back to a more or less normal diet. She is still in "C" at Western.

Judy LeRiche is back home again receiving the full attention of her mother who has cancelled her nursery school for a month. It was further than was reported last week and it is hoped that following the next two weeks treatment at home, the effects of the virus which has left an enlarged kidney, will begin to diminish.

Mrs. V. Pearson, Boyle Drive, was released from hospital over the week-end. She is feeling very much better and most appreciative of the many cards and kind messages she received while in Wellesley; the thoughts conveyed cheered her so much.

Hallowe'en
Wednesday was Hallowe'en and an evening to bewitch and be bewitched. And when many were satisfying the yearning in their hearts to be someone else — a ghost or a clown, they were participating in an old, old festival, going back to pagan times. The old Romans held it in honor of the goddess of the fruit trees and in Britain, the Druids celebrated a festival at the same time in honor of their sun god and in thanksgiving for harvest. When the people became Christians they instead held it in memory of All Saints and Martyrs. Thus the eve of the fes-

The ladies were accompanied by their husbands and altogether there were about 69 in the group. Miss Mable Sanderson led in a few sing-songs with Mrs. R. E. at the piano. The highlight of the evening came when Miss Vera Nicholls showed slides of the West and of the Canadian and the American Falls. A number of local views were also shown. All the pictures were taken by Miss Nicholls herself and they were very lovely to look at. Mrs. Stong arranged attractively on large plates the food the ladies brought with them and made and served delicious cups of tea to go with it.

The old Romans held it in honor of the goddess of the fruit trees and in Britain, the Druids celebrated a festival at the same time in honor of their sun god and in thanksgiving for harvest. When the people became Christians they instead held it in memory of All Saints and Martyrs. Thus the eve of the festival came to be called All Hallowe'en (evening). The Feast of All Saints is on November 1, the eve, therefore is on October 31. In ancient times they believed that on Hallowe'en night the spirits of the departed returned to visit their old homes. Food was then prepared for the spirit guests. Thus originated our custom of 'shelling out' and dressing up in costumes on Hallowe'en.

Wedding

BAGGE-KEFFER

With Rev. P. J. Lambert officiating in Edgeley United Church, the marriage took place of Violet Kathleen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garnet O. Keffer, to Mr. Allan Lester Bagge, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bagge, all of Edgeley.

The bride's graceful gown of white satin was fashioned with fully gathered skirt and short train, the bodice finished with sweetheart neckline and pyramid sleeves ending in points. A small white head-dress held her hair in a bun, which had been worn by her grandmother at her own wedding; she wore the groom's gift, three strands of pearls, and carried ivory roses and chrysanthemums. Given in marriage by her father, she was attended by Miss Patricia Rhodes, wearing a Nile green strapless frock with bouffant net overskirt, matching net jacket, and carrying chrysanthemums shading from yellow to rust. Mr. James Bagge was groomsmen for his brother, and the ushers were Messrs. Orval Keffer and Kenneth Poole.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bagge will live in Edgeley.

The Problem Of The RETAIL MERCHANT

THE ONE PROBLEM common to all businessmen is — how to keep sales volume at a satisfactory level. This can be overcome to a great extent by carefully planned advertising. As a control medium advertising can be of considerable value in keeping sales at an economic level. Retail merchants now, especially those in small communities are confronted with the need of a very flexible advertising medium. One that can be used regularly throughout the entire year, yet pliable enough to suit the needs of the moment. Also, it must be one that can be tailored to fit any budget and at the same time give maximum coverage. Due to fluctuating prices it must be advertising that can be planned to reach the buying public within two or three days.

Newspaper Advertising is the advertising vehicle that has proved beyond doubt to be of greatest value to retail merchants. It fills all their requirements and has been the most important, single factor, in the success of so many.

The Liberal is at your service. We publish a well printed weekly paper that will give your advertising very good coverage in this area. A phone call to Richmond Hill 9 will bring a representative to your door.
