HIGHLAND PARK NEWS

MRS. WALTER SANDERS
23 Drury Ave.
Telephone: Thornhill 443J

Sorry to hear Mr. Cumming, 43 Drury Ave., was taken very ill one day last week. I understand he has been ordered to rest for some weeks, but hope to have him up and around before the new year.

Mrs. G. D. McCallum and son, 51 Drury Ave., have been quite miserable with colds. Hope they are both on the mend now and will soon be out and about again.

Over last week-end, November 10 and 11, the beautiful weather brought several artists from the city, who set up their easels and stools on the Gamble property at Stop 14 Yonge Street, to put on the canvas the glorious scenery of the valley and hills of the neighborhood. We are very fortunate to be able to take in this beauty at our leisure. Let's make the most of it, while we can, for one of these days it's going to be all built in, and not being artists we will only have its beautiful memories left. The young ones are enjoying their sleighs and toboggans over the hills while the snow lasts.

Belated birthday wishes are extended to Mrs. H. Johnson, 43 Woodward Ave., who celebrated her birthday last week.

We are pleased to report that Mrs. Cole Sr., 25 Drury Ave., is now able to be up a while each day and had visitors over the week end. I'm sure being able to have her family and friends around will help to hasten her complete recovery.

Highland Park Boys Recreation
On Thursday, November 8, the regular weekly meeting was held in North York Veterans Hall and 34 boys were present. Only sickness can keep them home. This night was devoted to the art of clay modelling. Mr. Walter Sanders outlined the vast field in which clay modelling is used, both privately and commercially. Household articles such as dishes, decorative pieces and even house bricks are clay examples. The boys were then given a small piece of modelling clay to work with, several of the boys got the feel of it very well and very quickly, others may take awhile, but if they stick with it, at a future meeting they will be shown a complete object in clay. Mr. Sanders promised the boys that if they will persevere with their efforts, he will have them make a clay piece at the end of the course which will be fired and glazed and show for their efforts.

Next meeting, Thursday, November 15, at 6.45 p.m., same place.

Home and School
The regular monthly executive meeting was held on Tuesday, November 13, at the school, with Mr. W. L. Sanders, vice-president in the chair, due to Mr. Fisher being out of town on business. Plans were made for the November meeting which will be Music Nite, under the direction of Mr. Hugh Martin, music instructor for the school area. This will be a most informative meeting on the teaching of music in the schools so plan to attend. Monday, November 26, at 8.15 p.m. in the school.

Also mentioned was the sending out of notices for the rummage sale collection to be conducted through the area before the 22nd of the month so a good supply of useful articles will be on hand for that day at the North York Veterans' Hall. Plans were outlined for a real Christmas program for December meeting, which will be set ahead a week so as not to be on Christmas eve which would be the regular 4th Monday. Mrs. H. Bow, publications convener will have an excellent selection of readings on hand at these meetings and everyone was asked to take a friend along to this table where everyone will find some article on a problem of their own. Mrs. Sanders, membership convener, reported that membership has reached 99, with several of committee members still to complete their canvass. It was also noted that at the last meeting, we were very pleased to have 100% teacher attendance, this is really an inspiration to all parents to attend and take an active part in your association. See you all on Monday, November 26, when you will learn the success of the rummage sale and help plan a concrete aid to our school from the funds available.

Highland Park Association
The regular meeting was held on Monday, November 12, in the school with Mr. Robert Priestman, president in the chair.
A large group was present and enjoyed the committee reports regarding the petition for lights, the drainage question in subdivision, and the forthcoming municipal elections. It is necessary and especially vital that every one with a vote makes good use of it. The association is doing everything in its power to make it possible for you to get to the polling booth during the hours of voting, which are from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. on the 3rd day of December. Polling booth is at the office of Fenn's Real Estate, Yonge Street, and Highland Park Blvd. They have 14 cars and numerous baby sitters to accommodate you on this day. Headquarters is Mr. Lew Hicks, 37 Highland Park Blvd., Thornhill 478J. It is requested that ladies vote as early in the day as possible to leave the evening hours more free for men returning from work.

Mr. Harry Iddon was appointed auditor for the association books at year's end, which will be December, when the new officers are elected. Slate of officers for election to office in your association were nominated at this meeting and voting for same will take place at next regular meeting on Monday, December 10. Plan to find out about nominees and put in capable officers for continuation of this active group.

It was agreed that the immediate past president of the Highland Park Association and the president of the W.A. of the association should be extended the privilege of attending executive meetings to keep all contacted on developments.
Mrs. H. Johnson, president of the W.A. made a report on their activities. The bowling teams will be formed, and all interested, please contact her as quickly as possible.
Mr. C. H. DeClereq, chairman of the boys club was extended the courtesy of being called on to tell the group about the club. He pointed out that it was formed mainly to give the boys a chance to belong to a group, to work and play together, keep them off the streets and develop good boys who will be our future men. The roll call is taken at every meeting and boys attending can all be home by 8.30 or 8.40 at the latest. It was stressed that the parents' interest and co-operation is needed to keep this active and sports leaders for hockey, soccer and in the spring baseball again are needed and fathers are asked to do all in their power to promote these healthy activities. He generalized on the hobby and craft classes in operation and thanked all committee members taking part in these classes. He announced that a canvass for funds to make a hockey cushion would be undertaken in the near future and asks for your support.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the W.A. and the boys club for the splendid work they are doing for the community.
Two possible candidates for the municipal elections were introduced to the group and were received with great acclaim. Nomination day is November 23, and after this date you will be fully informed on complete nominations.

Calls were made to assist in taking petition re street lights and met with spontaneous response of a dozen persons. Also mentioned was the fact that proper street-name signs would be put up in the near future, as soon as the special poles are available.

Community Nursery & Kindergarten School

The "Feeling of rejection in the development and growth of the child" was the topic of discussion at the Community Nursery and Kindergarten School meeting held last Monday evening. The school-room was packed with both fathers and mothers who came to hear Miss Margaret Burns of the Toronto Psychiatric Hospital discuss the problems of the child who is overly-protected in the first years of his or her life and the feeling of being "not wanted" or rejected, when a second child arrives in the household.

Being overly-protected some children tend to become docile and lose their self-confidence and through this they become afraid to compete with other children at play. They become afraid to say "no" when asked to do something they do not wish to do for fear of losing love and friendship. When these same children reach adulthood they tend to become frustrated through the lack of self-expression and being afraid to disagree with her family and friends.

This is where the Nursery and Kindergarten schools prove to be of a great advantage to the young child. It takes them away from under their mother's "protecting wing" and allows them the advantage of mixing with other children of their own age group and they are taught to compete with other children, therefore, they learn to have confidence in themselves.

A film dealing with the life of a twenty-three year old girl was shown demonstrating how this girl suffered severe headaches each time she was disappointed through the inability to say "no". Through psychiatric treatments it was learned that as a child she was too well protected by well meaning parents who destroyed her self-confidence and how, in maturity, this was affecting her normal life. However, through the psychiatric treatment she learned to express herself more freely and to lead a happy normal life.

A lively discussion followed the showing of the film and many phases of child life were discussed. As all those present were parents of small children it was a most informative and interesting evening.
